For Fairground parking

Commission completes land purchase plans

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Members of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and Fayette County Agricultural Society finalized plans Monday to purchase 10 acres of land adjoining the fairgrounds for much-needed, additional parking facilities.

The commissioners will purchase two, five-acre tracts from the Edith Scott estate and the Bumgardner property, which are centered immediately west of the Fairgrounds, at a cost of $50,000 through the federal revenue sharing trust fund available to the commissioners.

THE LAND will be leased to the Fayette County Agricultural Society for a small consideration in lieu of the $3,000 annual subsidy paid to the Fayette County Fair Board by the commissioners through the federal revenue sharing fund.

According to the terms of the lease, which were agreed upon by the commissioners and fair board officers Monday with the legalities to be administered by James A. Kiger, county prosecuting attorney, the title of the property shall revert to the Fayette County Agricultural Society upon expiration of the lease (20 years) and should the land be used for anything other than parking area, the alterations must first be approved by the Fayette County Commissioners.

"Some years ago, the Fayette County Agricultural Society realized the need for additional parking space," said commissioners chairman J. Herbert Perrill. "They had to make arrangements through the years by renting from owners of adjacent properties but we have reason to believe this could not be continued."

The commissioners noted that the purchase was being totally financed through the revenue sharing funds and would not involve any expenditures from local tax monies.

Commissioner Ray Warner said, "This may be the only opportunity we might have to acquire additional parking facilities. If the fair is to continue, we must provide adequate parking space."

THE COMMISSIONERS and members of the Fayette County Agricultural Society were told there should be no difficulties in acquiring adequate drainage for the proposed parking area by Fayette County engineer Charles P. Wagner.

Wagner said the U.S. 35 bypass construction had previously made drainage arrangements within the area so only small improvements would be necessary, such as removal of trees and enlargement of a tile ditch, to provide adequate drainage.

Other business to be conducted by the commissioners were appointments with Mrs. Frank Weade of the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation in reference to the operation of the Fayette Progressive School and M.M. Schirtzinger, engineer in charge of the Rattlesnake sewer project, concerning expansion of facilities.

A first hearing of the Compton Creek petition was also slated to be heard by the commissioners Monday at 1:30 p.m.

Public, private meets set

Strict fuel-saving proposals expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public hearings are going to provide a forum for business and consumer groups to give their ideas on U.S. energy policy as President Ford's advisers prepared to huddle at Camp David to weigh some strict fuel-saving proposals.

Dozens of witnesses at the three-day hearings beginning today were scheduled to comment on the "Project Independence" study submitted last month by the Federal Energy Administration and to discuss the complex issues involved with energy policies.

Consumer concerns and business concerns were the topics at today's hearings.

The hearings precede a policy session of the cabinet-level Energy Resources Council, whose 20 members are to bring their recommendations to President Ford in time for presentation to Congress in January.

The ERC has scheduled a meeting this Saturday at Camp David, a top-security presidential retreat in the wooded Catoctin Mountains some 90 minutes' drive from downtown Washington.

There have been increasing indications lately that the top energy and economic officials invited to Camp David may be cooking up the "tough turkey" that President Ford has warned about: some form of mandatory measures to reduce energy consumption.

Ford has established a goal of cutting oil imports one million barrels a day by the end of 1975.

He hoped to accomplish this with voluntary public cooperation, warning that tougher measures were the alternative.

The White House now has begun admitting that voluntary fuel-saving has not been working very well.

John C. Sawhill, the departing head of the Federal Energy Administrator, has been saying for weeks that voluntary efforts would not work. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, who takes credit for ousting Sawhill, has recently begun to agree with him.

Sawhill and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon have long urged consideration of a higher gasoline tax to discourage consumption. Ford has said publicly he opposes such a step.

Morton has also suggested other possibilities such as a return of tight fuel allocations similar to those of last winter.

Other possibilities being mentioned include a quota on the amount or value of oil imports, taxes on crude oil or automobile horsepower and direct gasoline rationing.

'Grass' grabbed from sheriff

GREENVILLE, Ohio, (AP)— An estimated 490 pounds of baled marijuana has been stolen from the Darke County Sheriff's office here, police said today.

A spokesman said the drugs were the only items missing in a burglary of the office.

The marijuana was wrapped in seven bales, each containing 70 pounds of the contraband, police said. It had been collected during several narcotics investigations.

Deputies believe the thief or thieves may have crossed over into nearby Indiana and headed south for Kentucky.

Greenville is about 25 miles east of Winchester, Ind., in extreme western Ohio.

Republic planned

Greeks decisively reject monarchy

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greeks by a vote of more than two to one have rejected the monarchy for the third time in this century, and the government announced today that parliament will probably elect a provisional president this week.

The final official count from Sunday's plebiscite was 3,236.345, or 69.2 per cent, in favor of a republic and 1,443,804 votes, or 30.8 per cent, for the return of the monarchy. Twenty-five per cent of the eligible voters did not vote.

The leading candidate for the provisional presidency, a largely figurehead post, is former premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos, 72.

He will be replaced in a national election. But before that is held Premier Constantine Caramanlis will submit a new constitution or constitutional amendments to parliament defining the presidential powers.

It is not known yet whether he will propose a strong presidency with policy-making powers, like the American and French presidencies, or a weak figurehead, with policy as well as government administration remaining the province of the premier elected by parliament.

Whatever Caramanlis proposes is certain to be approved since his New Democracy party has a majority of almost three to one in parliament. If he chooses a strong presidency, he is expected to run for the post himself and to get it.

There was no immediate comment on the outcome of the plebiscite from ex-King Constantine, who fled from Greece in 1967 after an abortive attempt to overthrow the military junta that had seized power eight months before. He said before the vote that he wanted to return to "the home of my forefathers whatever the result."

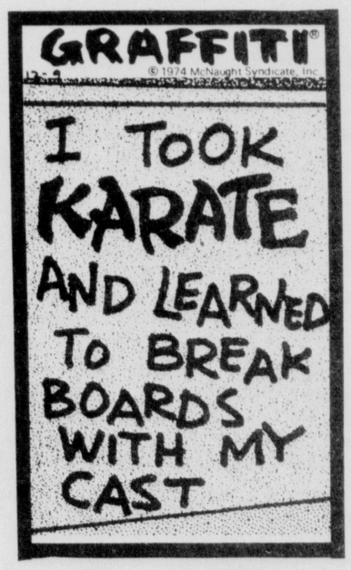

But Caramanlis said Sunday night: "I don't think it would be wise for him to attempt to return in the near future."

Other government sources said the former king would have to accept the verdict of the plebiscite and relinquish all his royal titles and claims before his return could be considered.

Constantine has been living in England with his wife, who was the Danish Princess AnneMarie, and their three children.

The rejection of the monarchy was generally expected, but the size of the vote against it surprised some observers. When the military dictatorship abolished the throne last year and made Greece a republic, the vote for the republic in a ratifying plebiscite was 78.4 per cent. But it was considered suspect since it was held by the dictatorship.

Greece was also declared a republic in 1924. The monarchy was restored in 1935 by a 97 per cent vote in a plebiscite, but it was generally considered rigged. And in the 141-year history of the Greek throne, five other kings have lost their thrones due to forced abdication or foreign occupation.

Senate opens final debate on Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is set to open final debate on Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential nomination with overwhelming approval expected.

Senators opposed to the nomination of the former New York governor have asked for time to recount the details of the controversies that have slowed final action on the nomination. The debate begins today and a final vote is scheduled for Tuesday.

The Rockefeller-related controveries revolve mainly around his gifts and loans to public officials and the potential impact of his family's billion-dollar fortune on the federal government if he becomes vice president.

The Senate Rules Committee recommended 9 to 0 last week that the nomination be approved. The House Judiciary Committee is expected to recommend approval with no more than 10 dissenting votes in its own balloting later this week.

Meanwhile, both houses of Congress have scheduled a busy week that could include action on several major pieces of legislation.

The Senate is to begin a lengthy debate on the Housepassed foreign trade bill that includes a controversial provision aimed at helping Soviet Jews emigrate if they so desire.

President Ford has said he needs the measure — which gives him five-year authority to lower tariffs and remove other trade barriers — to divert international economic disaster.

The Senate has set a vote Wednesday on a bill giving the Office of Economic Opportunity another year of life.

Later in the week a vote is expected on an $8.7-billion supplemental appropriations bill containing funds for virtually every government department.

The bill is controversial because it contains an anti-busing amendment that denies the government the right to cut off funds to a school district which refuses to obey a desegregation order.

Opponents of the move will attempt to send the entire measure back to a conference with the House to delete the amendment.

The House has set a schedule that could result in action on as many as 22 separate pieces of legislation.

These include several controversial measures, such as a bill that the Ford administration claims places too many restrictions on strip mining.

Other measures on the House list include two measures aimed at fighting a rising unemployment rate, now at 6.5 per cent.

One bill would authorize spending $2 billion to provide up to 500,000 public service jobs.

The other would provide an additional $1 billion to improve unemployment compensation benefits.

The House Agriculture Committee was to begin a week of hearings into rising sugar prices, and an effort may be made to resurrect the Sugar Act which continues sugar production controls. The House killed the bill earlier this year.

Woman has sextuplets after losing quads last year

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Undaunted by the loss of quadruplets last year, Charlotte Lange continued to take a fertility drug. Now she has given birth to sextuplets and the five tiny suvivors are clinging to life in respirators.

"They're all normally formed, all pretty little babies," said Dr. James Harrow, director of newborn services at Valley Medical Center. "But their condition is guarded. It's going to be up and down this week."

The infants — slightly more than three months premature — started their procession into the world at 6:36 a.m. Sunday at O'Connor Hospital. Officials referred to the new arrivals as babies A through F. The smallest, a boy, died about four hours after birth.

Mrs. Lange, 26, of San Jose, was in excellent condition, according to hospital spokesman Mike Maurer. He said she was in labor 7½ hours before giving birth to two girls and four boys ranging in weight from 1 pound, 15 ounces to 2½ pounds.

The five survivors were transferred to the Neonatal Center at nearby Valley Medical Center. Spokesman Carl Heintze said they were placed in respirators because of hyaline membrane problems, a common disorder among premature babies in which the lungs have difficulty absorbing oxygen.

The father, Alvin Lange, 31, an armored car security guard, was described as "shocked and tired" after the long hospital ordeal. He brought his wife to the hospital after she went into labor Saturday night in the 27th week of pregnancy.

Mrs. Lange rested in her flower-filled room, attended by her mother, Mrs. James Duty, and her pregnant sister, Leslie Perry, 23.

"It's kind of scary," the new mother said. "All I'm thinking about now is bringing them home and getting the family started. Originally I had hoped for four kids."

Mrs. Lange and her husband have a three-bedroom home.

"This is going to mean an awful lot of babysitting," Mrs. Duty said. "When Charlotte lost the four last year we said, 'try again.' Well, here we are with more than we bargained for. If they live we'll be very happy."

Maurer said Mrs. Lange had been taking the fertility drug Pergonal and according to her doctor, Vincent Nola, was due to deliver March 13.

"Doctor Nola told me there would probably be four babies," Mrs. Lange was quoted as saying. "When the fifth one was born, I was completely shocked."

Demos end meet; unity stressed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — With ringing declarations of restored brotherhood, Democrats have sent their leaders back to Washington or home states to make good on promises to attack the nation's problems.

But two of the party's leading presidential possibilities already were soft-pedaling the key plank in an economic program adopted by the unprecedented Democratic miniconvention — strong economic controls.

Sens. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Texas and Birch Bayh of Indiana said in television appearances Sunday they considered wage-price controls a "last resort" in the economic battle.

Meanwhile, back at the convention hall, Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., chairman of an economic panel, said delegates were agreed that "some form of price and perhaps wage controls are necessary."

The return to the practical side of politics followed a euphoric finale to the miniconvention which adopted a party charter, endorsed an economic platform for the Democratic Congress and showed more unity than the Democrats have exhibited since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The economic package adopted Friday night was based on speeches by Democratic leaders from Capitol Hill. It called for controls on prices and all forms of income, tax reform, strict energy conservation, credit rationing, national health insurance and public service jobs.

The charter banished the quota system which had divided the party bitterly in 1972. It was replaced with a mandatory recruiting program called "affirmative action" to bring women, minorities and other traditionally under-represented groups into the party.

The first constitution ever adopted by an American political party also bans discrimination, outlaws winner-take-all primaries, reforms delegate selection procedures for national conventions, opens all party meetings to the public and makes the national party supreme over state parties.

The real test of the new affirmative action substitute for quotas will come when the Compliance Review Commission rules on state programs and spells out what programs will satisfy the new rules.

The commission also will have to determine just what is meant when the new charter says the reforms extend to "all party affairs." Some party regulars have complained that having to recruit women, blacks, youths and others every time a local committee wanted to conduct a fund-raising drive would be taking it too far.

Heavy fighting sweeps Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Saigon command reported a fourth straight day of fierce fighting and shelling attacks today in the southern half of South Vietnam and along the border with Cambodia.

The command said casualties in the fighting had risen to more than 2,600 on both sides. It reported 248 government troops killed, 990 wounded and 210 missing and claimed 1,180 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed, many by air and artillery strikes.

Military officials acknowledged that security had deteriorated in the fertile Mekong Delta south of Saigon, where the bulk of the attacks were concentrated, and in Tay Ninh province bordering Cambodia to the northwest of the capital. But the officials claimed the Viet Cong had taken a heavy beating.

Convict bishop of arms dealing

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli court today convicted the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem of smuggling arms for Arab terrorists in Israel.

Msgr. Hilarion Capudji, a Syrian and the leader of about 4,000 Christians in the Holy Land, could get a maximum sentence of 35 years in prison. But legal sources said he probably would be expelled from Israel.

The Jerusalem District Court convicted the 49-year-old prelate on three counts: making contact with a foreign agent, the military commander of the Palestine Liberation Organization; carrying and possessing illegal weapons, and working for an illegal organization.

Business crimes top $20 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's businesses will lose an estimated $20.3 billion because of crimes this year, equal to $137 for every adult in the country, the Commerce Department reported today.

The total loss last year was $15.7 billion.

The total includes losses from such crimes as shoplifting, burglary, vandalism, bad checks and employe theft.

It also includes the cost of crime prevention measures by business, estimated at $3.9 billion.

Small group of Republicans gather to eye party reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — While 1,800 Democratic delegates were meeting in Kansas City to vote on party reforms, a relatively small group of Republicans convened here over the weekend to study proposed reforms of their own party.

By the end of the three-day session, a panel of some 43 Republicans had voted to recommend that the Republican National Committee supervise all campaign spending by the party's presidential nominee.

The proposal was an attempt to avoid a repetition of the Watergate scandal that resulted in part from the financing of a Republican intelligence-gathering program during the 1972 campaign.

The Republicans also voted to recommend changes in delegate selection and to enlarge the Republican National Committee.

The GOP group, called the Rule 29 Committee, was established at the 1972 Republican National Convention to study such proposals and make recommendations to the full Republican National Committee. The full committee meets in March to vote on whether to accept the recommendations.

A proposal to enlarge the national committee by adding 11 persons representing women, blacks, ethnic groups and elected officials originally was defeated by a 22 to 21 vote Saturday. It was then adopted Sunday by a vote of 24 to 19 after a representative of Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller switched from opposing to favoring the proposal.

The Rule 29 Committee also recommended steps to encourage state parties to recruit convention delegates from the ranks of women, minorities, ethnic groups, the young and the elderly.

The delegate-selection proposal consists of an optional program for state parties to attract persons of all income levels and backgrounds.

The proposal, adopted by a unanimous vote, was a compromise between those who wanted the committee to take no action in the delegate-selection area and those who wanted to recommend mandatory steps to broaden the party's base.

Common mart summit eyes oil program

PARIS (AP) — Common Market leaders gathered today for a two-day summit conference. A key question was whether France was ready to join the others in accepting the United States proposal for a common front against the oil exporting countries.

The other eight members of the European Economic Community have generally endorsed Washington's proposal that the major oil consumers unite for eventual price negotiations with the Arabs and other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

France has refused to join such a consumers' club, seeks separate deals with the oil states and urges holding an immediate conference of consumers, producers and developing nations.

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues told newsmen Sunday he thought the conference "will not discuss the energy question at length" because "the differences are between the French and American points of view," and this would be dealt with fully when President Ford meets French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in Martinique next Saturday.

Sauvagnargues spoke to newsmen after West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt returned from Washington and talked by telephone with Giscard. The fact that the French were not going to press their European partners for support was taken by some diplomats to indicate that Schmidt may have worked out a compromise.

The energy question is just one of the tough problems that the Market leaders face in Paris. The nine — Britain, France, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark — are expected also to consider more frequent meetings and a pledge to work more closely on economic matters.

The agenda does not include Britain's bid for cheaper membership terms in the Market, but conference sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson is determined to bring up the subject. France and some of the other members are against any change.

Most coal miners back on the job

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — As expected, most of the United Mine Workers' 120,000 soft coal miners returned to work at 12:01 a.m. Monday, the first day of production in most mines in almost a month.

There were scattered reports of absences from the midnight shifts which returned to work for the first time since the strike began Nov. 12. Some had expressed dissatisfaction with a contract approved last week by 56 per cent of those voting during the ratification process.

Others, mostly in Indiana and Illinois, said they would remain off the job until the UMW's construction workers had signed a contract with the Association of Bituminous Contractors.

Joe Smith, a pit boss at Peabody Coal Co.'s Latta mine near Jasonville, Ind. said some construction workers picketed there.

"We called our men back to work. But the ABC men were picketing and they didn't get back in," he said, adding that Peabody's Dugger mine was also picketed "but I don't know if it's happening elsewhere.".

Smith said it wasn't a very good night for picketing. "When I came in it was snowing, and one of the pickets told me 'it's a hell of a night to do this', " he added.

Picket lines were formed outside a few Illinois mines Friday by some construction workers, one of whom placed a newspaper ad asking miners to remain home in sympathy until a settlement is reached.

UMW President Arnold Miller had requested construction workers not interfere with returning miners, adding that the union could be liable for damages. Although members of the UMW, the 4,400 construction workers are covered by a separate contract.

Freezing or near-freezing weather is forecast to continue over Ohio through Tuesday as cold air sweeps southward into the state in the wake of a low pressure system.

The low crossed the Great Lakes Sunday and was located at dawn today over eastern Canada.

Widespread cloudiness and snow flurries were general over Ohio Sunday night, but accumulations were an inch or less. Snow flurry activity over the western part of the state was forecast to decrease today, although additional accumulations of one to three inches could occur in the snowbelt of northeastern Ohio.

Temperatures at dawn today ranged generally in the 20s and were forecast to remain below freezing across the state throughout the day.

Skies are forecast to clear late this afternoon and tonight, bringing an end to the snow flurries. Lows tonight will range from around 10 degrees to the mid teens.

Wet, cold cover much of nation

By The Associated Press

Wet weather and cold temperatures prevail over much of the nation today following a weekend which brought snow to many areas for the first time this year.

The Department of Public Safety reported five inches of snow on the ground at Guadalupe Pass, east of El Paso, Tex. Accumulations of up to 14 inches of snow were recorded in some mountainous areas in southern New Mexico.

Light rain and snow continues to fall over much of Michigan and the Ohio Valley, making driving conditions hazardous. Travelers advisories continued early today for portions of northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania, extreme western New York and the mountains of eastern West Virginia, Northern Virginia, and Western Maryland.

Snow flurries lingered over central Illinois while mostly clear skies were found west of the Mississippi except along the Pacific Coast and portions of central and southern Texas.

Light rain mixed with fog was reported in central and northern California while high winds associated with a cold front from the Pacific Northwest were dominant in the southern portion of the state.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed down again today after an early recovery attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about three points from Friday's 12-year closing low in the early going, was off 3.60 at 574.00 by noon. Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

The initial upswing, a brief gesture of welcome for the slight cut announced late Friday in the Federal Reserve Board's discount rate, gave way to continued concern over the recession, analysts said.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .77 at 58.36.

Phillips Petroleum lost 1⅛ to 35⅜ on top of a 5¾-point drop Friday. Brokers related the selling in the issue to reports late last week that Norway was proposing a sharp increase in taxes on oil properties in its sector of the North Sea, where Phillips has important interests.

Oil service and drilling issues also encountered continued pressure.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks declined .20 to 34.25.

Listerine ad under attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission official declared today that Listerine may kill germs by the millions but the largest selling U.S. mouthwash does not relieve colds or sore throats.

Administrative law judge Alvin L. Berman, who presided over a two-year-old case stemming from a commission complaint that Listerine had been falsely advertised, issued an order requiring Listerine's manufacturer to refrain from cold relief claims for the mouthwash and to include a disclaimer in any Listerine ad for two years.

The disclaimer would say: "Contrary to prior advertising of Listerine, Listerine will not prevent or cure colds or sore throats, and Listerine will not be beneficial in the treatment of cold symptoms or sore throats."

Berman's order is not final, however. It can be appealed to the full five-member commission. Warner-Lambert Co., the manufacturer, said it would appeal even to the courts if necessary.

Listerine has been marketed since 1879 for relief of such maladies as colds, sore throats, bad breath and dandruff.

Set purchase of U.S. jets

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway, Denmark and the Netherlands have decided to buy American jet fighters built by General Dynamics to replace their aging U.S.-made F104 Starfighters, the Oslo daily Morgenbladet said today.

The usually well-informed newspaper said Norway's Defense Minister Alv Jakob Fostervoll will give a briefing in Brussels today on the decision to recommend purchase of the Texas firm's YF16 jet.

The paper said Belgium, which had joined the three governments in selecting a new plane for their air forces, had not make up its mind but would probably also buy the $5-million YF16.

Belgian and Dutch government spokesmen expressed surprise at the Oslo report. A Belgian Foreign Ministry spokesman said in Brussels he had not heard of any decision and did not expect any until next month.

The Dutch Defense Ministry called the reports "completely premature" and said research reports on competing American, French and Swedish jets were not expected until the third week of December.

Red space trip ends

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet experts say they are ready for next summer's Soviet-American space linkup following completion of the six-day Soyuz 16 space flight. They said it was a success.

Cosmonauts Anatoly Filipchenko and Nikolai Rukavishnikov landed in Central Asia just after noon Sunday, Tass reported. The two men, who are the backup crew for the joint Soyuz-Apollo flight in July, both felt fine, the official news agency said.

"We are confident that we are ready for the 1975 flight," Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev said in a television interview. He is involved in planning the Soviet-American mission.

"Our system is ready," said scientist Vladimir Syromyatin.

Soyuz 16 was the Soviet Union's third manned space mission this year. It was launched Monday as a rehearsal for the U.S.-Soviet venture — the first of its kind for the two space powers. The two cosmonauts' main jobs were testing new docking gear, automatic devices, orientation control and spacecraft atmosphere systems that have been developed to be compatible with the American equipment.

States ponder economic pinch

By The Associated Press

Inflation and economic problems reflected in the average consumer's grocery bills also affect state governments. But most state officials surveyed by The Associated Press believe state governments won't really begin to feel the squeeze for a year or more.

Since state budgets are prepared on a fiscal year basis, July 1-June 30, the current economic situation and rate of inflation were not taken into account when budgets were drawn up last spring.

However, the Commerce Department reported Sunday that the growth of state tax revenues for 1974 didn't keep up with the rise in prices. Tax income for all 50 states totaled $74.1 billion in 1974 compared to $68.1 billion the previous year. This was a rise of only 8.9 per cent compared to a 10.9 per cent jump in prices for the same period.

This means that the surpluses projected in most state budgets for the current fiscal year will have a tendency to evaporate. And drawing up the 1975-76 budgets in coming months will force many states to choose between raising taxes or cutting services.

"We are looking at a rather tight budget situation the rest of this year and all of next year," said Florida Budget Director Wallace Henderson.

Gov.-elect Richard D. Lamm of Colorado said the national economic situation "gives a message to all of us. This is a time for extreme caution."

Officials from some states said increased taxes or changed tax structures may be necessary to meet inflation-related problems.

Most states rely heavily on sales taxes for revenue. Some combine sales and personal income taxes. Only a few, such as Delaware, have no sales taxes and rely primarily on earnings taxes which decrease as massive layoffs are implemented.

In Delaware, the Governor's Economic Advisory Council meets monthly to review the state's financial outlook. Members say they are worried but have not yet figured out revenue projection adjustments to reflect the worsening state of the economy.

In New York state, Gov.-elect Hugh L. Carey has called for a hiring freeze on state employes and has indicated it may be necessary to impose a 2½ per cent income tax surcharge despite his campaign pledge not to raise taxes.

In California, legislative analyst A. Alan Post said: "We may have to have some tax increases in the future because our costs are going to go up more rapidly than our revenues."

Some states will be looking for places to trim programs rather than raise taxes, with prime targets for cutbacks being state social services, highway maintenance and higher education.

CAMP FIRES AND CHRISTMAS SEALS — The interests of Camp Fire Girls extend beyond camp fires and cookie sales. This group, the Candy Canes, assisted in the Christmas Seal program by distributing posters to area merchants and businesses. The girls are Darlene Ford, left, Cindy Pressler, Mary Mongold, Krista Sowers, Emily Engle, Diana Valentine, Sue Showalter and Jennifer Dowler. The adults advisors are Mrs. Cheryl Showalter and Mrs. Joy Valentine. Mrs. Lois Goodson, right, presented each of the girls a certificate of appreciation from the South Central Lung Association.

Camp Fire Girls assist project

The Candy Canes Camp Fire girls group has contributed to the local Christmas Seal campaign. Eight fourth grade girls distributed Christmas Seal posters to area merchants and businesses last week.

Adult leaders Mrs. Joy Valentine and Mrs. Cheryl Showalter said they were approached by Mrs. Lois Goodson, program associate for the South Central Ohio Lung Association, who asked if the girls could distribute the posters as part of their community involvement requirement for Camp Fire Girls.

All Camp Fire Girls chapters are required to devote at least 12 hours per year to community projects. The advisors said that the pastor project put the girls well in excess of the 12-hour requirement.

Mrs. Goodson presented each of the girls with a certificate of appreciation from the lung association.

The South Central Ohio Lung Association funds a number of local programs in addition to its contribution to the national chapter.

The association had donated inhalation equipment to Fayette Memorial Hospital and the Fayette County Health Department as well as life-saving equipment to the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Members of the association have led numerous presentations at the meetings of local clubs and organizations. These include programs on tuberculosis, smoking, cancer and air pollution. They furnish speakers, literature and films.

The South Central Lung Association also finances the tuberculin skin tests given by the Fayette County Health Department to school personnel, food handlers and to others who request it. The organization provides a number of patient services and contributes money for nursing scholarships.

Cincinnati officer, assailant slain

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year veteran of the Cincinnati Police Department became the force's second gunfire victim of the year when a trouble-plagued ex-fireman went berserk early Sunday.

Dead after a shootout in suburban Sayler Park were Sgt. Charles Handorf, 46, and self-employed house painter Herbert Merz, 37.

Police said the incident occurred after a patrolman responded to a trouble call involving a man firing shots in his home.

The patrolman went to the house, was confronted by the gun-wielding Merz and put in a call for assistance.

At least 15 cruisers with uniformed officers responded, along with plainclothes officers. They surrounded the house and used a bullhorn to call for Merz to surrender.

Merz began firing out the window and the policemen returned fire, while taking refuge behind a concrete retaining wall.

When Sgt. Handorf raised his head to look over the wall, he was shot in the eye, dying instantly. Merz died moments later in return fire, police said.

Merz was later described as a man burdened with problems including a police record for assault and battery, drinking and difficulty in keeping a job.

His neighbors said he had become despondent when he learned he had a brain tumor.

Merz spent 10 years as a fireman before being dismissed on charges of insubordination and other disciplinary offenses, according to Cincinnati Fire Chief Bert Lugannani.

The other policeman to die this year in a shooting was Patrolman David Cole. His July 17 death came while investigating a burglary. Two persons have been convicted in the killing.

Sgt. Handorf was a decorated officer and a father of two children. He was wounded in a shooting in 1957.

Recommend panel on teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex planned to recommend today that the state Board of Education create a 15-member commission to advise it on teacher education and certification matters.

The action was to follow a board hearing on new teacher education requirements for colleges and universities in Ohio.

Among other things, the proposed new standards would revise methods of developing teacher education courses, call for lower faculty-student ratios in education classes, require earlier practical experiences for education students and require preparation of all teachers in the teaching of reading.

Demo program, business clash

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Big business quite likely will find itself in direct opposition to many proposals in the Democratic party's "economic recovery" program, enunciated in Kansas City last week.

On some issues the cleavage never seemed wider.

The Democrats declared themselves in favor of wage-price controls. Corporate officials not only are opposed to such measures but believe they might worsen economic troubles.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers last week, controls were termed an economic perversion by some executives, an intrusion into the decision-making process by many, and a cause of marketplace distortions by almost all.

The Democrats spoke of "excessive, and sometimes windfall, profits." While big business cannot deny that many profits were very high this year, they argue that great misunderstandings exist about corporate finances.

Profits, the executives argue, were distorted by inflation, aren't likely to continue two years in a row, and are actually depressed in terms of the return on investment.

Big business is especially disturbed about what it feels is a failure of the public to understand the role of profits. They say that while return on sales might be high, return on investment is shrinking.

Because of this, they claim it is increasingly difficult to attract investment capital. And without that capital, they say, industry cannot fulfill the production demands made upon it.

Referring to his frustration in conveying the message, Harold Shaub, chief executive of Campbell Soup Co., told newsmen: "We in industry have done a lousy job in explaining it." He asked the newsmen to help.

The Democratic program states: "For too long our people have suffered the inequities of a tax system that needs reform." But they were referring to injustices to individuals. Big business feels it is the group treated unjustly.

The Democrats referred to the "worst recession since the Great Depression and the most serious inflation ever experienced in peacetime." Big business might agree with the latter, but many of its members fear the recession will be cut short before inflation is licked.

Businessmen at the NAM meeting felt the administration and probably the Federal Reserve would begin anti-recession moves too quickly, bowing to short-term complaints and risking more inflation in 1975 and 1976.

Reading between the lines of the Democrats' resolution, the impression emerges that the ordinary people of America — consumers, householders — are the offended. Many in big business feel they are.

The Democrats would seem to call on the spending powers of the Federal government to insure the security of the populace in the face of what could be referred to, when reviewed in years to come, as a depression.

Big business feels Federal spending, particularly in excess of revenues, is what gets us into these periodic economic messes.

Gilligan daughter engaged to marry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. John Gilligan announced today the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Keith Gary Sebelius, an attorney in Topeka, Kan.

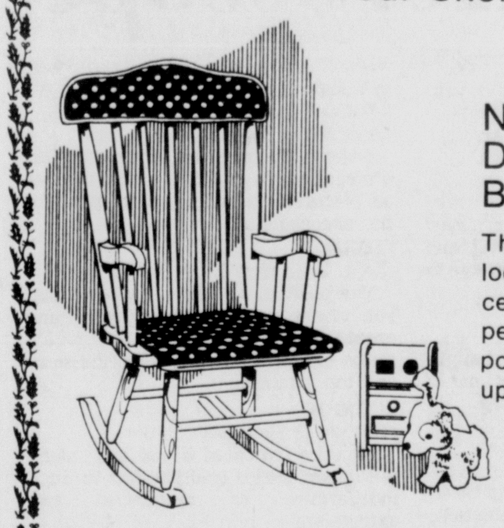

Miss Gilligan's fiance is the son of three-term Republican U.S. Rep. and Mrs. Keith G. Sebelius of Kansas.

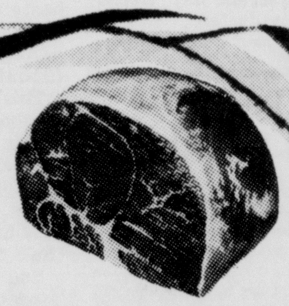

The bride-to-be is a graduate of the Summit Schools in Cincinnati and Trinity College in Washington, D.C.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Progress on wind power

It is gratifying to find that the idea of using wind power as a source of electrical energy has moved past the speculative stage. This welcome development is heralded by the granting of half a million dollars from federal funds for design of massive wind energy systems.

The contracts to two firms are for preliminary work on systems ranging from 100-kilowatt to three-megawatt generating output. An idea of what is involved can be gained from a National Aeronautics and Space Administration report that the latter size windmill - which would be the largest ever built - could supply 100 to 200 homes with electricity.

It is NASA and the National Science Foundation which are teaming up to finance and conduct a varied wind power research and development program. In addition to working on systems whose energy output might be tied in with major power grids, specialists also will design small systems for remote areas and will consider environmental, social, economic and legal questions that arise.

The Atomic Energy Commission has become involved, too, and is testing a radical new type of wind-driven turbine. Research and development also are in progress at universities. It appears that efforts to make modern use of this ancient energy source are at last getting under way on a promising scale.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Trying to roll a stone uphill

If you don't learn how to read and extrapolate from statistics in college, where do you learn? The statistical truth is that the actual profit from American business averages around 4.3 cents a year. Yet, in spite of the hard arithmetical evidence, the American people as a whole think business gets 28 cents as profit out of every dollar that it grosses. College students, as a poll shows, believe that business nets 20 cents after taxes on each dollar. So they are only a little behind the average American in distrusting the businessman as a gouger. What they should distrust are their own economics professors who have failed to teach them how to arrive statistically at a correct bottom line.

Ten years ago the American Management Association started something called the International Council for Operation Enterprise. It was supposed to promote discussions between businessmen and college students, the hope being that the students might come out of the encounters with a realization that enterprisers don't necessarily have horns, cloven hoofs and forked tails. But the AMA hasn't made much of a dent on the campus as yet.

Mostly the AMA has held its conferences at Hamilton, New York, the home of Colgate University. But a son of Colgate, J. Kevin Murphy, the president of Purolater Services, Inc., who has recently taken over as chairman of the International Council for Operation Enterprise, has pushed the AMA into setting up Regional Councils to raise funds to provide scholarships for two-week seminars on management philosophy and practice that will bring students and businessmen together all over North America. The mistakes that students make about business profitability have fired Mr. Murphy's zeal. In 1974, under his prodding, Operation Enterprise made question-and-answer programs available at various campus locations in New York, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco, Dallas, Phoenix and Montreal.

Mr. Murphy's work is good, and it should by all means be expanded. But the businessmen, whose companies are being asked to put up some $500 per student for the seminars, face the labors of Sisyphus in pushing that rock up the hill if they expect to change the undergraduate attitude toward business in the near future. The truth is that they will be reaching the student long after our generally anti-business faculties have gotten in their work of indoctrinating their charges with the idea that capitalism, while it may pay our educational salaries, is for the birds.

What we really need is a double set of seminars, one for high school instructors in social studies at the beginning end of the scale, and one for the kids after they have been exposed to the anti-business college faculties that keep choosing their own kind to man their own departments.

Any school system that presumes to teach the virtues of private enterprise is up against it. Three years ago, in Arizona, a pertinacious legislator named Jim Skelly got a law passed making it compulsory for students in the Arizona high school system to take a half-year course in the theory and workings of the U.S. free market economy, or to pass an examination that will prove an "equivalency" knowledge of the same. But Arizona has been having its troubles in the effort to make the courses real. A cadre of 16 convinced teachers has been laboring to carry the word to a total of 270 involved educators, many of whom have learned their economics from college instructors who sneer at the very idea that markets should be free.

One particular trouble in Arizona is that the pro-free enterprise cadre hasn't been able to find a suitable text book that will be generally acceptable. The Department of Public Instruction has resorted to the expedient of bringing free market philosophers from the East—a John Davenport of Fortune magazine, a Ben Rogge of Wabash College in Indiana — to talk to high school personnel. But the chances of continuing the state program of teaching free enterprise principles in the high schools is in deadly peril every time the state legislature meets. Socialism and its permutations have their devotees even in Barry Goldwater's home state.

The biggest problem in the U.S. is to change the state of mind of the teachers. To get at the students after they have been corrupted is just too great a task for American business to heft.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A good day for embarking on a new project if it is really purposeful and stimulates your mind — with an eye to the future, of course.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Stellar influences suggest a halt to certain activities which could get out of the realm of common sense. Be realistic.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Mercury highly propitious. Originality and imagination, thoughtfully directed, can brighten day's activities and boost your status.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may find it difficult to get things done in the way you prefer. Also, you may run into some unexpected snags. Take all in stride and avoid argument. Things will right themselves.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A more or less average day. Better finish, or at least further, current projects. Starting new undertakings without proper preparation could lead to disappointment.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't head into complications. Steer a clear course and focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

The position of Venus suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Benefits indicated if you are alert, but opportunities could be lost through indifference or tendencies two extremism.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Though there is a favorable outlook, some not entirely successful operations may need an added "shot in the arm" — new methods, tightening up, new data.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Time is important, of course, but don't let the thought of it rush you into hasty moves, decisions. Confusion will reign if the guard is down.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

This should be a highly profitable day for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. On the personal side, emotions may rise and fall, so maintain equilibrium and poise.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You may have a tendency to be too impressionable now. Avoid becoming involved in ticklish situations which could disturb you later.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a brilliant imagination and a great love of knowledge. Research is a forte and you could make an eminent success in the scientific or literary fields. You are extremely versatile and could achieve enviably in either the business world or the arts: In the former, would make a top-rank executive or financier; in the latter, a highly skilled musician, writer or dramatist. You are one of the most freedom-loving of all zodiacal natives and your craving for independence is so great that one may have a difficult time trying to "trap" you into marriage.

Tomato growers study changes

By KEN DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio tomato growers, fresh from harvesting a $26.6 million crop, look for several major changes in their farming life-style around one of the next corners.

Goodbye, migrant pickers and sorters from the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

Hello, mechanical pickers wherever they are, probably in all fields.

Welcome, a new flotation system for separating ripe and green tomatoes, chemicals that will ripen the crop in proper sequence to keep the machines busy and smaller, firmer tomatoes that can be piled three and four feet deep without crushing the bottom layer.

That's the way Dr. Wilbur Gould, Ohio State University horticulture professor, reads the future.

"The day is getting near when we simply will not be able to get picking labor," he said. "We are one of the few places where migrant labor still is available.

"Take California, the No. 1 tomato state, it's all bulk handling and mechanized, 100 per cent. We are going to have to follow suit or we just aren't going to stay in business."

But mechanized picking means green tomatoes are going to get picked along with ripe tomatoes. Dr. Gould thinks he has the answer for that—a new flotation system tested this season at the Libby processing plant at Leipsic.

"The method was tested in 1968 and abandoned," said Dr. Gould. "I found the old equipment in Pennsylvania and it cost me $1,500 to get it. The industry added $7,500 and we installed it at Leipsic."

Here's sketchily how it works: Ripe tomatoes have a higher specific gravity, or are more solid, than green tomatoes. If ripe and green tomatoes are put in the flotation sorter and the water is moving at exactly the right speed, the ripe tomatoes sink and the green tomatoes float — a separation demanding no hand help.

"You'll see a couple or three 25-ton installations next year," said Dr. Gould.

Machines will replace men, the tomato experts agree, but not because the growers don't want to pay proper wages, Dr. Gould said. Fewer and fewer migrant workers want to leave their homes for the summer.

"After all," said Howard Sacks, a Sandusky County grower, "most of them have jobs back home in Texas that would be year-around jobs."

But mechanical picking will be a cost-cutter eventually. Normal hand-picking wages ran $18 a ton this year. Many pickers and loaders made $40 a day."

Kroger trial set Dec. 26

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The trial of a Winter Park, Fla. civil engineer accused of the kidnaping of the daughter of a broadcast executive has been set for Dec. 26 in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Clifford J. Kroger, 38, who denied the charge, was accused in the Sept. 23 abduction of 4-year-old Allison Mechem, daughter of Charles Mechem, chairman of Taft Broadcasting Corp.

The child was found unharmed in a motel. No attempt was made to collect the demanded $128,000 ransom, police said.

Kroger's attorneys filed a motion to suppress evidence based on samples of blood, hair and handwriting taken from Kroger.

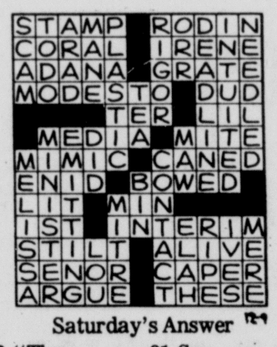

One investigator seeking the origin of tektites — small glassy blobs that many scientists believe originated on the moon — suggested that a comet head collided with the earth, exploding with the energy of a half-million hydrogen bombs, and scattering bits of melted earth materials.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Four years later,

"Miserable" isn't any more

DEAR ABBY: Will you do me (and countless thousands of teen-aged girls) a tremendous favor and re-run the letter and your reply from your column of September 6, 1968?

I wrote it, and now I want to write a "P.S." Thank you.

"D"

DEAR "D": With pleasure:

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl and my problem is my mother. I hate her. It may sound terrible to you, but I really hate her. I used to think I would get over it, but I know now I never will.

Sometimes I think I will go out of my mind if she doesn't quit picking on me. I never do anything to suit her. She doesn't like my clothes, my hair, my friends or anything.

My friends are not bums, either. They are good kids and they aren't wild or on pot or anything like that, but my mother says they look like hippies, and they aren't.

Please help me, Abby, before I run away from home. I cry myself to sleep at night because my mother is so hateful. If I babysit, she makes me put the money in the bank. Other girls can buy records or do whatever they want with the money they earn.

Don't tell me to talk to my father. He's always on her side. And don't tell me my mother "loves" me and is only doing things for my own good. If you print my letter, don't sign name or I'll get killed."

MISERABLE IN PHOENIX

DEAR MISERABLE: Your letter doesn't shock me at all. I receive many such letters each week. Almost every normal teen-ager alternately loves and hates his parents.

It's not easy to be criticized, restricted, corrected, and disciplined day in and day out. But parents who really love their children, prove it by consistently letting their children know what is expected of them. Parents who are "soft" and permissive rear confused, insecure children.

I don't expect you to agree with me today, but keep this letter and read it again three years from now, and then you'll understand it perfectly. Good luck, dear. You're lucky. You are loved."

DEAR ABBY: Now, for my "P.S." I am no longer "Miserable." I am grateful.

I am 20 years old, Abby, and I just found that clipping tucked away in my 1968 diary. (I am "cleaning out my closets" because I am going to be married next June, and I'll be moving.)

You were so right. My parents were stricter than the parents of my friends, but now I realize that they set extra high standards for me because they loved me and wanted me to be proud of myself.

I am saving a copy of that clipping to show my daughter if I am ever lucky enough to have one, because I intend to raise my daughter just like my mother raised me, and she may "hate" me for the same reasons I "hated" my mother.

I am graduating from college in June, and marrying a wonderful young man on the following Saturday.

How can I thank you?

"D" IN PHOENIX

DEAR "D": You already have. Thanks for writing, Honey, and may all life's blessings be yours.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Dec. 9, the 343rd day of 1974. There are 22 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, Japanese troops invaded the Philippines at the beginning of the Pacific war.

On this date —

In 1608, the English poet, John Milton, was born in London.

In 1793, Noah Webster established New York's first daily newspaper.

In 1854, Alfred Lord Tennyson's famous poem, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," was published in England.

In 1934, Ethiopian and Italian troops clashed on the border between Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia.

In 1940, British troops opened their first offensive in North Africa in World War II.

In 1944, Allied troops cracked German defense lines near Aachen, Germany.

Ten years ago: The English poet, Dame Edith Sitwell, died in London at the age of 77.

Five years ago: Forty-eight persons were arrested and seven policemen were injured in New York as three-thousand anti-war protesters demonstrated against President Nixon, who was at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to receive an award.

One year ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger began talks with leaders in Western Europe to try to repair unity of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Today's birthdays: Actor Kirk Douglas is 58 years old. Former actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is 65.

OEA meet approves program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A five-point legislative program, including a public employe collective bargaining bill, was approved Saturday by the Ohio Education Association fall Representative Assembly.

Also set as major legislative priorities of the big teacher organization were proposals to equalize school financing, increase support to state universities, establish and educational practices board and improve teacher retirement benefits.

The collective bargaining proposal calls for a state employment relations board to administer all negotiating by public employes and repeal of the state's Ferguson Act, which prohibits public employe strikes.

Local bargaining would include salaries, hours and other matters affecting employment or teaching and learning conditions. Grievance procedures would be included in all negotiated contracts.

In addition to proposing a 5 per cent increase in state support of universities, the 1,200 delegates attending the one-day assembly also urged a two-year ban on student fee increases.

The educational practices board would regulate the schooling and certification of public school teachers in Ohio, the OEA said.

Delegates suggested legislation providing for full retirement benefits for teachers after 25 years of service, and new employment-dismissal laws for teachers.

Gamma CCL donates toys

Gifts for children, which will be distributed by Church Women United, were given by members of Gamma Child Conservation League when they met at the beautifully decorated home of Mrs. Maynard Denen for the annual Christmas party. Upon arriving, the members were invited to a festive appointed table for punch and canapes.

Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, president, conducted a brief business meeting, opened by devotions given by Mrs. Jack Flax. A Christmas message was read from the State President, and a report on plans for Spring Conference, to be held in Washington C. H., was given.

The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and playing Dubs bridge, with awards being presented to Mrs. Donald Early, Mrs. Virgil Lowe and Mrs. Phillip Ford.

At the close of the evening, a gift exchange was held, and the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ed Krieger and Mrs. Ladrach served a delightful salad course.

The January meeting will be the husband's party, with everyone meeting at the American Legion for a steak dinner.

Members present were Mrs. Clark Thompson, Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mrs. Walter Karnes, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Early, Mrs. Ladrach, Mrs. Krieger, Mrs. Flax and Mrs. Denen.

Altrusa Club dinner Dec. 19

The Altrusa Club of Washington Court House met at the LaFayette Inn for their regular dinner meeting with fourteen members present.

Mrs. James Wagner and Miss Helen Slavens gave a detailed report on the District 5 Conference held at the Green Briar in White Sulphar Springs, West Va.

Various committee reports were given and Mrs. Wagner discussed attending the meeting conducted by the Chamber of Commerce regarding the Bi-Centennial Celebration to be held in 1976. Mrs. Reynolds Slaughter and Miss Slavens were appointed co-chairman for Altrusa's part in the Bi-Centennial. Mrs. Madeline Ebert, Mrs. Mona Mershon, Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, Mrs. Jessie Moore, Mrs. Sue Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Haines and Mrs. Wagner are on the committee.

The next meeting will be a carry-in dinner December 19, at Mrs. Wagners. The International Relations Committee is in charge of the dinner and the program will be "Holy Land, Scenic, Political and Religious Background" by C. E. Rhoad.

Class dinner is enjoyed

The Leadership Training Class of First Presbyterian Church held their Christmas dinner with Mrs. Don Wood, Mrs. Harvey Heironimus and Mrs. James Wilson as hostesses. A social hour was enjoyed around the punch bowl at 6 p.m. and the dinner was served at 6:45 p.m. in Persinger Hall by Miss Maxine Gilmerr's catering service.

There was a brief business meeting when reports were read. The Service committee reported on the family which the class 'adopted' for the holidays. The same family was given a food basket for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Archie McCullough will be the new class treasurer, in the place of Mrs. John Boyer, who is moving to Texas.

The remainder of the evening was spent addressing Christmas cards to all patients in the area nursing homes.

Mrs. Robinson feted at layette shower

A layette shower was given for Mrs. Debbie Robinson recently in the home of Mrs. Phyllis Robinson, 237 W. Elm St., with hostesses Mrs. Marsha Kelley and Miss Eva Robinson.

Games were won by Mrs. Marlene Martindale, Miss Shelletta Robinson, and Mrs. Betsy Bruce.

Refreshments of cake, Jello salad and coffee were served. The cake was decorated in pink and blue with booties on each end. In the center the cake was inscribed with "Welcome Little Stranger' in pink. Other decorations were in pink and white, and a beautiful Southern-Style dressed doll was used for the centerpiece.

Guests present were Mrs. Willadean Mastin, Miss Dianne Thompson, Mrs. Cindy Self, Mrs. Stella Aills, Mrs. Marlene Martindale, Mrs. Gladys Short, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Ruth Hart, Mrs. Nina Mummy, Mrs. Tonda Robinson, Mrs. Betty Shiltz, Mrs. Phyllis Robinson, Miss Shelletta Robinson and the guest of honor.

Mailbag Club supper held in Fackler home

Buckeye chapter, International Mailbag Club enjoyed a delicious chicken supper served by Mrs. Minnie Fackler in her home Thursday evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers, Mrs. Gary Trenary and children, Mrs. Vesper Flint, and former member Mrs. Grace Ella Fout.

A floral holiday centerpiece centered the table and drummer boys were at each place setting. The house was pretty and festive for the holidays.

A gift exchange was enjoyed and the remainder of the time was spent visiting. Holiday treats will be taken to shutins of the club, Mrs. Essie Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Lovey Riley and Mr. Arlie Ashbaugh, next week.

Engagement announced

MISS RHONDA COCKERILL

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cockerill of 528 Lewis St., have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rhonda, to Brad H. Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crosby, 8 Hali Drive.

The wedding will be an event of March 15 in First Presbyterian Church.

'Religious Education' is DAR program topic

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell entertained the Daughters of the American Revolution, Washington C. H. chapter and the program topic was "Religious Education," presented by Mrs. Gerald Wheat. Mrs. Howard Perrill opened the session in the absence of Mrs. B. M. Slagle, and was assisted by Mrs. M. H. Roszmann. Mrs. Eddie Sexton read the first stanza of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Cornwell reported on clothing sent to the Kate Duncan Smith, Tamassa and Chilolco Indian schools.

During the business, delegates to the State Conference, Mrs. Deane Powell, Mrs. Charles Ellis and Mrs. Robert Cannon, were elected. The alternates are Mrs. John Sagar Sr., Mrs. Gilbert Crouse, Miss Elizabeth Trent, Mrs. Gilbert Adams and Miss Mabel Briggs.

Members of Continental Congress elected were Mrs. Harold Slagle, Mrs. Roszmann and Mrs. Walter Parrett, with alternates Mrs. Howard Perrill, Miss Elizabeth Trent, and Mrs. Jerome Tankersley.

Mrs. Wheat gave an interesting talk in which she said a generation comes, a generation goes, but the earth remains. She also told of the traditional family Christmas and spoke of geneology taken from the Book of Matthew, which tells of the Christ child and how His coming has made a whole new world.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Sidney Bloomer, Mrs. Laurence Garinger, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Irvin Yeoman, Mrs. J. A. McCoy, Mrs. Vivian Crawford, Mrs. John Leland and Mrs. Virtus Kruse.

There will be no meeting in January.

Country Club is setting for Conchemco yuletide party

"Sabina Welcomes Don Techentien to $1,500,000 Christmas Party." This welcome greeted people attending the annual Conchemco Incorporated Christmas party at the Washington C. H. Country Club Friday evening. The large sign across the ballroom wall was reminding company people and guests of the fact that Conchemco had reached the first $1,500,000 sales plateau for one month in October of this year.

Mr. Techentien is president of the Homes Group and executive vice president of Conchemco, Inc. He attended the Christmas party. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels.

Conchemco Inc. consists of three companies, Colony Paint, Wescon Precision Products Co. and Conchemco Industrial Coatings.

Mr. Techentien said he was proud of the Sabina plant which had been the first plant the company owns to reach $1,000,000 production in a month and then $1½ million and the first $12 million year for a single location.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bailey greeted guests as they arrived for the party. Mr. Bailey is general manager of the Sabina plant.

The Luther Bolen band played for dancing. Guests enjoyed hors d' oeuvres and other refreshments throughout the evening followed by a breakfast served at 12:30.

Open house planned for anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Fannon of Sabina will observe their 50th (golden) wedding anniversary with an 'open house' and reception to be held in the Sabina United Methodist Church from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Walter Fry of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has returned home after an extended visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harper, 123 W. Circle Ave.

Mrs. Belt entertains Homemakers

Mrs. Carlton Belt was hostess when the Homemakers Club met in her home for a carry-in luncheon. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Robert Case, president, conducted a business session and read "Christmas Reflections." Each member told of the nicest Christmas which she remembered for roll call.

It was announced that the Connor Farm Women's Club will meet at 11:45 a.m. Dec. 19, for the Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. Walter Sollars presented the program, "When Christmas Comes." She also read "Gift I Gave Away." A contest, making words from the word 'Christmas' was conducted and won by Mrs. Lorain Morter and Mrs. Maryon Mark.

Busy Bee Club

The Busy Bee Garden Club of Jeffersonville met at Duff's recently for a noon luncheon, when each member was presented a Christmas corsage by Mrs. Rowena Cummins. Following the luncheon, the eight members and guest Don Creamer attended 'Open House' at a green house in Wilmington, when they were taken on a guided tour.

The club always plans a tour for the December meeting. Mrs. Janice Creamer will be hostess for the January meeting.

Circle 3

Mrs. Larry Loyd, a resident of Washington C.H., formerly of Bogota, Colombia, South America, told members of Circle 3 of First Presbyterian Church of Christmas customs in her native country, when they met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Wheat. Eleven members were present for the meeting, led by Mrs. Ralph Jones, who also presented devotions.

Mrs. C.L. Musser gave the Mission Yearbook of Prayer and a prayer for missionaries serving in Thailand and Southwest United States. Reports and new yearbooks for 1975 were distributed.

Miss Dorothy Donohoe presented the story, "I Am a Christmas Tree," followed by "What Christmas Is." Several members participated in this part, in which it was decided that Christmas is a belief- and how it is a sight, sound, fragrance and taste. Miss Donohoe also gave "Memories of a Country Christmas."

Refreshments were served from a lovely tea table, decorated festive for the holiday season, from the dining room of the manse by Mrs. Wheat, a very gracious hostess.

Toys were also donated by members to be distributed by Chruch Women United.

Mrs. Homer Bireley is the new circle leader for 1975.

Fayette County NFO delegates return from national meeting

Delegates to the National Farmers Organization's 1974 annual convention at Memphis, Tenn., returned to Fayette County this weekend to start preparations for participating in a nationwide drive to enroll enough farm production in NFO bargaining blocks to effectively set prices on them.

Attending the convention from Fayette County were Mr. and Mrs. David Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coil, Mr. and Mrs. William Burr, Robert Pavey, Lewis Redd, Ancel Creamer, Russell N. Garringer and A. H. Hoppes.

The convention set a goal of getting 30 per cent of all farm production moving throuh NFO's bargaining, collection and delivery system.

"WHEN FARMERS put enough of their production in to blocks so that handlers must have that production to meet their requirements, then we can price them just as auto makers, machinery manufacturers, oil, fertilizer and other industries do," NFO president Oren L. Staley told the convention delegates. "Our members now have the livestock collection points, the grain handling facilities, barge points, milk reload stations and facilities necessary to handle the products. Now we must get it together," he said.

The delegates voted to go for 30 per cent. When it is achieved, there will be 10-county meetings at 160 locations or more across the nation to agree on prices reflecting cost of production plus a reasonable profit. Products in the NFO blocks will be offered at those prices, and if they are not met, held on farms until they are.

Staley pointed out that supplies of meat in the pipeline to consumers will last about seven days and milk for about three days.

"NFO is getting an early start this winter on its enrollment drive," Staley said. "The facilities from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico are ready to handle the volume necessary. This is an all-out drive to commit enough production for bargaining to make it fully effective."

The regular Fayette County NFO meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Eber Junior High School, Bloomingburg-New Holland Road.

Meat price freeze set

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Labeled a test run, Kroger Co. has reduced and frozen meat prices effective today at 63 Cincinnati and Dayton area stores for four weeks.

The move comes a week after Kroger put a freeze on more than 1,100 items in the grocery chain's 1,240 stores.

Prices on 30 beef cuts and ground beef items have been reduced 10 cents to 60 cents per pound and will remain at the level until Jan. 5, according to Walter R. Dryden, vice president of Cincinnati's Kroger Food Stores.

"Meat prices are volative and we do not know if we will be able to continue the program after that," he said.

"If our meat costs go up, we will absorb the cost if they go down, meat prices will go even lower," Dryden said.

He said meat prices at Kroger, which serves more than a dozen states, have dropped 5.9 cents per pound in the past year.

The price freeze includes the entire meat department—beef, pork, veal, lamb, wieners, bacon, luncheon meats, poultry and fish.

Last week's freeze included cereals, canned vegetables, cheese, rice, frozen foods and other items which represent about two-thirds of grocery department purchases in Cincinnati stores. The freeze on these items will be in effect until Feb. 1.

Dryden said the meat prices will be frozen at or below their Dec. 2 level.

No sign of hunter

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The fate of a 20-year Florence, Ky., man who disappeared while hunting nearly a week ago is still unknown although two developments were reported over the weekend.

Boone County police said a hunting companion of Edward Nichols, the missing man, has agreed to take a polygraph test Tuesday. David Stites, 20, has been questioned regarding the disappearance of Nichols last Tuesday.

A bone found Saturday has been sent to a Cincinnati research laboratory to determine if it is human. It was found in northern Gallatin County near the Boone County line.

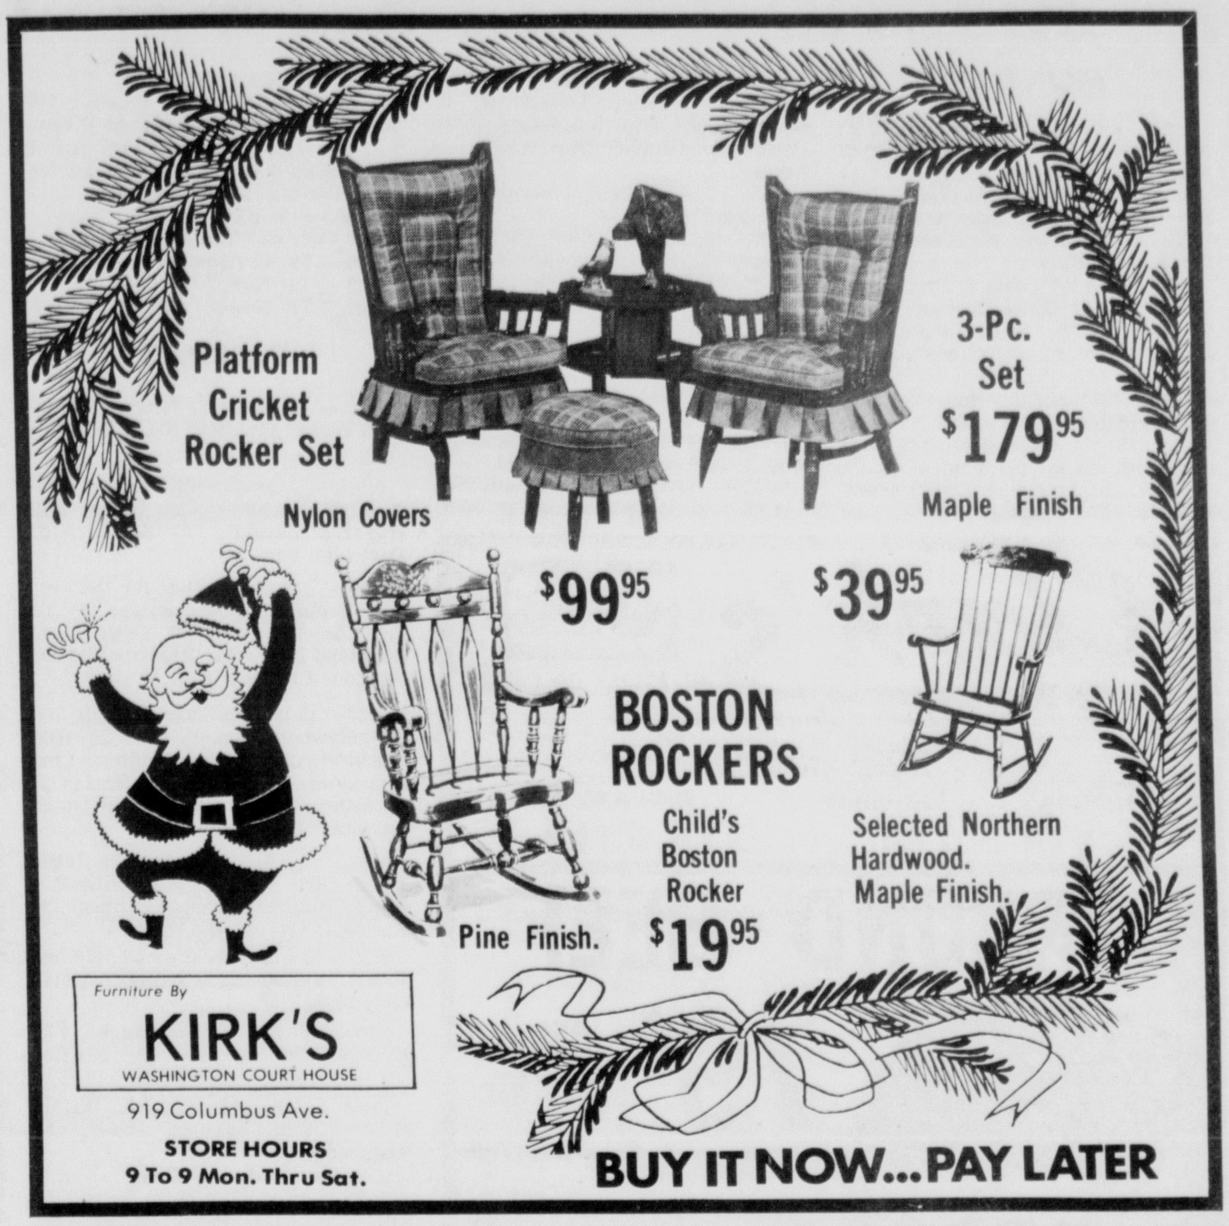

It was located some distance from the 10,000-acre Big Bone Lick State Park, which was the site of an extensive search for Nichols.

The discovery of ferocious wild pigs in the rugged backwoods country led to fear Nichols may have been attacked by the animals. Seven pigs had to be shot last week when they threatened searchers, police said.

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two network news presidents say they're delighted by a federal judge's memorandum that may pave the way for broadcast of White House tapes played during the Watergate cover-up trial.

But Richard S. Salant of CBS and Richard Wald of NBC agree it sets no legal precedent for eventually permitting live or delayed broadcast coverage of federal court cases they'd like to cover electronically.

"I don't think it goes that far," Salant said of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell's memo, which last week indicated the tapes probably will be released for broadcast after the cover-up trial ends.

"He was exceedingly clear that it doesn't set that kind of precedent," said Wald, emphasizing that this wasn't the intent of the broadcasters who sought court permission to air the tapes.

Bill Sheehan, ABC News president, was in Hawaii on business and couldn't be reached for comment.

His network, NBC, CBS, the Public Broadcasting Service, the Radio and Television News Directors Association and record firms had asked the U.S. District Court in Washington if they could copy the tapes.

Prior to that request, filed as a legal motion, CBS newsman Fred Graham and his NBC and CBS colleagues informally had asked the trial's presiding judge, John J. Sirica, for permission to air tapes played at the trial.

Sirica informally denied permission after seeking guidance from Judge George H. Hart Jr., head of the federal district court in Washington, who gave Sirca consensus of opinion by the court's judges.

Hart, in a memo to Sirica, said the judges felt verbatim tape transcripts provided the press "appear to constitute more than adequate disclosure" to the public of the tapes' contents.

In a key passage, he also noted the judges were concerned that release of the tapes for broadcast might prove a crack in the court's long-standing ban against any broadcast of court proceedings.

"In a sense, if we allow replay of what occurred in court," he said, referring to the playing of the tapes in court, "it will be very difficult to explain why we will not let a tape recorder be used by a court reporter to replay the entire proceedings."

NBC's Wald, reiterating his belief the Gesell memo isn't even a small step towards broadcast coverage of federal trials, says it nonetheless is a "very wholesome advance in the general concept of what evidence can be released from a trial."

As far as broadcast coverage of federal trials, both he and Salant say that still is something their networks would like to do.

"We think we can do it unobtrusively and we think that the courts will agree with us in the future," Wald said. "But this case has nothing to do with that."

Blaze at hotel being probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Fire officials were to probe the embers of the Hawley House hotel this morning, searching for clues to the origin of a Saturday night fire that killed one fire fighter, injured 11 persons and left 45 others homeless.

No damage estimate had been determined Saturday.

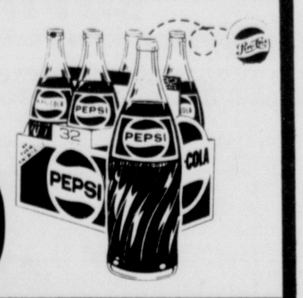

The most seriously injured of the residents, William Smith, 68, was in guarded condition with extensive burns at Metropolitan General Hospital's burn ward, a spokesman said.

Two fire fighters admitted to Lutheran Medical Center suffering from smoke inhalation and superficial burns were reported "doing nicely," by a spokeswoman there.

Ohio Perspective

Libertarian movement blooms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Libertarian movement hasn't exactly caught fire in Ohio, but its candidate for the U.S. Senate attracted almost 77,000 votes on Nov. 5 after campaigning on an undated laissez your own faire platform.

Kathleen G. Harroff, 43, was on the ballot as an independent, but she is a member of the new Libertarian Party which assumes a radical antigovernment stance that is far out of the major party political mainstream.

The two-year-old party stands for almost absolute individual liberties and a strict government hands-off just about everything policy that would leave a bureaucracy with very little to do.

Consequently, the libertarian philosophy is often labeled as utopian, or even anarchist.

Libertarians are finding their appeal in the growing cynicism toward government and professional politicians. Indeed, outgoing Gov. John J. Gilligan observed recently that Ohioans are "generally suspicious of government."

In a recent interview, Miss Harroff said her 76,882 vote total was the highest tally nationwide among any of the scattered Libertarian candidates. Official totals, particularly for minor candidates, are still not final in some states.

Miss Harroff finished a poor third in the Senate race with 2.57 per cent of the votes and was all but lost in media reports of John Glenn's lopsided victory.

She did, however, stage a mild upset by coming in nearly 15,000 votes ahead of another far more visible independent candidate, Richard Kay, a conservative with past ties to the American Independent Party.

Nevertheless, she was "discouraged and depressed" by the results and plans to take a sabbatical from politics. "I thought we could raise more money," lamented Miss Harroff who said she spent only $6,000 on her campaign.

For the future, her emphasis will be getting the party on the Ohio ballot in the 1976 presidential election, perhaps by capitalizing on renewed sentiment for a third party.

She is disdainful of most mainstream conservatives who have been identified with speculation about a third party.

"I think the conservative movement is nearly dead," she said. "Conservatives are bad on civil rights. We are very civil rights conscious. Not disregarding minorities, the idea is that people should be able to determine their own lifestyles."

While she contends "most people in the party are neither conservative nor liberal," many Libertarians describe themselves as traditional conservatives, harkening back to the small government philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. Ironically, Jefferson was considered a flaming liberal in his day.

The libertarian credo calls for: an absolutely free rein for free enterprise, a near isolationist foreign policy, abolition of penalties for victimless crimes and eventual elimination of all taxes.

Libertarians deny that they are "liberal conservatives." It is all very consistent, they say, the system will work through voluntarism.

In the absence of government controls and services, citizens would join forces to provide police and fire protection, sanitation and most of the other necessities offered by a welfare state.

The party claims 5,000 members nationwide, and few major elected officials have taken up its cause. Nor are the libertarians enamored of many politicos — Democrat or Republican.

Miss Harroff observes dryly that Reps. John M. Ashbrook, Clarence E. Miller and Clarence J. Brown, all Ohio Republicans, have been rated fairly highly by the Royce Report, the party's congressional scorecard.

Ashbrook has predicted that a third party could form along conservative lines if President Ford and other Republican leaders move too far leftward in the next two years.

The Libertarian Party in Ohio will have to get along without too much help from Kathleen Harroff for the time being. She plans to return to her job on the free market selling women's accessories.

She was founding chairman of the Ohio party in .972 and was named regional chairman for Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky and a member of the national executive committee in 1973. She resigned the posts to run for the Senate and intends to remain inactive "while I put the pieces back together."

The Moose, like all deer, is a ruminant. Related to domestic cattle, it has a four-chambered stomach.

H.L. Hunt heiress disdains wealth

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The daughter that H. L. Hunt always called "Peaches" says she doesn't believe money should rule her life. She just wants to make it as a singer.

"Peaches" is June Hunt, 29, the daughter of the Texas billionaire who died Nov. 29. She is thought to be one of America's wealthiest women because of her father's fortune.

But June says she isn't content to bask in the limelight cast by the Hunt empire. She's trying to make it in the entertainment world on her talent as a singer and guitarist.

She says that her great wealth frightens some people she meets and causes resentment in others.

"Money is necessary only to provide the necessities of life. It has nothing to do with true happiness," she says.

She will release her first record this month.

"It's kind of a novelty song. It's about a little blue man who follows this woman around," said Miss Hunt, who shuns flashy clothes and jewelry in favor of a conservative "tweedy" suit and gold necklace with a Biblical fish symbol.

She crossed her hazel eyes, twisted her face into a pixie expression and said: "He keeps telling the woman: 'I lub you, I lub you.' Finally, she pushes him off the top of a tall building. When she gets down to the street, there he is again. And do you know what he says this time? 'I don't lub you anymore'."

June Hunt says her singing began as a child when her father would pull her up next to him at the supper table of their home in Dallas and insist that she sing tunes that he liked.

She studied music at Southern Methodist University, then launched into a career in religion, becoming a youth and college director of First Baptist Church in Dallas. She began touring the country on speaking engagements that usually included some singing.

Miss Hunt's singing career got a boost in 1972 when she staged her own USO tour in Vietnam. Then, Truth Records, part of Stax Records in Memphis, became interested in her. The firm, famous for the "soul" music it produces, signed her as its first white female vocalist.

"The Little Blue Man" record is the first result. It will be promoted through use of toy blue men sent to record shops.

Unanimous vote seen for Ocasek

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Democratic caucus in Ohio's new Senate meet today with an Akron veteran predicting his second election as majority leader—this time by a unanimous vote.

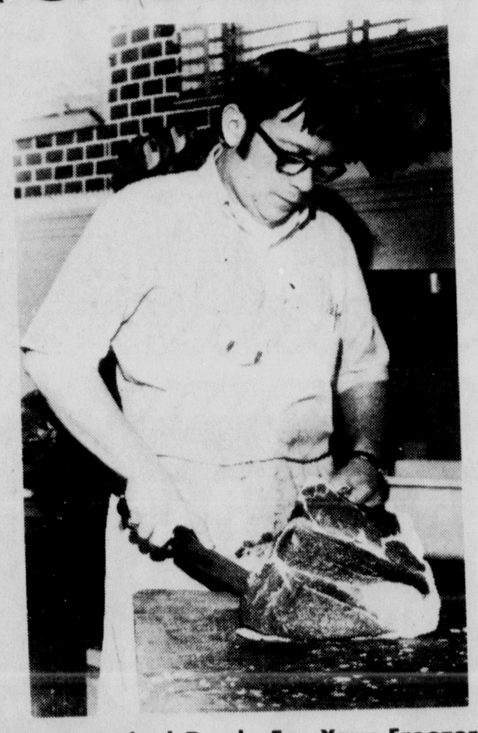

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, got 17 of the 21 Democrats' votes at an early caucus, but their dean, veteran Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, announced he would try to have them reconsider and pick him for the top post at the meeting called for today.

In the interim, Ocasek said he and Calabrese, the minority leader of the present Senate, had "a fine talk," and that the 67-year-old Clevelander now has agreed to support him. "I will be elected unanimously," Ocasek said.

The Akron college professor, who has served in the Senate 16 years, said it was decided the caucus instead will devote itself to patronage and related matters for the opening session of the 111th General Assembly Jan. 6.

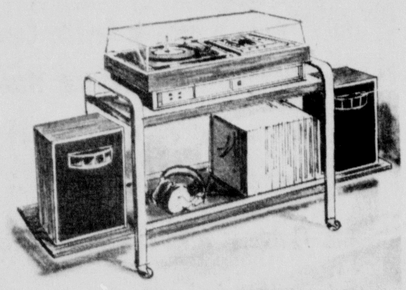

Meanwhile, both houses of the outgoing 110th Assembly plan skeleton sessions Tuesday at which time they intend to take "sine die," or final adjournment. That would put out of business the legislature that convened initially Jan. 1, 1973.

Newly elected leaders of both parties—Ocasek in the Senate and Speaker-Elect Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston in the House—are already looking at priorities that include a possible move to extend unemployment compensation benefits.

Achievements of two men often overlooked

Engineering partners in area development background

BY SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Gale Helms and Donald Conley are two Washington C. H. men seldom recognized for their achievements, which ultimately are responsible for many of the large developments taking place in the Washington C. H. area.

As partners in the Gale L. Helms and Associates Inc., they have provided the brain power and advice for complete surveying services behind such noted projects as the newly-constructed Kroger-Super X complex, K-Mart, Blue Drummer restaurant, Lawson's and HFC nursing home projects, not to mention several area housing developments including Belle-Aire South Subdivision and Wagon Wheel Estates in Washington C. H., Culpepper in Union Township, Woodsview in Jeffersonville, Flakes Ford Estates in Wayne Township and Westland and Southland Estates in New Holland.

"THERE ARE some projects already built, others under construction and many still in the planning stages," said Helms, who founded the corporation in 1966.

The Gale L. Helms and Associates, Inc., firm serves as a consulting engineering and surveying firm for between 100 and 150 projects per year. This total may include two or three large operations such as a new subdivision which will take possibly the whole year or longer to complete.

Because of the rapid growth of the corporation, the two men found it necessary to construct their own facility, rather than sharing various offices with the Weade-Miller Realty, E. Court Street.

The firm is now located at 222 N. Oakland Ave. in a 2,176 square foot brick office building, constructed by the Ware Construction Co. Included in the structure are three offices, a conference room for conferring with clients, reception area, a large drafting room, a blueprint and several work area, blueprint storage space and a staff lounge.

The present corporation employs a staff of 10, including accounting and clerical personnel. Helms is a licensed surveyor and Conley is a licensed professional engineer. Rounding out the firm's technical staff are Ronald L. Linton, a licensed surveyor, and William T. Temple, an Ohio State University graduate engineer-in-training.

FIRM'S PARTNERS — Gale L. Helms, left, and Donald Conley study a sketch in their new quarters on Oakland Avenue. The two men are largely responsible for a number of the large developments and construction projects in the Washington C.H. area.

Although engineers and surveyors are a necessary first step in any construction project, they are generally completely neglected for public recognition.

To point out the importance of surveyors, Helms and Conley have worked continuously with the attorneys, buyers, sellers, contractors and city since the conception of the Kroger project.

They provided the thought processes in the original work to obtain the site, worked with the title research, boundaries, negotiations and designing of the routes for roadway, water and sewer lines, building location and foundation in conjunction with the general contractor.

Other civil engineering projects the company has or is presently providing design services for are the designing of 3,600 feet of highway and a 156-foot span bridge over Rocky Fork Creek in Highland County, en eight-mile farm drainage improvement in Fayette and Greene counties (Grassy Branch ditch project) and complete central sewer and water facilities for several housing developments within the state.

A multi-million dollar housing development in Xenia designed by the local firm was spared by the April tornado that devastated much of the city, Conley said.

Both men noted the need for more trained technicians in the field of engineering and surveying. "We are in a technical field and with the electronic measuring equipment and precision instruments utilized in the firm, it is necessary to have some technical training," Helms said.

ALL TECHNICAL employes within their company have had some post-high school training and two were recently sent to receive additional training at the University of Kentucky, Conley added.

While most cities have been expanding their realms on the outskirts through suburbs, Helms and Conley have taken it on themselves to do what many would term the impossible — creating their own "model city."

The dream project, already in the two year's making, is the brainchild of the two men. They are predicting their model city will probably require 20 years to devise and complete. Included in their sketchy plans at present are 1,100 lots, schools, parks, shopping center, sewage plant, two creeks and four sewer lines in their own designs.

NEW LOCATION — Because of rapid growth of the Gale L. Helms and Associates, Inc., firm, a new facility has been constructed at 222 N. Oakland Avenue. The engineering and surveying firm previously shared various offices with Weade-Miller Realty on E. Court Street.

However, their's is not a new idea. There are now several completely new cities in existence in the United States today. But, Conley said the important thing is to devise one so it will succeed. An entirely new city in New York is experiencing financial problems and may be on the brink of collapsing, he added.

Their model city is proposed to be located in Warren County near the industrial centers of Middletown, Cincinnati and Dayton, and would cost an estimated $50 million to complete!

Helms graduated from Cincinnati Walnut Hills High School and attended the University of Cincinnati. He is a member of the South Side Church of Christ and is a past master of Fayette Lodge No. 107 F. & A.M.

He presently serves as executive vice president of the Professional Land Surveyors of Ohio and is a member of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and Surveyors and American Congress on Surveying and Mapping.

Helms was employed by the Fayette County engineer from 1958 until 1966 and Ayers and Graf, Consulting Engineers and Surveyors, Cincinnati, from 1951 to 1958. He and his wife, Bea, reside at 630 Hess Road.

Conley graduated from Madison Mills High School in 1958 and received a bachelor of civil engineering degree from Ohio State University in 1964. He and his wife, Sheila, have two children, Jeffery and Kimberly, and are also members of South Side Church of Christ where Conley serves as a deacon.

HE IS past president of the Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers, a member of Consulting Engineers of Ohio and serves as technical advisor to the city of Washington Planning Commission.

Conley was employed by M. M. Schirtzinger and Associates from 1969 to 1972, where his assignments included the design of the sewage collection and treatment system recently constructed in Jeffersonville.

Prior to 1969, he served as deputy Fayette County engineer (1966-1969) and was employed by the state of California from 1964-1966. He and his family reside at 6 Willis Court.

Store launches winter precedent

"Because of necessity, many people are going coatless this winter," said Wayne Anderson, manager of the local Buckeye Mart in Washington Square Shopping Center.

But Mary Lou Cooper, 5, and Larry Cooper, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooper, 715 S. Main St., are now bundled and prepared to meet any future freezing weather in their new coats, donated by the store to launch a week of winter coat promotion.

The early Christmas gifts to the Cooper children started a precedent in the Fayette County area by the Buckeye Mart management as a charity move to combat inflationary costs being experienced by consumers.

THIS MONDAY through Saturday, anyone may bring in a useable coat and trade it in for $5 off the purchase of a new coat, Anderson said.

The old coats will then be donated to the Church Women United organization for cleaning, repairing and distributing to needy families within the county, said Mrs. Eli Craig, spokesman for the group.

The local group sponsors about 135 familes in Fayette County per year in which they "try to give all the children something new at school time and Christmas time."

All the churches in the county are included in the organization, Mrs. Craig added. It is funded by membership dues and contributions, including funds from the Eyman Fund, a trust which stated that no children in Fayette County would go without shoes.

Mrs. Craig said the Buckeye Mart promotion was the first of its kind in the area. "It is a very good gesture what with clothing as high as it is — it's just so hard to keep up with the prices," she added.

Anderson said the store is planning to make the donations to charity an annual event depending on the success of this year's venture. The store is open from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily and Sunday 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Gun show attracts 164 exhibitors

Despite wintry weather conditions, a total of 164 exhibitors attended the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association's indoor show Saturday and Sunday on the Fayette County Fairground.

Kenneth Craig, association president, said three of the 164 exhibitors established their displays near the front of the Mahan Building while the others were inside the Mahan and Fine Arts buildings and the enclosed breezeway between the two buildings. The three "eskimos" who set up outside were exhibiting fruits and miscellaneous items.

Considering weather conditions, nearly all the convenient parking spaces on the Fairground were filled for both days of the winter show.

There was no competition at the weekend show. No competition will be held until April. The next indoor winter show will be held Jan. 11-12.

On Sunday afternoon, all officers and members of the board of directors were re-elected.

Craig was re-elected president; Homer Wilson, vice president; Coyt A. Stookey, executive secretary, and Mrs. Nancy Stookey, assistant secretary. Board members re-elected were Harry Rife, Robert Case, J.W. (Bootts) Sears, Ottice Stookey, Ervin Ritter and Van L. Matlack.

Poll shows Ford ahead

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll says that if the presidential election were held now, President Ford would win over three leading Democrats.

Ford would receive 48 per cent of the vote to 45 per cent for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and 7 per cent undecided, the poll showed.

Gallup said that if Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was the candidate, Ford would get 47 per cent to Jackson's 42 per cent, with 11 per cent undecided.

The poll showed that Ford would receive a clear majority only in a race with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who would get 39 per cent to Ford's 53 per cent and 8 per cent undecided.

The survey of 1,557 adults in 300 localities took place Nov. 8-11.

Knowles could be 'most heinous murderer'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A lanky, red-haired Florida parolee, already charged with six murders, may be questioned by authorities elsewhere about murders that occurred during the two-month period in which he may have visited 37 or more states. Paul John Knowles, 28, was arrested near McDonough, Ga. on Nov. 17 after allegedly abudcting a Florida state trooper and a Delaware businessman in Florida. Their bodies were found four days later in south Georgia and he was charged with their murders.

Knowles has also been charged with four other murders and is wanted for questioning in at least 11 more slayings or disappearances in Connecticut, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico.

All that led Ellis Rubin of Miami, a lawyer involved in one aspect of Knowles' case, to tell reporters last week:

"There are many, many more murders that will be disclosed, making Mr. Knowles the most heinous murderer in history —if he is convicted."

Rubin represents another lawyer to whom Knowles turned over tape recordings last October. Rubin is trying to get a federal appeals court to keep the tapes from being used as evidence against Knowles.

Rubin said his "observation" about Knowles was based on information given to him by a federal judge about the "incrimination nature" of the recordings, which Knowles reportedly has boasted could make him as famous as "Bonnie and Clyde."

In addition to the murder charges stemming from the kidnaping, Knowles also has been charged with two other slayings in Georgia and with the death of a Florida housewife in August and the slaying of an Ohio Power Co. official in Ohio on Sept. 3.

He is wanted for questioning in the Nov. 7 slayings of a Jonesboro, Ga., high school band director and a young girl; the death of a Jacksonville, Fla., woman whose automobile turned up in Lima, Ohio; the slaying of a hitchhiker near Macon, Ga., on Nov. 15 and the disappearance of his traveling companion, and in deaths in Connecticut, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico.

Georgia Bureau of Investigation Inspector Ron Angel said the state agency is preparing a complete file on Knowles to send to police in areas where he is known to have been.

Authorities say it is the Ohio murder that has produced the evidence on Knowles' nationwide travels. Detective James Ketcham of the Allen County, Ohio, Sheriff's Department, said there is evidence that Knowles drove through 37 states from Sept. 4 until his capture, using credit cards and the car that belonged to the victim, William Bates.

Ketcham says a handwriting comparison indicates that Knowles signed Bates' name to charge gasoline and food in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Alabama and Missouri.

He said receipts also turned up from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Maryland.

Georgia authorities acknowledge they have been deluged with requests for information about Knowles from other states, but are operating under a gag rule pending Knowles' Georgia trials.

Another key figure in the case is Sheldon Yavitz, Knowles' personal attorney. Yavitz said Knowles gave him the tapes on Oct. 26.

Yavitz initially refused to release them to a federal judge in Macon, Ga. and was jailed on contempt charges.

New snowfall beckons street, road workers

An accumulation of about one-half inch of new snow greeted Fayette County area residents Monday morning and freezing or near-freezing weather is forecast to continue through Tuesday.

The weather conditions pressed street and road crews into operation late Sunday and early Monday.

Workers from the city street department began salt spreading operations on Washington C.H. streets at 2 a.m. Monday. Oliver Flowers, of the city street department, said two men in one truck spread approximately 10 tons of salt over the slippery streets.

Snow and ice removal operations were also handled by workers from the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County and members of the Fayette County Highway Department. The two departments were concentrating heavily on drifted spots on the roadways.

GENE FITZPATRIC, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Transportation garage here, said workmen in 10 trucks began the snow removal tasks at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The Washington C.H. area received .42 of an inch of precipitation in a 48-hour period ending at 7 a.m. Monday, according to Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer.

Stookey said last night's minimum temperature reached a chilly 20 degrees.

Weather permitting, a number of other projects will be handled by the city street department and county road workers.

Installation of sewer lines on E. Market Street, clearing of banks along Paint Creek and other general maintenance chores will be handled by the city crewmen, while the county workers will be repairing bridges on Old Charleston and Parrott-Station roads, and drainage projects in Jefferson and Madison townships.

Dear Folks,

Have you ever thot:

that you use more gas, when energy is so badly needed;

that parking is next to impossible, when it's always handy here;

that your patience gets frazzled, when you can browse and relax with a cup of coffee; and that all that out-of-town buying costs you extra money, when shopping at home can give you the same quality, for less expense and wear and tear.

Held scoreless in final three minutes

Lions fall in overtime, 61-56

BY MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

LONDON — Washington Court House absorbed a heartbreaking 61-56 overtime loss to the Golden Eagles of Madison Plains. The loss sends the Lions overall season mark to 1-3, while their South Central Ohio League card remains 0-1.

While Madison Plains held a decisive advantage in height, the Lions still managed to out-rebound them 40-35. The Lions also led in assists, 13-8 and in turnovers, 16-15. Also, the Lions, who have been trying to limit their fouling habits, out-fouled the Plainsmen, 20-15.

The shooting averages were about even for the two teams. Washington attempted 64 field goals and connected on 24 of them for a 38 per cent average. Madison Plains made 23 of 55 shots for a 42 per cent average.

The facet of the game that decided the contest was the foul shooting. At the charity stripe, Madison collected 16 points while giving up only eight to Court House. The Eagles tried 26 free throws for a 62 per cent average, while the Lions went to the line just 12 times for an average of 67 per cent.

The game began with Lion head coach Gary Shaffer employing a three guard attack that had worked so well the night before at East Clinton. However, the attack did not work quite as well, even though the score was tied 12-12 at the end of the first quarter. Sparkplugs for the teams were the Eagles' Tim Bogenrife and the Lions' Craig Shaffer, who each totalled half of their team's first period points.

During the second period, the Eagles got 18 points, 10 by center Dave Joslin and eight by guard Russ Tope. The Lions received balanced scoring in the second stanza with guard Chuck Byrd and center John Denen handling much of the point-getting. The score at the half was 30-28 in favor of Madison Plains.

After intermission, the Lions came thundering out of the box and thumped 10 unanswered points on the scoreboard to go ahead 38-32. However, the Eagles put together a string of points on their own later in the period as they hung up 11 straight counters, 10 of them scored by Joslin. After that surge, Junior Doug Phillips put on a show of his own and scored seven consecutive points. The result was a slim 47-45 Lion lead going into the final period.

The teams battled furiously throughout the fourth quarter trying to win the game. It finally boiled down to the last 10 seconds of regulation time with Garry Scott at the foul line with the score tied. Scott missed the shot and sent the game into overtime.

During the three minute overtime period, Washington was shut out in the scoring department, while Madison Plains scored five points. The game ended with the score: Madison Plains 61, Washington C. H. 56.

Leading all scorers was Joslin with 27 points, backed up by Tope, who collected 19. Bogenrife chipped in with eight points.

The Lion scoring was paced for the second consecutive night by Phillips, who had 19 to go along with 23 at East Clinton. Complimenting Phillips in the scoring were Byrd and Denen with 11 and 10 tallies, respectively.

Box score

WASHINGTON C. H. (56): Byrd (5-1-11); Denen (4-2-10); Phillips (9-1-19); Upthegrove (1-2-4); Shaffer (4-0-8); Knisley (1-0-2); Vess (0-2-2); Total (24-8-56).

MADISON PLAINS (61): Joslin (8-11-27); Newman (1-1-3); Tope (8-3-19); Smith (1-0-2); Scott (1-0-2); Bogenrife (4-0-8); Total (23-15-61).

The rebounding crew of Washington was again headed up by Phillips, who pulled down 15 missed shots. Denen and Ken Upthegrove backed him up with six rebounds each. The Plains rebounding was handled by Joslin and Bogenrife.

Phillips wound up an outstanding weekend with 42 points and 37 rebounds against Madison Plains and East Clinton.

Washington's next game will be their first home game next Friday night at the WSHS gym. Their opponents will be the Shermans from Unioto for an SCOL game. Starting time for the reserve game will be 6:30 p.m.

Jayvees win over Eagles

Ending their losing streak at three games, the Washington Court House reserves whipped the Madison Plains jayvees by a score of 58-54. The Lions got balanced scoring all around but failed to get anyone in double figures.

The Eagles were the exact opposites in that only five players scored at all, paced by 5-foot-11 sophomore Pete Sullivan, who threw in 30 points. Sixteen of his 30 tallies came in the fourth quarter.

Leading the Lion scoring charge were Mark Heiny with nine, Doug Stewart and Sam McClendon with eight, and Dee Foster and Scott Johnson with seven each.

The win brings their season record to 1-3, the Lions dropped their first three games to Groveport, Circleville, and East Clinton. They meet the Unioto Shermans in a SCOL bout next Friday in the WSHS gymnasium. Washington is 0-1 in the league.

Wolfpack dumps Virginia

"The way the officiating was, I thought we were playing the Russians."

It was obvious that Coach Norm Sloan of North Carolina State was not happy with the referees Saturday night.

But his displeasure was tempered by the pleasure over his team's performance, a rousing 101-72 basketball victory over Virginia.

"I thought Virginia played very aggressively," said the coach of the nation's No. 1-ranked team, who was particularly unhappy about the way the Cavaliers treated David Thompson.

"Even though Thompson is a superstar, he should receive the same type of officiating as other players," snapped Sloan. "Virginia was sacrificing the fouls to keep David down. I was very disturbed about the physical contact and officiating. Thompson was getting held too much. Those guys have been around too long to call it differently. It was different for David than it was for anyone else...."

But apparently the strongarm stuff didn't work too well. Thompson scored 24 points, giving Virginia's less experienced team a basketball lesson.

Elsewhere in college basketball, No. 2 UCLA defeated Oklahoma State 82-51; No. 3 Indiana trounced No. 15 Kentucky 98-74; No. 4 Maryland stopped Long Island University 99-84; Oklahoma upset fifth-ranked South Carolina 90-84; No. 7 Kansas turned back Iowa 89-54; eighth-rated Marquette whipped St. Mary's, Calif., 93-66; No. 9 North Carolina defeated No. 20 Houston 96-87, and No. 10 Southern Cal beat Utah 102-82.

Alabama, the nation's No. 11 team, fought off East Carolina 99-86; No. 13 Notre Dame beat Princeton 80-66, and 19th-rated Michigan edged Tennessee 78-74.

Phil Spence helped Thompson put stress on the Virginia defense, scoring 26 points. Sloan pulled both players with six minutes left in the game and the Wolfpack reserves helped push their score over the century mark. It was the fourth straight victory for North Carolina State and first in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Virginia, 0-1 in the ACC and 2-1 over-all, was led by Wally Walker's 16 points.

UCLA scored its 69th straight home victory as four Bruins scored in double figures. UCLA's Marques Johnson and Jim Spillane led all scorers with 13 points each and the Bruins got 11 points from Dave Meyers and 10 from Wilbert Olinde.

The UCLA victory at Pauley Pavilion extended the longest home-court winning streak in the nation. Long Beach State had its home winning string ended at 77 games earlier last week.

Indiana had a surprisingly easy time of it with Kentucky, crushing the Southeastern Conference team behind Kent Benson's 26 points and Scott May's 25.

Steve Shappard sparked a second-half rally and scored 24 points, leading Maryland over Long Island for the Terps' third straight victory of the season.

Oklahoma upset South Carolina behind Alvan Adams, who scored 20 points and grabbed nine rebounds. After taking a 38-32 halftime lead, the Sooners went ahead by 15 points three times in the second half.

Kansas took control of the backboards and center Danny Knight sank 17 points, leading the Jayhawks' rout of Iowa. Kansas broke fast and built big leads in the first half, virtually putting the game away by intermission.

Bo Ellis and Earl Tatum each scored 17 points and playmaker Lloyd Walton added 16, helping Marquette beat St. Mary's. The Warriors had a 39-31 lead by the half and pulled away to a 58-41 lead in the first six minutes of the second half.

Tigers set for showdown

McClain and Circleville each kept their undefeated marks alive Saturday evening. Greenfield topped East Clinton 62-55 and Circleville downed Teays Valley 57-42.

With the victories, Greenfield is now 4-0 and Circleville is 5-0 for the season. The two teams will face each other on Circleville's court this Friday.

Bill Flynn and Steve Willett led the McClain victory over East Clinton. Flynn tallied 18 points, while Willett added 14.

Circleville out-scored the Vikings 33-17 in the second half to secure its win. Perry Hoskins, George Moore and Biff Bumgarner each tossed in 12 points.

Buckeyes collapse at Davidson, 88-80

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, a flop in its first road show of the basketball season, returns to its friendly St. John Arena confines for four games in an eight-day stretch.

The Buckeyes, socked with their first loss 88-80 at Davidson Saturday night, take on visiting Ohio University Saturday night.

Virginia Tech, Texas-Arlington and Georgia Tech follow the Bobcats into Columbus.

Ohio State, 2-1, blew a 64-49 lead with less than 13 minutes to play at Davidson. The Wildcats, 2-0, resorted to a fullcourt pressing defense to turn the tide.

Ohio State lost four players, including high scorer Bill Andreas with 26 points, via personal fouls. Also fouling out were Larry Bolden, Mark Bayless and Craig Taylor, three other regulars.

A pair of native Ohioans, Greg Dunn and Jay Powell, combined with Larry Horowitz to torpedo the Buckeyes. Horowitz collected 25 points, Dunn 22 and Powell 20.

Meanwhile, two of Ohio's independent powers, Cincinnati and Dayton, had little trouble in stretching their records to 2-1 Saturday night.

Cincinnati's Bearcats cuffed St. Joseph's, Ind., 81-68 behind freshman Steve Collier's 24 points. Dayton blew past Xavier 75-66, with sophomore Johnny Davis' 23 points the big item.

In the Mid-American, preseason title choices Bowling Green and Toledo continued to sharpen their talents on nonconference opposition.

Bowling Green, off to a 3-0 start, beat St. Joseph's, Pa., 86-64, with Steve Cooper, a transfer from Toledo, hitting 17 points. Russell Frost, a senior in his second career start, poured in 21 points in Toledo's 82-63 verdict over Ball State.

Steve Fields missed only one of 11 floor shots, leading Miami past Wright State 85-61. Billy McKinney and Bard Cartwright each hit two free throws in the last eight seconds to give Northwestern a 71-68 triumph over Ohio U. Walter Luckett had 27 points for the Bobcats.

Kent State almost pulled off its first victory in four starts for new Coach Rex Hughes Jr., before falling to touted Bradley (3-0) 77-76.

In the lone Ohio Conference game, Steve Dobbin's free throw in the waning seconds handed Ohio Wesleyan a 36-35 verdict over Ohio Northern.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, Bernard Pope's 24 points propelled Defiance past Taylor 103-86. Findlay nipped Bluffton 70-68 behind Gary Burton's 17 points and 15 by John Simmons.

Elsewhere, it was Heidelberg 86, Wilmington 66; Walsh 55, Denison 52; Otterbein 79, Ohio Dominican 66; Wooster 53, Case Western Reserve 42; Capital 78, Malone 74 OT.

Also, Oberlin 101, CarnegieMellon 60; Wheeling 89, Tiffin 67; Youngstown State 107, Southern California College 66; Central State 80, Tri-State 64; Morehead State 64, Akron 56.

Central Michigan upsets Bulldogs

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Louisiana Tech Coach Maxie Lambright doesn't think the pressure of being No. 1 in the nation had much to do with his team losing for the first time in 24 games, but the pressure applied by the Central Michigan defense did.

Lambright's Bulldogs are tops in The Associated Press College Division poll and came here for a National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II semifinal match with a 23-game winning streak.

But they were handed a 35-15 defeat by fourth-ranked Central Michigan in the Pioneer Bowl Saturday and the setback broke the nation's longest winning string.

"I don't think it was pressure exactly," Lambright said. "It was just a happening. If we knew a remedy for it, we'd bottle it and sell it."

The pressure applied by the Central Michigan defense forced the Bulldogs into seven turnovers, including six interceptions, a Central record. The NCAA College Division playoff record is seven.

"I'm sure the wind (20 miles an hour) must have hurt them," said Central Michigan Coach Roy Kramer. "The wind took away their deep threat and our defense did a good job of undercoverage."

Lambright discounted any talk that the wind aided the Chippewas and heaped all the praise on their linebacking corps which came up with four of the interceptions.

Central quarterback Mike Franckowiak, who ran for one touchdown and passed to split end Matt Means for another, was named the game's most valuable offensive player. But it wasn't the big passer or tailback Walt Hodges, the game's leading rusher with 118 yards and one touchdown, who drew praise for the Chippewas' big offensive showing.

Fullback Dick Dunham, who scored twice for Central Michigan, shared billing with the defense in Kramer's victory speech.

"Dunham became a big factor in the third quarter," Kramer said. "We made them worry about the pass and the outside run early, then we brought Dunham back up the middle."

A big factor in the CMU defense was middle guard Rich Newsome, who was voted the game's most valuable defensive player.

Central Michigan will meet Delaware, 49-11 and winner over Nevada-Las Vegas, for the national championship next Saturday in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

Elsewhere, Central Iowa won the NCAA Division III crown by edging Ithaca 10-8 and Texas Lutheran captured NAIA Division II honors with a 42-0 rout of Missouri Valley.

In NAIA Division I semifinal play, Henderson State of Arkansas downed Elon of North Carolina 21-7 and Texas A&I edged Cameron, Okla. 21-19.

NEED A JOB?

Here are a few tips to use when comparing a civilian job with an Air Force enlistment.

You should receive at least $344.10 starting salary. This sum reflects take home pay after medical insurance is taken out. Also request regular promotions with pay raises for length of employment.

Request 30 days paid vacation per year starting with your first year. You should have low rate or free world travel privileges anytime on vacation.

You must be able to continue your education with the company paying 75 per cent of the cost of learning. If you are selected for college, your tuition should be paid and your normal salary continued.

Ask for $300 worth of clothing and a monthly maintenance allowance, plus rations and housing allowance.

Make sure the company has a swimming pool, tennis courts, golf course, library and movie theater for your use.

Your employer should also provide unlimited sick leave with pay, and don't forget, free dental care for you and free medical care for you and your family.

The company should provide grocery, department, laundry, variety and other stores which reduce your expenses up to 30 per cent.

Secure a job for your future now and leave after the Holidays. Your Air Force Recruiter has all the details.

Kings end streak with 96-92 win

By The Associated Press

"I hate losing streaks," said Kansas City-Omaha Coach Phil Johnson. "We've never lost more than four in a row since I've been here."

Johnson was feeling his oats Sunday after watching his Kings beat Detroit 96-92 to pull within a half-game of the Pistons in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division. It was also the first time the club has won a game in Detroit's Cobo Arena since Dec. 29, 1969. That was 13 games ago.

"We were about due," admitted Johnson. "We hustled and moved well. This was the best we've played defense in quite some time."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Washington defeated Cleveland 88-75, Boston beat New Orleans 111-101, Los Angeles trimmed Phoenix 107-102 and Atlanta downed Seattle 102-95.

San Diego dumped San Antonio 104-92 in the lone American Basketball Association game.

Detroit Coach Ray Scott said his team was worn out from playing four games in five days.

Kansas City-Omaha jumped out to a 25-19 first-quarter lead but it was nip and tuck the rest of the way. Ron Behagen scored what proved to be the winning basket in the final minute.

Jimmy Walker and Nate Archibald scored 18 points apiece to lead the balanced Kings' attack. Bob Lanier had 32 for Detroit, 12 of them in the final period.

Bullets 88, Cavaliers 75

Elvin Hayes pumped in 10 of his 18 points in the third quarter as Washington posted its sixth straight victory. Phil Chenier topped the winners with 24, while Jim Cleamons and Dick Snyder had 14 each for Cleveland.

Celtics 111, Jazz 101

Jo Jo White scored 21 points and John Havlicek and Paul Westphal added 20 apiece for Boston. Jim Barnett netted 29 points for the Jazz, who lost for the 23rd time in 25 outings.

Lakers 107, Suns 102

Lucius Allen tossed in 19 points, had 13 assists and made six steals as Los Angeles rallied from a 10-point third-quarter deficit. Charlie Scott led Phoenix with 28 points.

Hawks 102, Sonics 95

Rookie John Drew scored 27 points for Atlanta and Dwight Jones added 18. Spencer Haywood led Seattle with 18 points.

Conquistadors 104, Spurs 92

Center Caldwell Jones, out six games with a sprained ankle, returned to score 11 points in the final quarter for San Diego. Travis Grant paced the winners with 20 points and George Gervin and Swen Nater had 17 each for San Antonio.

All-Star grid game could be moved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio High School Football All-Star Game will be switched from August to June next year and it may also be moved from Canton.

The board of directors of the sponsoring Ohio High School Football Coaches Association will meet in Columbus Dec. 22 to review the game's future.

Dolphins, Steelers clinch titles

Don Shula kept the faith and Franco Harris accepted the challenge.

So the Miami Dolphins — shooting for their third straight Super Bowl crown — and the Pittsburgh Steelers — longing for their first one — each won division championships in the National Football League Sunday.

And the Detroit Lions didn't fold, so two of the four National Conference representatives for the playoffs two weeks hence are still undecided — with four teams still in the running as the NFL heads into the final week of regular-season play.

"It's been a strange year," said Dolphin Coach Shula after Miami edged Baltimore 17-16 to win its fourth straight American Conference East title. "At one time we were in third place in our own division but I never doubted we'd win it. I've always kept the faith."

Franco Harris ground out 136 yards against New England as the Steelers won 21-17 and captured the AFC Central crown. "I expected it would be a real grind-out game," said Harris. "It was a real challenge."

Detroit, meanwhile, beat Cincinnati 23-19, winning in the final 29 seconds, and this is how the playoff picture stands:

American Conference
Buffalo at Pittsburgh.
Miami at Oakland.
National Conference
St. Louis or Washington at Minnesota.
St. Louis or Washington or Dallas or Detroit at Los Angeles.

The Cardinals are in the playoffs, regardless of what the other three teams do. Tonight's nationally televised game — Washington at Los Angeles — could clear up the NFC situation.

A Washington victory eliminates both Detroit and Dallas and the Redskins and Cardinals could do that old vaudeville routine, with a slightly new twist — "Who's on first, what's on second and who cares about third."

St. Louis needs either a victory or a Washington loss to win the NFC East title and a trip to Minnesota on Dec. 21. Otherwise, the Cardinals go to Los Angeles. Washington has to lose both of its remaining games and Dallas must beat Oakland next Saturday to get the NFC wild-card. Detroit needs a victory over Philadelphia plus losses by both Washington and Dallas for a chance.

Two playoff-bound teams lost Sunday. The New York Jets, with Joe Namath making what may be his last home appearance, upset Buffalo 20-10 and the New Orleans Saints shocked the Cardinals 14-0.

Elsewhere Sunday, it was Oakland 7, Kansas City 6; Denver 37, Houston 14; San Diego 28, Chicago 21; San Francisco 7, Green Bay 6; and Philadelphia 20, New York Giants 10.

On Saturday, Dallas beat Cleveland 41-17 to keep its playoff hopes flickering and Minnesota whipped Atlanta 23-10.

Dolphins 17, Colts 16

Bob Griese passed four yards to Howard Twilley and Larry Csonka scored on a one-yard run to give the Dolphins a 14-0 lead. Garo Yepremian tacked on a field goal which proved the difference as Baltimore got three field goals from Toni Linhart and a two-yard, fourthquarter scoring pass from Bert Jones to Bill Olds.

Steelers 21, Patriots 17

"The yardage really surprises me, I can't believe I got that much," said Harris of the 29 carries that netted him 136 yards and a TD for the Steelers.

Pittsburgh's clinching score, however, was a seven-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Lynn Swann in the third period.

Lions 23, Bengals 19

"It only was supposed to be a short gainer," said Detroit's Ron Jessie of the 45-yard Greg Landry pass he caught to set up the Lions' winning touchdown. The play carried to the Cincinnati eight, from where Landry threw the game-winner to Charlie Sanders.

Jets 20, Bills 10

The Jets won their fifth in a row by beating the Bills. Playing on a muddy and sloppy field, New York went ahead in the fourth quarter on a 36-yard pass from Namath to Jerome Barkum. Linebacker Ralph Baker clinched it with a 67-yard scoring run with a stolen Buffalo pass.

Saints 14, Cardinals 0

All New Orleans needed to beat the Cardinals was a 67-yard gallop in the first quarter by rookie Alvin Maxson. But Paul Seal, also a rookie, added an insurance TD for the Saints in the final period on a seven-yard end-around play.

Raiders 7, Chiefs 6

Ageless George Blanda kicked the extra point that gave Oakland its victory over the Chiefs. Another Oakland veteran, quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who had played in only one previous series all season, got the Raiders a touchdown on a 10-yard pass to Cliff Branch.

Broncos 37, Oilers 14

Otis Armstrong scored three touchdowns and gained 183 yards for Denver, widening his lead among NFL rushers. Armstrong now has 1,265 yards this year and has surpassed the Bronco season rushing record of 1,133 yards set when Floyd Little won the NFL crown in 1971. Armstrong also eclipsed Little's single-game mark of 166 yards.

49ers 7, Packers 6

Rookie running back Del Williams scored a touchdown with 9:22 left and Bruce Gossett's extra-point kick gave the 49ers their victory.

Chargers 28, Bears 21

Bo Matthews' one-yard TD run won for San Diego. Rookie quarterback Jesse Freitas' passes to Harrison Davis, also a rookie, helped the Chargers score twice in the final period.

Eagles 20, Giants 7

Rookie Mike Broyla passed to Charles Young for one touchdown and Tom Sullivan scored twice on short runs for the Eagles.

Miami's Crum picked Ohio's top coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Dick Crum, whose Miami of Ohio team holds the nation's second longest unbeaten string of 22 games, is the 1974 Ohio College Football Coach of the Year.

The 40-year-old Crum was selected for the honors in the Columbus Dispatch's 23rd annual poll of the state's 32 college football coaches. He will receive the award during the Dispatch All—High Major Sports Banquet next March.

Crum, who guided Miami to its second straight Mid—American Conference football championship this season, edged Ray Dempsey of Youngstown State, an NCAA Division II playoff semifinalist, in the balloting.

Dave Maurer, whose Wittenberg Tigers won their second Ohio Conference title in a row, was the third choice of the coaches.

It was the first time any university had won the honor two straight years. The 1973 coach of the year was Bill Mallory, who left Miami to become head coach at the University of Colorado.

Crum, defensive backfield coach under Mallory for five years, was the only member of Mallory's staff who did not accompany him to Colorado.

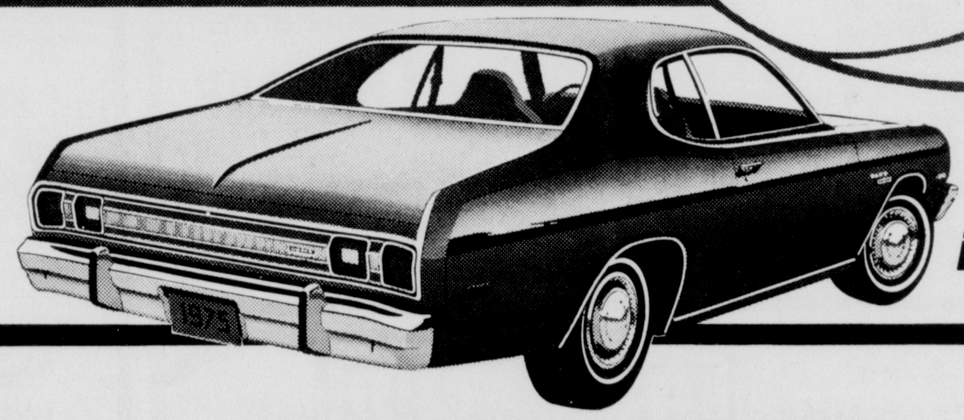

He rebuilt the Miami coaching staff and squad and led the Redskins to a 9-0-1 season, the conference title and a second straight Tangerine Bowl appearance.

The Redskins will meet Georgia in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 21. Last year, Miami beat Florida in the bowl, played at Gainesville, Fla.

EACH YEAR during the holiday season thousands of people have toured our old store recalling the nostalgia and warmth of Christmases years ago. We wish to inform the public that we have moved our store from 117 N. Main Street to THE HISTORIC MAIN STREET MARKET at the end of old South Main Street. Here you may browse through room after room of thousands of oldtime, made-with-care and pride, country store products. Pottery, earthenware, jewelry, china, sweet tooth candies, and lollypops, "Ribtickling" jokes, hand-dipped candles-rings-and things, rich fragrant soaps, stocking "stuffins," rafters of Early American woodenware and hand forged iron accessories, very new and very old beautiful furniture, famous wood and brass cleaners and finishers, authentic furniture hardware, 1975 calendar towels in scenes of Currier and Ives, beautiful old fashioned children's wheeled toys and Bisque dolls, handcrafted colonial pattern glassware and lamps, plus one of the largest selections to be found of restoration glass lamp shades, fabric shades, chimneys, plus electric and oil converters and any replacement parts for both antique and modern lamps. (Bring your lamps along for fitting . . . a perfect gift idea, too.)

If you have never been here before, we suggest you plan your visit this week, before the Christmas rush begins. Weekdays are best. Plan on two hours - you can rest your weary feet on our potbelly stove. We hope those of you and your families who have enjoyed our old store, find our "New" Old store the same pleasant, comfortable, friendly, experience of a bygone day. The seasons best to you and yours from all of the store-keepers here at THE GENERAL STORE in THE HISTORIC MAIN STREET MARKET, Near the crossroads of Marysville, Ohio at 335 Old Main Street, South, (Look for our two huge rain barrels). Holiday hours: 9:00 to 9:00 weekdays, Sundays 1:00 to 8:00. Easy Old time, no interest payment plans, even use your modern charge cards. We also wholesale to other peddlers, dealers, and flea marketeers who have a vendors license. Discounts to employers and organizations buying quantities of merchandise. See you soon? It's easy to get here on St. Rt. 38, 24 miles N. of London, Ohio. Two fine restaurants within two blocks of Market. (513) 642-6901.

12 persons die in weekend auto crashes

By The Associated Press

A dozen persons died in a dozen separate traffic accidents across Ohio this weekend, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

Three of the dead were pedestrians, killed in accidents in Clermont County, Euclid and Warren County.

The weekend count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

DOVER — Edna Haas, 52, Dover, when the car in which she was riding collided with another in Dover.

SATURDAY

MINGO JUNCTION — Joesph Weigand, 24, Follansbee, W. Va., in a one car accident in Mingo Junction.

NEWARK — Thomas Sanders, 34, Columbus, in a one-car accident on a Licking County road.

MASSILLON — Larry Ickes, 19, Tuscarawas, in a head-on collision with a truck on Ohio 21 south of Massillon.

BATAVIA — Mastin Wright, 52, Williamsburg, hit by an auto along U. S. 50 in Clermont County.

TOLEDO — Marty Marshall, 23, Toledo, in a one-car accident on a Toledo city street.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS,
FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269
LEGAL NOTICE

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

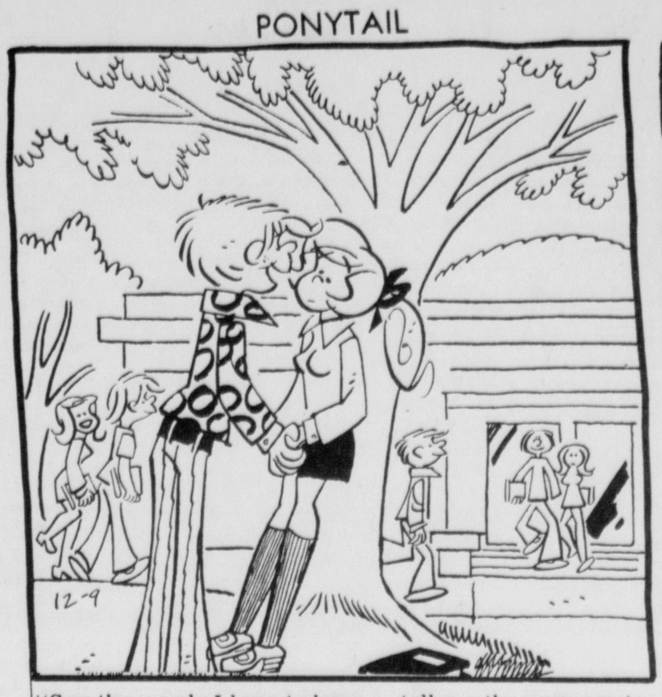

Situafe in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simerl (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Pass	4 ♥	Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead - four of clubs.

The United States played Japan for the very first time in the 1972 World Bridge Olympiad and had much the best of the exchange. This deal contributed greatly to the outcome.

At the first table, with Hamman and Soloway North-South for the U.S., the bidding went in the manner shown. The one club bid was artificial, showing at least 17 points, and the heart response was also artificial, showing at least 6 points.

One notrump indicated a balanced hand with 18 to 20 points, and two clubs was Stayman, asking for a major suit. Two spades was natural and four hearts showed good spade support with a singleton heart! The K-J-7 of hearts lost part of their glamour when they were known to be facing a singleton, so South signed off with four spades.

As it happened, Soloway made six with an assist from the defense and the U.S. scored 480 points.

When Hatoyama and Kimijima were North-South, they got to six on this sequence:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	6 ♠

Had Wolff led a heart, the slam undoubtedly would have been made, but he was sufficiently inspired to lead a diamond. Declarer won with the ace, cashed three spades and five clubs, discarding his diamond loser, and played the singleton heart from dummy.

Jacoby smoothly followed low, and Kimijima was faced with the moment of truth. Unfortunately, he played the jack rather than the king, hoping to find East with the queen instead of the ace, and as a result the slam went down one. Had Kimijima guessed right, he would have scored plus 980 instead of minus 50.

Frostbite: Prevention Best

I had a bad case of frostbite last year. Even though I completely recovered I worry that there is something wrong with my circulation that will make this happen again.

Mr. J.D., Minn.

Dear Mr. D.:

It is undoubtedly true that people with poor circulation are more susceptible to low temperatures. But even those with good circulation, when exposed to freezing levels, can be hit with frostbite.

Frostbite is an injury to the delicate, exposed tissues of the body. It is imperative for those people living, working or playing in cold climate to recognize the earliest symptoms of frostbite.

A sensation of pins and needles, numbness, and a distinct pallor can be the beginning of frostbite.

The tips of the fingers, the earlobes, the nose and the cheeks, as well as the toes, are most apt to be stricken first.

When frostbite is suspected, the person should be brought into a warm room, to allow gentle thawing. The frostbitten area should be immersed in tepid (not hot) water.

Frostbitten parts should not be massaged or rubbed too vigorously, because the delicate skin may be broken and exposed to infection.

The frostbitten leg or arm loses its sensitivity. Extreme heat, therefore, may not be felt and more damage may be done by burning the area.

Prevention of frostbite is the best "treatment." Warm clothing, preferably in several layers that do not tightly bind the body, warm, dry insulated gloves and socks, and waterproof shoes should all be part of the protective "treatment."

All clothing and shoes should be loose enough so that they do not constrict the blood vessels.

Last year, a patient of mine was caught in a snowstorm and walked a short distance to a garage. He developed frostbite in that short time and was incapacitated for months.

A precaution against such an experience would be to carry warm, waterproof overshoes and an extra supply of warm clothing and warm gloves in the trunk of the car.

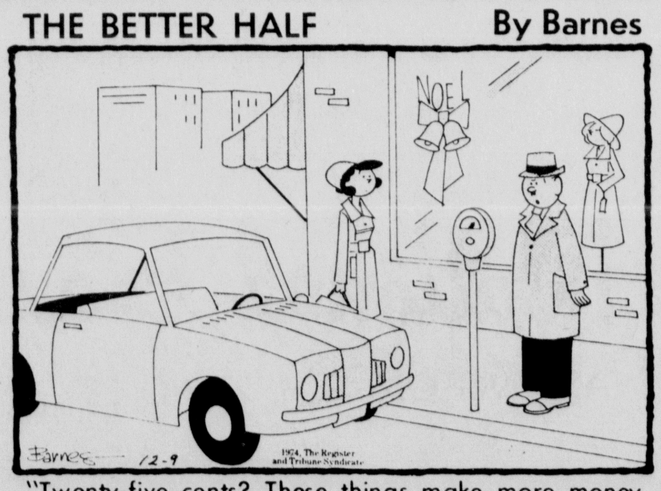

In your specific case it would be wise to have your blood circulation checked to see if there is any problem that requires special attention. In any case, having been "bitten" once, you should be more aware of the importance of good protection against the cold.

Police charge driver with three offenses

A Washington C.H. man was cited for three traffic violations by Washington C.H. police Saturday, when the car he was driving became responsible for damage incurred by two other autos. Police reported six other accidents over the weekend and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported two.

POLICE

SATURDAY, 4:25 p.m. — A car driven by Charles L. Smith, 34, of 220 Walnut St., pulled from a parking space on Rose Avenue near the Pearl Street intersection and struck a car owned by James E. Johnson of Bloomingburg (which was parked in front of Smith's car), causing the Johnson auto to leap ahead and bang into a car in front of it belonging to Chester Estep of 902 Pearl St.

Smith's car then veered off the left side of the street and into a snowbank, where it became stuck. Smith left the vehicle on foot, but was later located and charged by police with no operator's license, driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident. He is presently out of jail on $710 bond.

8:15 p.m. — A car driven by Terry L. Adams, 20, of 1025 Dayton Ave., struck the rear of a car driven by Margaret A. Elzey, 32, of New Holland, at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets.

Damage was moderate to the Elzey car and slight to the Adams auto. Neither driver was injured.

4:19 p.m. — A 1970 Mercury driven by Donna Hilderbrand, 42, of 277 Rowe-Ging Rd. had its right front wheel torn off when it struck a hole dug by Dayton Power and Light on Clinton Avenue near the Leesburg Avenue intersection.

Police stated the hole measured three feet by five feet and was seven inches deep, but did not say what it had been dug for.

3:50 p.m. — Cars driven by Jeffrey L. Jacobs, 22, of 326 Lewis St. and Vincent L. Christman, 20, of Hillsboro, struck each other in Hidy Foods parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

3 p.m. — An accident involving cars driven by Catherine L. Whiteside, 57, Mount Sterling and Robert A. Garrison, 41, of Bloomingburg, occurred in the Washington Square Plaza parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

Damage was minor to both autos and neither driver was injured.

12:03 p.m. — A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Rickie E. Jester, 27, of 619 Broadway and Danna G. Holder, 24, of 2614 Staunton-Sugar Grove Rd., occurred at the intersection of Court and North streets.

Holder was cited for failure to maintain as assured clear distance ahead.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 8:14 p.m. — Minor damage was incurred by cars driven by James W. Glass Jr., 17, Jeffersonville and John H. Grooms, 35, Milledgeville, when they collided at the intersection of S. Main and High streets in the Village of Jeffersonville.

FRIDAY, 10:12 a.m. — Cars driven by Flora J. Penwell, 44, Jamison Road and Francis S. Cupp, 59, U.S. 22, were involved in an accident on Jamison Road, one-tenths mile north of the CCC-Highway intersection.

Neither driver was injured.

Arrests

SHERIFF

SATURDAY — James D. Tranner, 18, of 702 Rose Ave., speeding.

POLICE

SATURDAY — Lige D. Browning, 30, of 1510 N. North St., disorderly conduct by intoxication.

PATROL

For speeding:

SUNDAY — Scott G. Campbell, 19, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Jerry P. Hagy, 30, Inman, S.C.

SATURDAY — Charles M. Judd, 58, Cincinnati; Clyde T. Marshall, 28, Greenwood, S.C.; Joseph Scafidi, 29, Willowick; Frank T. Gursky, 26, Columbus; Michael L. Kinnett, 27, Batavia.

Algernan Allen, 64, Jamestown, driving while under the influence of alcohol or other drugs of abuse.

FRIDAY — Pearl E. Murray, 34, Columbus.

FRIDAY — William D. Garringer, 40, Leesburg, starting without safety.

4 women break jail

LOWELL, Fla. (AP) — A statewide search was under way today for four women armed with knives who took a switchboard operator hostage and escaped in a prison van from the Florida Correctional Institution.

Prison officials said the women gained access to the control room in the administration building Sunday night, where they took Elizabeth Peeler, 54, hostage.

Two of the escapees were serving life terms at the prison for first degree murder and additional time for previous prison escapes, officials said.

Two vandalism incidents probed

Two incidents of malicious vandalism and a larceny were reported by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department are presently investigating a stolen Citizen's Band radio and a stolen license plate.

The glass on the front of the candy vending machine at Sunshine Laundry, 122 East St., was shattered by vandals sometime Sunday, in an attempt to steal some of the candy.

Police said apparently a pop bottle was the instrument used to break the glass valued at $15.

A car belonging to Robert Haines, which had been parked in front of his 914 Rawlings St. residence, was damaged when shot in the left rear door window with a BB gun.

Police said the incident occurred sometime between Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 4:49 a.m. and estimated the damage at $35.

A purse belonging to Pam Cox, Greenfield, was lost then found on the Buckeye Mart parking lot on Columbus Avenue between 5 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Unfortunately, the $55 in cash the purse had contained, was not found with it.

A citizen's band radio (serial number C-27674) belonging to James M. Poteet, Oakland City, Ind., was stolen from the cab of his semi truck sometime between 6:15 p.m. and 7:10 p.m. Sunday, while the truck was parked at Garner's Truck Stop, I-71 and U.S. 35.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the cab had been locked and valued the radio at $207.95.

An Ohio license plate (number 4795-KP) was removed from a car belonging to Ralph D. Blake, Prairie Road, while it was parked at the Sohio Truck Stop, I-71 and U.S. 35, sometime between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Foreign aid bill tangled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid program is headed for a Senate-House tangle over aid to Turkey in the face of a move in the House to shut off that aid immediately.

House Republicans planned to caucus on the troubled bill today. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was to go before the House Foreign Affairs Committee later today to appeal for approval of the aid program.

House rejection of the $2.6 billion foreign aid bill would not kill the program. It could still be funded under a stop-gap continuing resolution to leave its fate up to the new Congress convening in January.

But Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., a leader of the move to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey, effective Tuesday, vowed to try to place a cutoff clause in any such continuing resolution.

The Senate voted last week to delay the Turkish aid cutoff until Feb. 14. But Rosenthal said he will oppose delay unless Kissinger can assure that progress is being made in negotiations to get Turkey's occupation forces out of Cyprus.

"Unless some significant event takes place, there's no basis for compromise," Rosenthal said in a telephone interview from the Democratic mini-convention at Kansas City.

Drug probe hits Playboy

CHICAGO (AP) — The former head of security for Playboy Enterprises said he testified three months ago to a federal grand jury about drug use at the mansions of Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner in Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif.

In a telephone interview, Allen H. Crawford said Sunday that he resigned his post last July because Playboy officials ignored his warnings about "the narcotics problem and people of questionable character that might be associated with Playboy."

Seven Playboy employes reportedly have been subpoenaed to appear this week before a grand jury in Chicago in connection with a federal investigation by the Drug Enforcement Administration into drug use inside Hefner's enclaves.

The investigation was disclosed after the recent federal conviction of Hefner's social secretary, Bobbie Arnstein, for conspiring with a boyfriend and another man to distribute cocaine.

Miss Arnstein's arrest last March reportedly sparked an order by Hefner, who was in Las Vegas at the time, to remove all drugs from both mansions, officials said.

Crawford said from his home in Mendham, N.J., that he learned of the problem about 2½ years ago when he became head of security.

"I certainly had knowledge that there were people that were using drugs, but not on the basis that this was a place of distribution or anything else," said Crawford, vice president in charge of investigations for Wells Fargo Investigative Services, Inc., in Randolph, N.J.

"Hefner is a very congenial host and has the Playboy philosophy that people are adult and make their own decisions," he added. But that "doesn't mean Hefner has knowledge of it, or condones it, or distributes."

Crawford said he never discussed the alleged drug use with Hefner, but he added that he submitted reports for Hefner's attention.

Kuznetsev succumbs

MOSCOW (AP) — Vice Adm. Nikolai G. Kuznetsov, commander of Soviet naval forces during World War II, has died at the age of 72, it was reported Sunday. Demoted twice by dictator Josef Stalin, he was reinstated in 1950 and was navy commander until retirement in 1956.

Damage estimate $400 from plant sprinkler system

Nearly 100,000 gallons of water was sprayed from the sprinkler system at the Cor Tec, Inc., Plant, Kenskill Avenue in the city's Industrial Park, sometime between 2 a.m. and noon Sunday, Washington C. H. firemen reported today.

An investigation conducted by the Washington C. H. Fire Department points toward a 55-gallon drum of chemical resin which heated up during the morning hours and triggered the sprinkler system. Although a water gong was ringing outside the building while the sprinkler system was spraying, the incident was not discovered until noon when assistant plant manager Ron Hoxie went to his office to pick up his calculator, opened the door and found himself standing in water three inches deep.

Damage was estimated at $400 and the water is presently being pumped out.

FAIRGROUND PARKING LAND — Fayette County Board of Commissioners chairman J. Herbert Perrill (seated center) presents check for purchase of 10 acres for additional fairground parking facilities to Fayette County Agricultural Society president Eddie Kirk. Looking on are (seated) commissioners Robert J. Mace and Ray Warner and (standing in rear) Agricultural Society vice president Frank Weade and secretary George Finley.

Commission completes land purchase plans

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Members of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and Fayette County Agricultural Society finalized plans Monday to purchase 10 acres of land adjoining the fairgrounds for much-needed, additional parking facilities.

The commissioners will purchase two, five-acre tracts from the Edith Scott estate and the Bumgardner property, which are centered immediately west of the Fairgrounds, at a cost of $50,000 through the federal revenue sharing trust fund available to the commissioners.

THE LAND will be leased to the Fayette County Agricultural Society for a small consideration in lieu of the $3,000 annual subsidy paid to the Fayette County Fair Board by the commissioners through the federal revenue sharing fund.

According to the terms of the lease, which were agreed upon by the commissioners and fair board officers Monday with the legalities to be administered by James A. Kiger, county prosecuting attorney, the title of the property shall revert to the Fayette County Agricultural Society upon expiration of the lease (20 years) and should the land be used for anything other than parking area, the alterations must first be approved by the Fayette County Commissioners.

"Some years ago, the Fayette County Agricultural Society realized the need for additional parking space," said commissioners chairman J. Herbert Perrill. "They had to make arrangements through the years by renting from owners of adjacent properties but we have reason to believe this could not be continued."

The commissioners noted that the purchase was being totally financed through the revenue sharing funds and would not involve any expenditures from local tax monies.

Commissioner Ray Warner said, "This may be the only opportunity we might have to acquire additional parking facilities. If the fair is to continue, we must provide adequate parking space."

THE COMMISSIONERS and members of the Fayette County Agricultural Society were told there should be no difficulties in acquiring adequate drainage for the proposed parking area by Fayette County engineer Charles P. Wagner.

Wagner said the U.S. 35 bypass construction had previously made drainage arrangements within the area so only small improvements would be necessary, such as removal of trees and enlargement of a tile ditch, to provide adequate drainage.

Other business to be conducted by the commissioners were appointments with Mrs. Frank Weade of the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation in reference to the operation of the Fayette Progressive School and M.M. Schirtzinger, engineer in charge of the Rattlesnake sewer project, concerning expansion of facilities.

A first hearing of the Compton Creek petition was also slated to be heard by the commissioners Monday at 1:30 p.m.

Public, private meets set

Strict fuel-saving proposals expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public hearings are going to provide a forum for business and consumer groups to give their ideas on U.S. energy policy as President Ford's advisers prepared to huddle at Camp David to weigh some strict fuel-saving proposals.

Dozens of witnesses at the three-day hearings beginning today were scheduled to comment on the "Project Independence" study submitted last month by the Federal Energy Administration and to discuss the complex issues involved with energy policies.

Consumer concerns and business concerns were the topics at today's hearings.

The hearings precede a policy session of the cabinet-level Energy Resources Council, whose 20 members are to bring their recommendations to President Ford in time for presentation to Congress in January.

The ERC has scheduled a meeting this Saturday at Camp David, a top-security presidential retreat in the wooded Catoctin Mountains some 90 minutes' drive from downtown Washington.

There have been increasing indications lately that the top energy and economic officials invited to Camp David may be cooking up the "tough turkey" that President Ford has warned about: some form of mandatory measures to reduce energy consumption.

Ford has established a goal of cutting oil imports one million barrels a day by the end of 1975.

He hoped to accomplish this with voluntary public cooperation, warning that tougher measures were the alternative.

The White House now has begun admitting that voluntary fuel-saving has not been working very well.

John C. Sawhill, the departing head of the Federal Energy Administrator, has been saying for weeks that voluntary efforts would not work. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, who takes credit for ousting Sawhill, has recently begun to agree with him.

Sawhill and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon have long urged consideration of a higher gasoline tax to discourage consumption. Ford has said publicly he opposes such a step.

Morton has also suggested other possibilities such as a return of tight fuel allocations similar to those of last winter.

Other possibilities being mentioned include a quota on the amount or value of oil imports, taxes on crude oil or automobile horsepower and direct gasoline rationing.

Republic planned

Greeks decisively reject monarchy

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greeks by a vote of more than two to one have rejected the monarchy for the third time in this century, and the government announced today that parliament will probably elect a provisional president this week.

The final official count from Sunday's plebiscite was 3,236.345, or 69.2 per cent, in favor of a republic and 1,443,804 votes, or 30.8 per cent, for the return of the monarchy. Twenty-five per cent of the eligible voters did not vote.

The leading candidate for the provisional presidency, a largely figurehead post, is former premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos, 72.

He will be replaced in a national election. But before that is held Premier Constantine Caramanlis will submit a new constitution or constitutional amendments to parliament defining the presidential powers.

It is not known yet whether he will propose a strong presidency with policy-making powers, like the American and French presidencies, or a weak figurehead, with policy as well as government administration remaining the province of the premier elected by parliament.

Whatever Caramanlis proposes is certain to be approved since his New Democracy party has a majority of almost three to one in parliament. If he chooses a strong presidency, he is expected to run for the post himself and to get it.

There was no immediate comment on the outcome of the plebiscite from ex-King Constantine, who fled from Greece in 1967 after an abortive attempt to overthrow the military junta that had seized power eight months before. He said before the vote that he wanted to return to "the home of my forefathers whatever the result."

But Caramanlis said Sunday night: "I don't think it would be wise for him to attempt to return in the near future."

Other government sources said the former king would have to accept the verdict of the plebiscite and relinquish all his royal titles and claims before his return could be considered.

Constantine has been living in England with his wife, who was the Danish Princess AnneMarie, and their three children.

The rejection of the monarchy was generally expected, but the size of the vote against it surprised some observers. When the military dictatorship abolished the throne last year and made Greece a republic, the vote for the republic in a ratifying plebiscite was 78.4 per cent. But it was considered suspect since it was held by the dictatorship.

Greece was also declared a republic in 1924. The monarchy was restored in 1935 by a 97 per cent vote in a plebiscite, but it was generally considered rigged. And in the 141-year history of the Greek throne, five other kings have lost their thrones due to forced abdication or foreign occupation.

Senate opens final debate on Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is set to open final debate on Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential nomination with overwhelming approval expected.

Senators opposed to the nomination of the former New York governor have asked for time to recount the details of the controversies that have slowed final action on the nomination. The debate begins today and a final vote is scheduled for Tuesday.

The Rockefeller-related controveries revolve mainly around his gifts and loans to public officials and the potential impact of his family's billion-dollar fortune on the federal government if he becomes vice president.

The Senate Rules Committee recommended 9 to 0 last week that the nomination be approved. The House Judiciary Committee is expected to recommend approval with no more than 10 dissenting votes in its own balloting later this week.

Meanwhile, both houses of Congress have scheduled a busy week that could include action on several major pieces of legislation.

The Senate is to begin a lengthy debate on the Housepassed foreign trade bill that includes a controversial provision aimed at helping Soviet Jews emigrate if they so desire.

President Ford has said he needs the measure — which gives him five-year authority to lower tariffs and remove other trade barriers — to divert international economic disaster.

The Senate has set a vote Wednesday on a bill giving the Office of Economic Opportunity another year of life.

Later in the week a vote is expected on an $8.7-billion supplemental appropriations bill containing funds for virtually every government department.

The bill is controversial because it contains an anti-busing amendment that denies the government the right to cut off funds to a school district which refuses to obey a desegregation order.

Opponents of the move will attempt to send the entire measure back to a conference with the House to delete the amendment.

The House has set a schedule that could result in action on as many as 22 separate pieces of legislation.

These include several controversial measures, such as a bill that the Ford administration claims places too many restrictions on strip mining.

Other measures on the House list include two measures aimed at fighting a rising unemployment rate, now at 6.5 per cent.

One bill would authorize spending $2 billion to provide up to 500,000 public service jobs.

The other would provide an additional $1 billion to improve unemployment compensation benefits.

The House Agriculture Committee was to begin a week of hearings into rising sugar prices, and an effort may be made to resurrect the Sugar Act which continues sugar production controls. The House killed the bill earlier this year.

'Grass' grabbed from sheriff

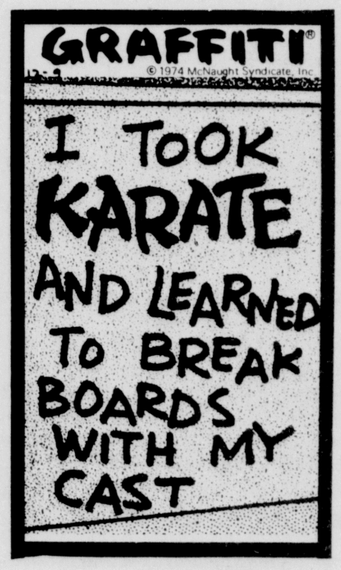

GREENVILLE, Ohio, (AP)— An estimated 490 pounds of baled marijuana has been stolen from the Darke County Sheriff's office here, police said today.

A spokesman said the drugs were the only items missing in a burglary of the office.

The marijuana was wrapped in seven bales, each containing 70 pounds of the contraband, police said. It had been collected during several narcotics investigations.

Deputies believe the thief or thieves may have crossed over into nearby Indiana and headed south for Kentucky.

Greenville is about 25 miles east of Winchester, Ind., in extreme western Ohio.

Woman has sextuplets after losing quads last year

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Undaunted by the loss of quadruplets last year, Charlotte Lange continued to take a fertility drug. Now she has given birth to sextuplets and the five tiny suvivors are clinging to life in respirators.

"They're all normally formed, all pretty little babies," said Dr. James Harrow, director of newborn services at Valley Medical Center. "But their condition is guarded. It's going to be up and down this week."

The infants — slightly more than three months premature — started their procession into the world at 6:36 a.m. Sunday at O'Connor Hospital. Officials referred to the new arrivals as babies A through F. The smallest, a boy, died about four hours after birth.

Mrs. Lange, 26, of San Jose, was in excellent condition, according to hospital spokesman Mike Maurer. He said she was in labor 7½ hours before giving birth to two girls and four boys ranging in weight from 1 pound, 15 ounces to 2½ pounds.

The five survivors were transferred to the Neonatal Center at nearby Valley Medical Center. Spokesman Carl Heintze said they were placed in respirators because of hyaline membrane problems, a common disorder among premature babies in which the lungs have difficulty absorbing oxygen.

The father, Alvin Lange, 31, an armored car security guard, was described as "shocked and tired" after the long hospital ordeal. He brought his wife to the hospital after she went into labor Saturday night in the 27th week of pregnancy.

Mrs. Lange rested in her flower-filled room, attended by her mother, Mrs. James Duty, and her pregnant sister, Leslie Perry, 23.

"It's kind of scary," the new mother said. "All I'm thinking about now is bringing them home and getting the family started. Originally I had hoped for four kids."

Mrs. Lange and her husband have a three-bedroom home.

"This is going to mean an awful lot of babysitting," Mrs. Duty said. "When Charlotte lost the four last year we said, 'try again.' Well, here we are with more than we bargained for. If they live we'll be very happy."

Maurer said Mrs. Lange had been taking the fertility drug Pergonal and according to her doctor, Vincent Nola, was due to deliver March 13.

"Doctor Nola told me there would probably be four babies," Mrs. Lange was quoted as saying. "When the fifth one was born, I was completely shocked."

Demos end meet; unity stressed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — With ringing declarations of restored brotherhood, Democrats have sent their leaders back to Washington or home states to make good on promises to attack the nation's problems.

But two of the party's leading presidential possibilities already were soft-pedaling the key plank in an economic program adopted by the unprecedented Democratic miniconvention — strong economic controls.

Sens. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Texas and Birch Bayh of Indiana said in television appearances Sunday they considered wage-price controls a "last resort" in the economic battle.

Meanwhile, back at the convention hall, Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., chairman of an economic panel, said delegates were agreed that "some form of price and perhaps wage controls are necessary."

The return to the practical side of politics followed a euphoric finale to the miniconvention which adopted a party charter, endorsed an economic platform for the Democratic Congress and showed more unity than the Democrats have exhibited since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The economic package adopted Friday night was based on speeches by Democratic leaders from Capitol Hill. It called for controls on prices and all forms of income, tax reform, strict energy conservation, credit rationing, national health insurance and public service jobs.

The charter banished the quota system which had divided the party bitterly in 1972. It was replaced with a mandatory recruiting program called "affirmative action" to bring women, minorities and other traditionally under-represented groups into the party.

The first constitution ever adopted by an American political party also bans discrimination, outlaws winner-take-all primaries, reforms delegate selection procedures for national conventions, opens all party meetings to the public and makes the national party supreme over state parties.

The real test of the new affirmative action substitute for quotas will come when the Compliance Review Commission rules on state programs and spells out what programs will satisfy the new rules.

The commission also will have to determine just what is meant when the new charter says the reforms extend to "all party affairs." Some party regulars have complained that having to recruit women, blacks, youths and others every time a local committee wanted to conduct a fund-raising drive would be taking it too far.

Heavy fighting sweeps Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Saigon command reported a fourth straight day of fierce fighting and shelling attacks today in the southern half of South Vietnam and along the border with Cambodia.

The command said casualties in the fighting had risen to more than 2,600 on both sides. It reported 248 government troops killed, 990 wounded and 210 missing and claimed 1,180 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed, many by air and artillery strikes.

Military officials acknowledged that security had deteriorated in the fertile Mekong Delta south of Saigon, where the bulk of the attacks were concentrated, and in Tay Ninh province bordering Cambodia to the northwest of the capital. But the officials claimed the Viet Cong had taken a heavy beating.

Convict bishop of arms dealing

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli court today convicted the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem of smuggling arms for Arab terrorists in Israel.

Msgr. Hilarion Capudji, a Syrian and the leader of about 4,000 Christians in the Holy Land, could get a maximum sentence of 35 years in prison. But legal sources said he probably would be expelled from Israel.

The Jerusalem District Court convicted the 49-year-old prelate on three counts: making contact with a foreign agent, the military commander of the Palestine Liberation Organization; carrying and possessing illegal weapons, and working for an illegal organization.

Business crimes top $20 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's businesses will lose an estimated $20.3 billion because of crimes this year, equal to $137 for every adult in the country, the Commerce Department reported today.

The total loss last year was $15.7 billion.

The total includes losses from such crimes as shoplifting, burglary, vandalism, bad checks and employe theft.

It also includes the cost of crime prevention measures by business, estimated at $3.9 billion.

Small group of Republicans gather to eye party reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — While 1,800 Democratic delegates were meeting in Kansas City to vote on party reforms, a relatively small group of Republicans convened here over the weekend to study proposed reforms of their own party.

By the end of the three-day session, a panel of some 43 Republicans had voted to recommend that the Republican National Committee supervise all campaign spending by the party's presidential nominee.

The proposal was an attempt to avoid a repetition of the Watergate scandal that resulted in part from the financing of a Republican intelligence-gathering program during the 1972 campaign.

The Republicans also voted to recommend changes in delegate selection and to enlarge the Republican National Committee.

The GOP group, called the Rule 29 Committee, was established at the 1972 Republican National Convention to study such proposals and make recommendations to the full Republican National Committee. The full committee meets in March to vote on whether to accept the recommendations.

A proposal to enlarge the national committee by adding 11 persons representing women, blacks, ethnic groups and elected officials originally was defeated by a 22 to 21 vote Saturday. It was then adopted Sunday by a vote of 24 to 19 after a representative of Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller switched from opposing to favoring the proposal.

The Rule 29 Committee also recommended steps to encourage state parties to recruit convention delegates from the ranks of women, minorities, ethnic groups, the young and the elderly.

The delegate-selection proposal consists of an optional program for state parties to attract persons of all income levels and backgrounds.

The proposal, adopted by a unanimous vote, was a compromise between those who wanted the committee to take no action in the delegate-selection area and those who wanted to recommend mandatory steps to broaden the party's base.

Common mart summit eyes oil program

PARIS (AP) — Common Market leaders gathered today for a two-day summit conference. A key question was whether France was ready to join the others in accepting the United States proposal for a common front against the oil exporting countries.

The other eight members of the European Economic Community have generally endorsed Washington's proposal that the major oil consumers unite for eventual price negotiations with the Arabs and other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

France has refused to join such a consumers' club, seeks separate deals with the oil states and urges holding an immediate conference of consumers, producers and developing nations.

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues told newsmen Sunday he thought the conference "will not discuss the energy question at length" because "the differences are between the French and American points of view," and this would be dealt with fully when President Ford meets French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in Martinique next Saturday.

Sauvagnargues spoke to newsmen after West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt returned from Washington and talked by telephone with Giscard. The fact that the French were not going to press their European partners for support was taken by some diplomats to indicate that Schmidt may have worked out a compromise.

The energy question is just one of the tough problems that the Market leaders face in Paris. The nine — Britain, France, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark — are expected also to consider more frequent meetings and a pledge to work more closely on economic matters.

The agenda does not include Britain's bid for cheaper membership terms in the Market, but conference sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson is determined to bring up the subject. France and some of the other members are against any change.

Most coal miners back on the job

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — As expected, most of the United Mine Workers' 120,000 soft coal miners returned to work at 12:01 a.m. Monday, the first day of production in most mines in almost a month.

There were scattered reports of absences from the midnight shifts which returned to work for the first time since the strike began Nov. 12. Some had expressed dissatisfaction with a contract approved last week by 56 per cent of those voting during the ratification process.

Others, mostly in Indiana and Illinois, said they would remain off the job until the UMW's construction workers had signed a contract with the Association of Bituminous Contractors.

Joe Smith, a pit boss at Peabody Coal Co.'s Latta mine near Jasonville, Ind. said some construction workers picketed there.

"We called our men back to work. But the ABC men were picketing and they didn't get back in," he said, adding that Peabody's Dugger mine was also picketed "but I don't know if it's happening elsewhere.".

Smith said it wasn't a very good night for picketing. "When I came in it was snowing, and one of the pickets told me 'it's a hell of a night to do this', " he added.

Picket lines were formed outside a few Illinois mines Friday by some construction workers, one of whom placed a newspaper ad asking miners to remain home in sympathy until a settlement is reached.

UMW President Arnold Miller had requested construction workers not interfere with returning miners, adding that the union could be liable for damages. Although members of the UMW, the 4,400 construction workers are covered by a separate contract.

Freezing or near-freezing weather is forecast to continue over Ohio through Tuesday as cold air sweeps southward into the state in the wake of a low pressure system.

The low crossed the Great Lakes Sunday and was located at dawn today over eastern Canada.

Widespread cloudiness and snow flurries were general over Ohio Sunday night, but accumulations were an inch or less. Snow flurry activity over the western part of the state was forecast to decrease today, although additional accumulations of one to three inches could occur in the snowbelt of northeastern Ohio.

Temperatures at dawn today ranged generally in the 20s and were forecast to remain below freezing across the state throughout the day.

Skies are forecast to clear late this afternoon and tonight, bringing an end to the snow flurries. Lows tonight will range from around 10 degrees to the mid teens.

Wet, cold cover much of nation

By The Associated Press

Wet weather and cold temperatures prevail over much of the nation today following a weekend which brought snow to many areas for the first time this year.

The Department of Public Safety reported five inches of snow on the ground at Guadalupe Pass, east of El Paso, Tex. Accumulations of up to 14 inches of snow were recorded in some mountainous areas in southern New Mexico.

Light rain and snow continues to fall over much of Michigan and the Ohio Valley, making driving conditions hazardous. Travelers advisories continued early today for portions of northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania, extreme western New York and the mountains of eastern West Virginia, Northern Virginia, and Western Maryland.

Snow flurries lingered over central Illinois while mostly clear skies were found west of the Mississippi except along the Pacific Coast and portions of central and southern Texas.

Light rain mixed with fog was reported in central and northern California while high winds associated with a cold front from the Pacific Northwest were dominant in the southern portion of the state.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed down again today after an early recovery attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about three points from Friday's 12-year closing low in the early going, was off 3.60 at 574.00 by noon. Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

The initial upswing, a brief gesture of welcome for the slight cut announced late Friday in the Federal Reserve Board's discount rate, gave way to continued concern over the recession, analysts said.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .77 at 58.36.

Phillips Petroleum lost 1⅛ to 35⅜ on top of a 5¾-point drop Friday. Brokers related the selling in the issue to reports late last week that Norway was proposing a sharp increase in taxes on oil properties in its sector of the North Sea, where Phillips has important interests.

Oil service and drilling issues also encountered continued pressure.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks declined .20 to 34.25.

Listerine ad under attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission official declared today that Listerine may kill germs by the millions but the largest selling U.S. mouthwash does not relieve colds or sore throats.

Administrative law judge Alvin L. Berman, who presided over a two-year-old case stemming from a commission complaint that Listerine had been falsely advertised, issued an order requiring Listerine's manufacturer to refrain from cold relief claims for the mouthwash and to include a disclaimer in any Listerine ad for two years.

The disclaimer would say: "Contrary to prior advertising of Listerine, Listerine will not prevent or cure colds or sore throats, and Listerine will not be beneficial in the treatment of cold symptoms or sore throats."

Berman's order is not final, however. It can be appealed to the full five-member commission. Warner-Lambert Co., the manufacturer, said it would appeal even to the courts if necessary.

Listerine has been marketed since 1879 for relief of such maladies as colds, sore throats, bad breath and dandruff.

Set purchase of U.S. jets

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway, Denmark and the Netherlands have decided to buy American jet fighters built by General Dynamics to replace their aging U.S.-made F104 Starfighters, the Oslo daily Morgenbladet said today.

The usually well-informed newspaper said Norway's Defense Minister Alv Jakob Fostervoll will give a briefing in Brussels today on the decision to recommend purchase of the Texas firm's YF16 jet.

The paper said Belgium, which had joined the three governments in selecting a new plane for their air forces, had not make up its mind but would probably also buy the $5-million YF16.

Belgian and Dutch government spokesmen expressed surprise at the Oslo report. A Belgian Foreign Ministry spokesman said in Brussels he had not heard of any decision and did not expect any until next month.

The Dutch Defense Ministry called the reports "completely premature" and said research reports on competing American, French and Swedish jets were not expected until the third week of December.

Red space trip ends

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet experts say they are ready for next summer's Soviet-American space linkup following completion of the six-day Soyuz 16 space flight. They said it was a success.

Cosmonauts Anatoly Filipchenko and Nikolai Rukavishnikov landed in Central Asia just after noon Sunday, Tass reported. The two men, who are the backup crew for the joint Soyuz-Apollo flight in July, both felt fine, the official news agency said.

"We are confident that we are ready for the 1975 flight," Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev said in a television interview. He is involved in planning the Soviet-American mission.

"Our system is ready," said scientist Vladimir Syromyatin.

Soyuz 16 was the Soviet Union's third manned space mission this year. It was launched Monday as a rehearsal for the U.S.-Soviet venture — the first of its kind for the two space powers. The two cosmonauts' main jobs were testing new docking gear, automatic devices, orientation control and spacecraft atmosphere systems that have been developed to be compatible with the American equipment.

States ponder economic pinch

By The Associated Press

Inflation and economic problems reflected in the average consumer's grocery bills also affect state governments. But most state officials surveyed by The Associated Press believe state governments won't really begin to feel the squeeze for a year or more.

Since state budgets are prepared on a fiscal year basis, July 1-June 30, the current economic situation and rate of inflation were not taken into account when budgets were drawn up last spring.

However, the Commerce Department reported Sunday that the growth of state tax revenues for 1974 didn't keep up with the rise in prices. Tax income for all 50 states totaled $74.1 billion in 1974 compared to $68.1 billion the previous year. This was a rise of only 8.9 per cent compared to a 10.9 per cent jump in prices for the same period.

This means that the surpluses projected in most state budgets for the current fiscal year will have a tendency to evaporate. And drawing up the 1975-76 budgets in coming months will force many states to choose between raising taxes or cutting services.

"We are looking at a rather tight budget situation the rest of this year and all of next year," said Florida Budget Director Wallace Henderson.

Gov.-elect Richard D. Lamm of Colorado said the national economic situation "gives a message to all of us. This is a time for extreme caution."

Officials from some states said increased taxes or changed tax structures may be necessary to meet inflation-related problems.

Most states rely heavily on sales taxes for revenue. Some combine sales and personal income taxes. Only a few, such as Delaware, have no sales taxes and rely primarily on earnings taxes which decrease as massive layoffs are implemented.

In Delaware, the Governor's Economic Advisory Council meets monthly to review the state's financial outlook. Members say they are worried but have not yet figured out revenue projection adjustments to reflect the worsening state of the economy.

In New York state, Gov.-elect Hugh L. Carey has called for a hiring freeze on state employes and has indicated it may be necessary to impose a 2½ per cent income tax surcharge despite his campaign pledge not to raise taxes.

In California, legislative analyst A. Alan Post said: "We may have to have some tax increases in the future because our costs are going to go up more rapidly than our revenues."

Some states will be looking for places to trim programs rather than raise taxes, with prime targets for cutbacks being state social services, highway maintenance and higher education.

CAMP FIRES AND CHRISTMAS SEALS — The interests of Camp Fire Girls extend beyond camp fires and cookie sales. This group, the Candy Canes, assisted in the Christmas Seal program by distributing posters to area merchants and businesses. The girls are Darlene Ford, left, Cindy Pressler, Mary Mongold, Krista Sowers, Emily Engle, Diana Valentine, Sue Showalter and Jennifer Dowler. The adults advisors are Mrs. Cheryl Showalter and Mrs. Joy Valentine. Mrs. Lois Goodson, right, presented each of the girls a certificate of appreciation from the South Central Lung Association.

Camp Fire Girls assist project

The Candy Canes Camp Fire girls group has contributed to the local Christmas Seal campaign. Eight fourth grade girls distributed Christmas Seal posters to area merchants and businesses last week.

Adult leaders Mrs. Joy Valentine and Mrs. Cheryl Showalter said they were approached by Mrs. Lois Goodson, program associate for the South Central Ohio Lung Association, who asked if the girls could distribute the posters as part of their community involvement requirement for Camp Fire Girls.

All Camp Fire Girls chapters are required to devote at least 12 hours per year to community projects. The advisors said that the pastor project put the girls well in excess of the 12-hour requirement.

Mrs. Goodson presented each of the girls with a certificate of appreciation from the lung association.

The South Central Ohio Lung Association funds a number of local programs in addition to its contribution to the national chapter.

The association had donated inhalation equipment to Fayette Memorial Hospital and the Fayette County Health Department as well as life-saving equipment to the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Members of the association have led numerous presentations at the meetings of local clubs and organizations. These include programs on tuberculosis, smoking, cancer and air pollution. They furnish speakers, literature and films.

The South Central Lung Association also finances the tuberculin skin tests given by the Fayette County Health Department to school personnel, food handlers and to others who request it. The organization provides a number of patient services and contributes money for nursing scholarships.

Cincinnati officer, assailant slain

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year veteran of the Cincinnati Police Department became the force's second gunfire victim of the year when a trouble-plagued ex-fireman went berserk early Sunday.

Dead after a shootout in suburban Sayler Park were Sgt. Charles Handorf, 46, and self-employed house painter Herbert Merz, 37.

Police said the incident occurred after a patrolman responded to a trouble call involving a man firing shots in his home.

The patrolman went to the house, was confronted by the gun-wielding Merz and put in a call for assistance.

At least 15 cruisers with uniformed officers responded, along with plainclothes officers. They surrounded the house and used a bullhorn to call for Merz to surrender.

Merz began firing out the window and the policemen returned fire, while taking refuge behind a concrete retaining wall.

When Sgt. Handorf raised his head to look over the wall, he was shot in the eye, dying instantly. Merz died moments later in return fire, police said.

Merz was later described as a man burdened with problems including a police record for assault and battery, drinking and difficulty in keeping a job.

His neighbors said he had become despondent when he learned he had a brain tumor.

Merz spent 10 years as a fireman before being dismissed on charges of insubordination and other disciplinary offenses, according to Cincinnati Fire Chief Bert Lugannani.

The other policeman to die this year in a shooting was Patrolman David Cole. His July 17 death came while investigating a burglary. Two persons have been convicted in the killing.

Sgt. Handorf was a decorated officer and a father of two children. He was wounded in a shooting in 1957.

Recommend panel on teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex planned to recommend today that the state Board of Education create a 15-member commission to advise it on teacher education and certification matters.

The action was to follow a board hearing on new teacher education requirements for colleges and universities in Ohio.

Among other things, the proposed new standards would revise methods of developing teacher education courses, call for lower faculty-student ratios in education classes, require earlier practical experiences for education students and require preparation of all teachers in the teaching of reading.

Demo program, business clash

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Big business quite likely will find itself in direct opposition to many proposals in the Democratic party's "economic recovery" program, enunciated in Kansas City last week.

On some issues the cleavage never seemed wider.

The Democrats declared themselves in favor of wage-price controls. Corporate officials not only are opposed to such measures but believe they might worsen economic troubles.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers last week, controls were termed an economic perversion by some executives, an intrusion into the decision-making process by many, and a cause of marketplace distortions by almost all.

The Democrats spoke of "excessive, and sometimes windfall, profits." While big business cannot deny that many profits were very high this year, they argue that great misunderstandings exist about corporate finances.

Profits, the executives argue, were distorted by inflation, aren't likely to continue two years in a row, and are actually depressed in terms of the return on investment.

Big business is especially disturbed about what it feels is a failure of the public to understand the role of profits. They say that while return on sales might be high, return on investment is shrinking.

Because of this, they claim it is increasingly difficult to attract investment capital. And without that capital, they say, industry cannot fulfill the production demands made upon it.

Referring to his frustration in conveying the message, Harold Shaub, chief executive of Campbell Soup Co., told newsmen: "We in industry have done a lousy job in explaining it." He asked the newsmen to help.

The Democratic program states: "For too long our people have suffered the inequities of a tax system that needs reform." But they were referring to injustices to individuals. Big business feels it is the group treated unjustly.

The Democrats referred to the "worst recession since the Great Depression and the most serious inflation ever experienced in peacetime." Big business might agree with the latter, but many of its members fear the recession will be cut short before inflation is licked.

Businessmen at the NAM meeting felt the administration and probably the Federal Reserve would begin anti-recession moves too quickly, bowing to short-term complaints and risking more inflation in 1975 and 1976.

Reading between the lines of the Democrats' resolution, the impression emerges that the ordinary people of America — consumers, householders — are the offended. Many in big business feel they are.

The Democrats would seem to call on the spending powers of the Federal government to insure the security of the populace in the face of what could be referred to, when reviewed in years to come, as a depression.

Big business feels Federal spending, particularly in excess of revenues, is what gets us into these periodic economic messes.

Gilligan daughter engaged to marry

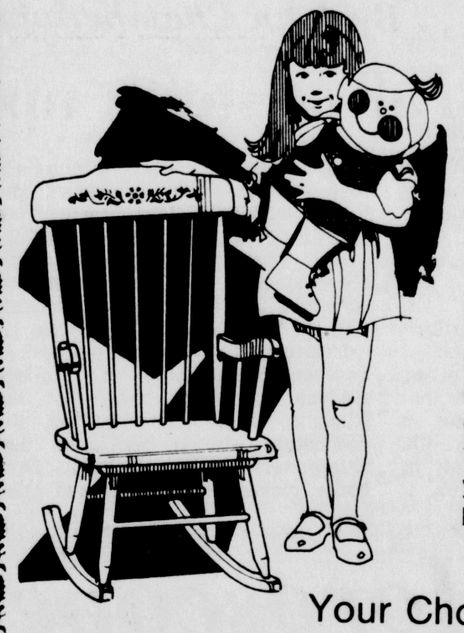

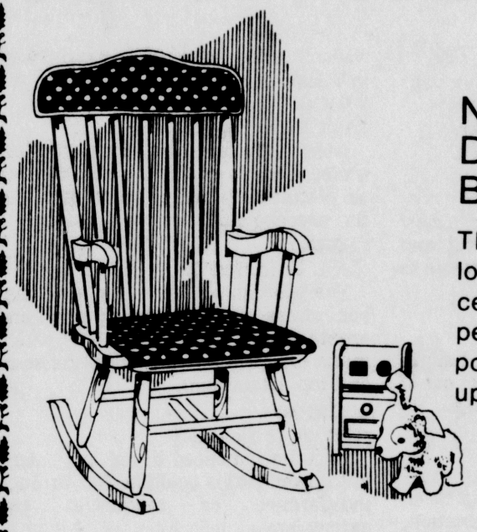

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. John Gilligan announced today the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Keith Gary Sebelius, an attorney in Topeka, Kan.

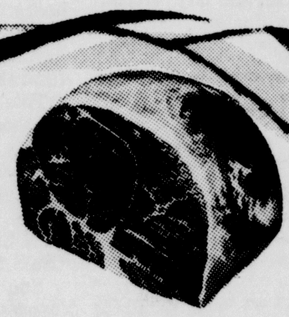

Miss Gilligan's fiance is the son of three-term Republican U.S. Rep. and Mrs. Keith G. Sebelius of Kansas.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of the Summit Schools in Cincinnati and Trinity College in Washington, D.C.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Progress on wind power

It is gratifying to find that the idea of using wind power as a source of electrical energy has moved past the speculative stage. This welcome development is heralded by the granting of half a million dollars from federal funds for design of massive wind energy systems.

The contracts to two firms are for preliminary work on systems ranging from 100-kilowatt to three-megawatt generating output. An idea of what is involved can be gained from a National Aeronautics and Space Administration report that the latter size windmill - which would be the largest ever built - could supply 100 to 200 homes with electricity.

It is NASA and the National Science Foundation which are teaming up to finance and conduct a varied wind power research and development program. In addition to working on systems whose energy output might be tied in with major power grids, specialists also will design small systems for remote areas and will consider environmental, social, economic and legal questions that arise.

The Atomic Energy Commission has become involved, too, and is testing a radical new type of wind-driven turbine. Research and development also are in progress at universities. It appears that efforts to make modern use of this ancient energy source are at last getting under way on a promising scale.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Trying to roll a stone uphill

If you don't learn how to read and extrapolate from statistics in college, where do you learn? The statistical truth is that the actual profit from American business averages around 4.3 cents a year. Yet, in spite of the hard arithmetical evidence, the American people as a whole think business gets 28 cents as profit out of every dollar that it grosses. College students, as a poll shows, believe that business nets 20 cents after taxes on each dollar. So they are only a little behind the average American in distrusting the businessman as a gouger. What they should distrust are their own economics professors who have failed to teach them how to arrive statistically at a correct bottom line.

Ten years ago the American Management Association started something called the International Council for Operation Enterprise. It was supposed to promote discussions between businessmen and college students, the hope being that the students might come out of the encounters with a realization that enterprisers don't necessarily have horns, cloven hoofs and forked tails. But the AMA hasn't made much of a dent on the campus as yet.

Mostly the AMA has held its conferences at Hamilton, New York, the home of Colgate University. But a son of Colgate, J. Kevin Murphy, the president of Purolater Services, Inc., who has recently taken over as chairman of the International Council for Operation Enterprise, has pushed the AMA into setting up Regional Councils to raise funds to provide scholarships for two-week seminars on management philosophy and practice that will bring students and businessmen together all over North America. The mistakes that students make about business profitability have fired Mr. Murphy's zeal. In 1974, under his prodding, Operation Enterprise made question-and-answer programs available at various campus locations in New York, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco, Dallas, Phoenix and Montreal.

Mr. Murphy's work is good, and it should by all means be expanded. But the businessmen, whose companies are being asked to put up some $500 per student for the seminars, face the labors of Sisyphus in pushing that rock up the hill if they expect to change the undergraduate attitude toward business in the near future. The truth is that they will be reaching the student long after our generally anti-business faculties have gotten in their work of indoctrinating their charges with the idea that capitalism, while it may pay our educational salaries, is for the birds.

What we really need is a double set of seminars, one for high school instructors in social studies at the beginning end of the scale, and one for the kids after they have been exposed to the anti-business college faculties that keep choosing their own kind to man their own departments.

Any school system that presumes to teach the virtues of private enterprise is up against it. Three years ago, in Arizona, a pertinacious legislator named Jim Skelly got a law passed making it compulsory for students in the Arizona high school system to take a half-year course in the theory and workings of the U.S. free market economy, or to pass an examination that will prove an "equivalency" knowledge of the same. But Arizona has been having its troubles in the effort to make the courses real. A cadre of 16 convinced teachers has been laboring to carry the word to a total of 270 involved educators, many of whom have learned their economics from college instructors who sneer at the very idea that markets should be free.

One particular trouble in Arizona is that the pro-free enterprise cadre hasn't been able to find a suitable text book that will be generally acceptable. The Department of Public Instruction has resorted to the expedient of bringing free market philosophers from the East—a John Davenport of Fortune magazine, a Ben Rogge of Wabash College in Indiana — to talk to high school personnel. But the chances of continuing the state program of teaching free enterprise principles in the high schools is in deadly peril every time the state legislature meets. Socialism and its permutations have their devotees even in Barry Goldwater's home state.

The biggest problem in the U.S. is to change the state of mind of the teachers. To get at the students after they have been corrupted is just too great a task for American business to heft.

Kroger trial set Dec. 26

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The trial of a Winter Park, Fla. civil engineer accused of the kidnaping of the daughter of a broadcast executive has been set for Dec. 26 in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Clifford J. Kroger, 38, who denied the charge, was accused in the Sept. 23 abduction of 4-year-old Allison Mechem, daughter of Charles Mechem, chairman of Taft Broadcasting Corp.

The child was found unharmed in a motel. No attempt was made to collect the demanded $128,000 ransom, police said.

Kroger's attorneys filed a motion to suppress evidence based on samples of blood, hair and handwriting taken from Kroger.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A good day for embarking on a new project if it is really purposeful and stimulates your mind — with an eye to the future, of course.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Stellar influences suggest a halt to certain activities which could get out of the realm of common sense. Be realistic.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Mercury highly propitious. Originality and imagination, thoughtfully directed, can brighten day's activities and boost your status.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may find it difficult to get things done in the way you prefer. Also, you may run into some unexpected snags. Take all in stride and avoid argument. Things will right themselves.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A more or less average day. Better finish, or at least further, current projects. Starting new undertakings without proper preparation could lead to disappointment.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't head into complications. Steer a clear course and focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

The position of Venus suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Benefits indicated if you are alert, but opportunities could be lost through indifference or tendencies two extremism.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Though there is a favorable outlook, some not entirely successful operations may need an added "shot in the arm" — new methods, tightening up, new data.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Time is important, of course, but don't let the thought of it rush you into hasty moves, decisions. Confusion will reign if the guard is down.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

This should be a highly profitable day for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. On the personal side, emotions may rise and fall, so maintain equilibrium and poise.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You may have a tendency to be too impressionable now. Avoid becoming involved in ticklish situations which could disturb you later.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a brilliant imagination and a great love of knowledge. Research is a forte and you could make an eminent success in the scientific or literary fields. You are extremely versatile and could achieve enviably in either the business world or the arts: In the former, would make a top-rank executive or financier; in the latter, a highly skilled musician, writer or dramatist. You are one of the most freedom-loving of all zodiacal natives and your craving for independence is so great that one may have a difficult time trying to "trap" you into marriage.

Tomato growers study changes

By KEN DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio tomato growers, fresh from harvesting a $26.6 million crop, look for several major changes in their farming life-style around one of the next corners.

Goodbye, migrant pickers and sorters from the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

Hello, mechanical pickers wherever they are, probably in all fields.

Welcome, a new flotation system for separating ripe and green tomatoes, chemicals that will ripen the crop in proper sequence to keep the machines busy and smaller, firmer tomatoes that can be piled three and four feet deep without crushing the bottom layer.

That's the way Dr. Wilbur Gould, Ohio State University horticulture professor, reads the future.

"The day is getting near when we simply will not be able to get picking labor," he said. "We are one of the few places where migrant labor still is available.

"Take California, the No. 1 tomato state, it's all bulk handling and mechanized, 100 per cent. We are going to have to follow suit or we just aren't going to stay in business."

But mechanized picking means green tomatoes are going to get picked along with ripe tomatoes. Dr. Gould thinks he has the answer for that—a new flotation system tested this season at the Libby processing plant at Leipsic.

"The method was tested in 1968 and abandoned," said Dr. Gould. "I found the old equipment in Pennsylvania and it cost me $1,500 to get it. The industry added $7,500 and we installed it at Leipsic."

Here's sketchily how it works: Ripe tomatoes have a higher specific gravity, or are more solid, than green tomatoes. If ripe and green tomatoes are put in the flotation sorter and the water is moving at exactly the right speed, the ripe tomatoes sink and the green tomatoes float — a separation demanding no hand help.

"You'll see a couple or three 25-ton installations next year," said Dr. Gould.

Machines will replace men, the tomato experts agree, but not because the growers don't want to pay proper wages, Dr. Gould said. Fewer and fewer migrant workers want to leave their homes for the summer.

"After all," said Howard Sacks, a Sandusky County grower, "most of them have jobs back home in Texas that would be year-around jobs."

But mechanical picking will be a cost-cutter eventually. Normal hand-picking wages ran $18 a ton this year. Many pickers and loaders made $40 a day."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Four years later,

"Miserable" isn't any more

DEAR ABBY: Will you do me (and countless thousands of teen-aged girls) a tremendous favor and re-run the letter and your reply from your column of September 6, 1968?

I wrote it, and now I want to write a "P.S." Thank you.

"D"

DEAR "D": With pleasure:

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl and my problem is my mother. I hate her. It may sound terrible to you, but I really hate her. I used to think I would get over it, but I know now I never will.

Sometimes I think I will go out of my mind if she doesn't quit picking on me. I never do anything to suit her. She doesn't like my clothes, my hair, my friends or anything.

My friends are not bums, either. They are good kids and they aren't wild or on pot or anything like that, but my mother says they look like hippies, and they aren't.

Please help me, Abby, before I run away from home. I cry myself to sleep at night because my mother is so hateful. If I babysit, she makes me put the money in the bank. Other girls can buy records or do whatever they want with the money they earn.

Don't tell me to talk to my father. He's always on her side. And don't tell me my mother "loves" me and is only doing things for my own good. If you print my letter, don't sign name or I'll get killed."

MISERABLE IN PHOENIX

DEAR MISERABLE: Your letter doesn't shock me at all. I receive many such letters each week. Almost every normal teen-ager alternately loves and hates his parents.

It's not easy to be criticized, restricted, corrected, and disciplined day in and day out. But parents who really love their children, prove it by consistently letting their children know what is expected of them. Parents who are "soft" and permissive rear confused, insecure children.

I don't expect you to agree with me today, but keep this letter and read it again three years from now, and then you'll understand it perfectly. Good luck, dear. You're lucky. You are loved."

DEAR ABBY: Now, for my "P.S." I am no longer "Miserable." I am grateful.

I am 20 years old, Abby, and I just found that clipping tucked away in my 1968 diary. (I am "cleaning out my closets" because I am going to be married next June, and I'll be moving.)

You were so right. My parents were stricter than the parents of my friends, but now I realize that they set extra high standards for me because they loved me and wanted me to be proud of myself.

I am saving a copy of that clipping to show my daughter if I am ever lucky enough to have one, because I intend to raise my daughter just like my mother raised me, and she may "hate" me for the same reasons I "hated" my mother.

I am graduating from college in June, and marrying a wonderful young man on the following Saturday.

How can I thank you?

"D" IN PHOENIX

DEAR "D": You already have. Thanks for writing, Honey, and may all life's blessings be yours.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Dec. 9, the 343rd day of 1974. There are 22 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, Japanese troops invaded the Philippines at the beginning of the Pacific war.

On this date —

In 1608, the English poet, John Milton, was born in London.

In 1793, Noah Webster established New York's first daily newspaper.

In 1854, Alfred Lord Tennyson's famous poem, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," was published in England.

In 1934, Ethiopian and Italian troops clashed on the border between Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia.

In 1940, British troops opened their first offensive in North Africa in World War II.

In 1944, Allied troops cracked German defense lines near Aachen, Germany.

Ten years ago: The English poet, Dame Edith Sitwell, died in London at the age of 77.

Five years ago: Forty-eight persons were arrested and seven policemen were injured in New York as three-thousand anti-war protesters demonstrated against President Nixon, who was at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to receive an award.

One year ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger began talks with leaders in Western Europe to try to repair unity of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Today's birthdays: Actor Kirk Douglas is 58 years old. Former actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is 65.

Thought for today: The common curse of mankind: folly and ignorance — William Shakespeare, 1564-1616.

OEA meet approves program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A five-point legislative program, including a public employe collective bargaining bill, was approved Saturday by the Ohio Education Association fall Representative Assembly.

Also set as major legislative priorities of the big teacher organization were proposals to equalize school financing, increase support to state universities, establish and educational practices board and improve teacher retirement benefits.

The collective bargaining proposal calls for a state employment relations board to administer all negotiating by public employes and repeal of the state's Ferguson Act, which prohibits public employe strikes.

Local bargaining would include salaries, hours and other matters affecting employment or teaching and learning conditions. Grievance procedures would be included in all negotiated contracts.

In addition to proposing a 5 per cent increase in state support of universities, the 1,200 delegates attending the one-day assembly also urged a two-year ban on student fee increases.

The educational practices board would regulate the schooling and certification of public school teachers in Ohio, the OEA said.

Delegates suggested legislation providing for full retirement benefits for teachers after 25 years of service, and new employment-dismissal laws for teachers.

Gamma CCL donates toys

Gifts for children, which will be distributed by Church Women United, were given by members of Gamma Child Conservation League when they met at the beautifully decorated home of Mrs. Maynard Denen for the annual Christmas party. Upon arriving, the members were invited to a festive appointed table for punch and canapes.

Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, president, conducted a brief business meeting, opened by devotions given by Mrs. Jack Flax. A Christmas message was read from the State President, and a report on plans for Spring Conference, to be held in Washington C. H., was given.

The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and playing Dubs bridge, with awards being presented to Mrs. Donald Early, Mrs. Virgil Lowe and Mrs. Phillip Ford.

At the close of the evening, a gift exchange was held, and the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ed Krieger and Mrs. Ladrach served a delightful salad course.

The January meeting will be the husband's party, with everyone meeting at the American Legion for a steak dinner.

Class dinner is enjoyed

The Leadership Training Class of First Presbyterian Church held their Christmas dinner with Mrs. Don Wood, Mrs. Harvey Heironimus and Mrs. James Wilson as hostesses. A social hour was enjoyed around the punch bowl at 6 p.m. and the dinner was served at 6:45 p.m. in Persinger Hall by Miss Maxine Gilmerr's catering service.

There was a brief business meeting when reports were read. The Service committee reported on the family which the class 'adopted' for the holidays. The same family was given a food basket for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Archie McCullough will be the new class treasurer, in the place of Mrs. John Boyer, who is moving to Texas.

The remainder of the evening was spent addressing Christmas cards to all patients in the area nursing homes.

Altrusa Club dinner Dec. 19

The Altrusa Club of Washington Court House met at the LaFayette Inn for their regular dinner meeting with fourteen members present.

Mrs. James Wagner and Miss Helen Slavens gave a detailed report on the District 5 Conference held at the Green Briar in White Sulphar Springs, West Va.

Various committee reports were given and Mrs. Wagner discussed attending the meeting conducted by the Chamber of Commerce regarding the Bi-Centennial Celebration to be held in 1976. Mrs. Reynolds Slaughter and Miss Slavens were appointed co-chairman for Altrusa's part in the Bi-Centennial. Mrs. Madeline Ebert, Mrs. Mona Mershon, Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, Mrs. Jessie Moore, Mrs. Sue Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Haines and Mrs. Wagner are on the committee.

The next meeting will be a carry-in dinner December 19, at Mrs. Wagners. The International Relations Committee is in charge of the dinner and the program will be "Holy Land, Scenic, Political and Religious Background" by C. E. Rhoad.

Mrs. Robinson feted at layette shower

A layette shower was given for Mrs. Debbie Robinson recently in the home of Mrs. Phyllis Robinson, 237 W. Elm St., with hostesses Mrs. Marsha Kelley and Miss Eva Robinson.

Games were won by Mrs. Marlene Martindale, Miss Shelletta Robinson, and Mrs. Betsy Bruce.

Refreshments of cake, Jello salad and coffee were served. The cake was decorated in pink and blue with booties on each end. In the center the cake was inscribed with "Welcome Little Stranger' in pink. Other decorations were in pink and white, and a beautiful Southern-Style dressed doll was used for the centerpiece.

Guests present were Mrs. Willadean Mastin, Miss Dianne Thompson, Mrs. Cindy Self, Mrs. Stella Aills, Mrs. Marlene Martindale, Mrs. Gladys Short, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Ruth Hart, Mrs. Nina Mummy, Mrs. Tonda Robinson, Mrs. Betty Shiltz, Mrs. Phyllis Robinson, Miss Shelletta Robinson and the guest of honor.

Mailbag Club supper held in Fackler home

Buckeye chapter, International Mailbag Club enjoyed a delicious chicken supper served by Mrs. Minnie Fackler in her home Thursday evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers, Mrs. Gary Trenary and children, Mrs. Vesper Flint, and former member Mrs. Grace Ella Fout.

A floral holiday centerpiece centered the table and drummer boys were at each place setting. The house was pretty and festive for the holidays.

A gift exchange was enjoyed and the remainder of the time was spent visiting. Holiday treats will be taken to shutins of the club, Mrs. Essie Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Lovey Riley and Mr. Arlie Ashbaugh, next week.

The Union Jack was Canada's official flag from 1763 to 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cockerill of 528 Lewis St., have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rhonda, to Brad H. Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crosby, 8 Hali Drive.

The wedding will be an event of March 15 in First Presbyterian Church.

'Religious Education' is DAR program topic

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell entertained the Daughters of the American Revolution, Washington C. H. chapter and the program topic was "Religious Education," presented by Mrs. Gerald Wheat. Mrs. Howard Perrill opened the session in the absence of Mrs. B. M. Slagle, and was assisted by Mrs. M. H. Roszmann. Mrs. Eddie Sexton read the first stanza of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Cornwell reported on clothing sent to the Kate Duncan Smith, Tamassa and Chilolco Indian schools.

During the business, delegates to the State Conference, Mrs. Deane Powell, Mrs. Charles Ellis and Mrs. Robert Cannon, were elected. The alternates are Mrs. John Sagar Sr., Mrs. Gilbert Crouse, Miss Elizabeth Trent, Mrs. Gilbert Adams and Miss Mabel Briggs.

Members of Continental Congress elected were Mrs. Harold Slagle, Mrs. Roszmann and Mrs. Walter Parrett, with alternates Mrs. Howard Perrill, Miss Elizabeth Trent, and Mrs. Jerome Tankersley.

Mrs. Wheat gave an interesting talk in which she said a generation comes, a generation goes, but the earth remains. She also told of the traditional family Christmas and spoke of geneology taken from the Book of Matthew, which tells of the Christ child and how His coming has made a whole new world.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Sidney Bloomer, Mrs. Laurence Garinger, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Irvin Yeoman, Mrs. J. A. McCoy, Mrs. Vivian Crawford, Mrs. John Leland and Mrs. Virtus Kruse.

There will be no meeting in January.

Country Club is setting for Conchemco yuletide party

"Sabina Welcomes Don Techentien to $1,500,000 Christmas Party." This welcome greeted people attending the annual Conchemco Incorporated Christmas party at the Washington C. H. Country Club Friday evening. The large sign across the ballroom wall was reminding company people and guests of the fact that Conchemco had reached the first $1,500,000 sales plateau for one month in October of this year.

Mr. Techentien is president of the Homes Group and executive vice president of Conchemco, Inc. He attended the Christmas party. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels.

Conchemco Inc. consists of three companies, Colony Paint, Wescon Precision Products Co. and Conchemco Industrial Coatings.

Mr. Techentien said he was proud of the Sabina plant which had been the first plant the company owns to reach $1,000,000 production in a month and then $1½ million and the first $12 million year for a single location.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bailey greeted guests as they arrived for the party. Mr. Bailey is general manager of the Sabina plant.

The Luther Bolen band played for dancing. Guests enjoyed hors d' oeuvres and other refreshments throughout the evening followed by a breakfast served at 12:30.

Open house planned for anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Fannon of Sabina will observe their 50th (golden) wedding anniversary with an 'open house' and reception to be held in the Sabina United Methodist Church from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Walter Fry of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has returned home after an extended visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harper, 123 W. Circle Ave.

Mrs. Belt entertains Homemakers

Mrs. Carlton Belt was hostess when the Homemakers Club met in her home for a carry-in luncheon. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Robert Case, president, conducted a business session and read "Christmas Reflections." Each member told of the nicest Christmas which she remembered for roll call.

It was announced that the Connor Farm Women's Club will meet at 11:45 a.m. Dec. 19, for the Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. Walter Sollars presented the program, "When Christmas Comes." She also read "Gift I Gave Away." A contest, making words from the word 'Christmas' was conducted and won by Mrs. Lorain Morter and Mrs. Maryon Mark.

Busy Bee Club

The Busy Bee Garden Club of Jeffersonville met at Duff's recently for a noon luncheon, when each member was presented a Christmas corsage by Mrs. Rowena Cummins. Following the luncheon, the eight members and guest Don Creamer attended 'Open House' at a green house in Wilmington, when they were taken on a guided tour.

The club always plans a tour for the December meeting. Mrs. Janice Creamer will be hostess for the January meeting.

Circle 3

Mrs. Larry Loyd, a resident of Washington C.H., formerly of Bogota, Colombia, South America, told members of Circle 3 of First Presbyterian Church of Christmas customs in her native country, when they met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Wheat. Eleven members were present for the meeting, led by Mrs. Ralph Jones, who also presented devotions.

Mrs. C.L. Musser gave the Mission Yearbook of Prayer and a prayer for missionaries serving in Thailand and Southwest United States. Reports and new yearbooks for 1975 were distributed.

Miss Dorothy Donohoe presented the story, "I Am a Christmas Tree," followed by "What Christmas Is." Several members participated in this part, in which it was decided that Christmas is a belief- and how it is a sight, sound, fragrance and taste. Miss Donohoe also gave "Memories of a Country Christmas."

Refreshments were served from a lovely tea table, decorated festive for the holiday season, from the dining room of the manse by Mrs. Wheat, a very gracious hostess.

Toys were also donated by members to be distributed by Chruch Women United.

Mrs. Homer Bireley is the new circle leader for 1975.

Fayette County NFO delegates return from national meeting

Delegates to the National Farmers Organization's 1974 annual convention at Memphis, Tenn., returned to Fayette County this weekend to start preparations for participating in a nationwide drive to enroll enough farm production in NFO bargaining blocks to effectively set prices on them.

Attending the convention from Fayette County were Mr. and Mrs. David Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coil, Mr. and Mrs. William Burr, Robert Pavey, Lewis Redd, Ancel Creamer, Russell N. Garringer and A. H. Hoppes.

The convention set a goal of getting 30 per cent of all farm production moving throuh NFO's bargaining, collection and delivery system.

"WHEN FARMERS put enough of their production in to blocks so that handlers must have that production to meet their requirements, then we can price them just as auto makers, machinery manufacturers, oil, fertilizer and other industries do," NFO president Oren L. Staley told the convention delegates. "Our members now have the livestock collection points, the grain handling facilities, barge points, milk reload stations and facilities necessary to handle the products. Now we must get it together," he said.

The delegates voted to go for 30 per cent. When it is achieved, there will be 10-county meetings at 160 locations or more across the nation to agree on prices reflecting cost of production plus a reasonable profit. Products in the NFO blocks will be offered at those prices, and if they are not met, held on farms until they are.

Staley pointed out that supplies of meat in the pipeline to consumers will last about seven days and milk for about three days.

"NFO is getting an early start this winter on its enrollment drive," Staley said. "The facilities from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico are ready to handle the volume necessary. This is an all-out drive to commit enough production for bargaining to make it fully effective."

The regular Fayette County NFO meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Eber Junior High School, Bloomingburg-New Holland Road.

Meat price freeze set

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Labeled a test run, Kroger Co. has reduced and frozen meat prices effective today at 63 Cincinnati and Dayton area stores for four weeks.

The move comes a week after Kroger put a freeze on more than 1,100 items in the grocery chain's 1,240 stores.

Prices on 30 beef cuts and ground beef items have been reduced 10 cents to 60 cents per pound and will remain at the level until Jan. 5, according to Walter R. Dryden, vice president of Cincinnati's Kroger Food Stores.

"Meat prices are volative and we do not know if we will be able to continue the program after that," he said.

"If our meat costs go up, we will absorb the cost if they go down, meat prices will go even lower," Dryden said.

He said meat prices at Kroger, which serves more than a dozen states, have dropped 5.9 cents per pound in the past year.

The price freeze includes the entire meat department—beef, pork, veal, lamb, wieners, bacon, luncheon meats, poultry and fish.

Last week's freeze included cereals, canned vegetables, cheese, rice, frozen foods and other items which represent about two-thirds of grocery department purchases in Cincinnati stores. The freeze on these items will be in effect until Feb. 1.

Dryden said the meat prices will be frozen at or below their Dec. 2 level.

No sign of hunter

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The fate of a 20-year Florence, Ky., man who disappeared while hunting nearly a week ago is still unknown although two developments were reported over the weekend.

Boone County police said a hunting companion of Edward Nichols, the missing man, has agreed to take a polygraph test Tuesday. David Stites, 20, has been questioned regarding the disappearance of Nichols last Tuesday.

A bone found Saturday has been sent to a Cincinnati research laboratory to determine if it is human. It was found in northern Gallatin County near the Boone County line.

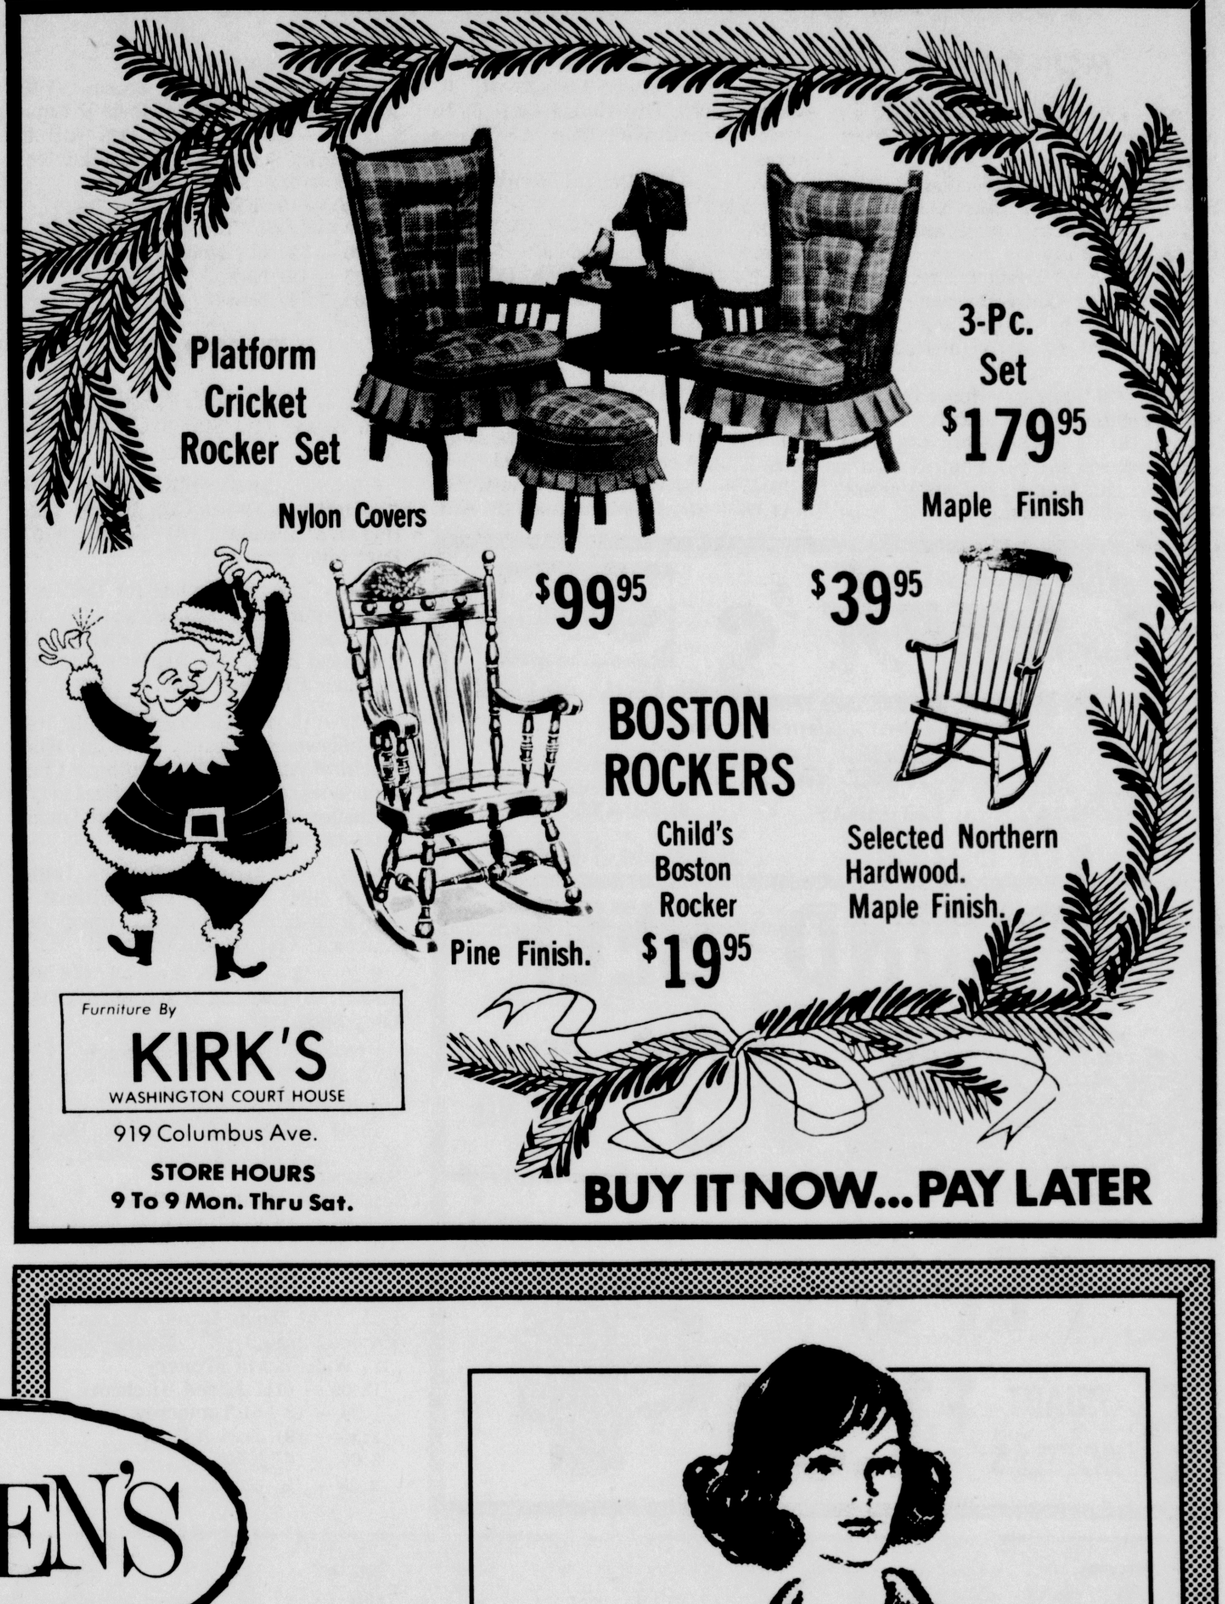

It was located some distance from the 10,000-acre Big Bone Lick State Park, which was the site of an extensive search for Nichols.

The discovery of ferocious wild pigs in the rugged backwoods country led to fear Nichols may have been attacked by the animals. Seven pigs had to be shot last week when they threatened searchers, police said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two network news presidents say they're delighted by a federal judge's memorandum that may pave the way for broadcast of White House tapes played during the Watergate cover-up trial.

But Richard S. Salant of CBS and Richard Wald of NBC agree it sets no legal precedent for eventually permitting live or delayed broadcast coverage of federal court cases they'd like to cover electronically.

"I don't think it goes that far," Salant said of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell's memo, which last week indicated the tapes probably will be released for broadcast after the cover-up trial ends.

"He was exceedingly clear that it doesn't set that kind of precedent," said Wald, emphasizing that this wasn't the intent of the broadcasters who sought court permission to air the tapes.

Bill Sheehan, ABC News president, was in Hawaii on business and couldn't be reached for comment.

His network, NBC, CBS, the Public Broadcasting Service, the Radio and Television News Directors Association and record firms had asked the U.S. District Court in Washington if they could copy the tapes.

Prior to that request, filed as a legal motion, CBS newsman Fred Graham and his NBC and CBS colleagues informally had asked the trial's presiding judge, John J. Sirica, for permission to air tapes played at the trial.

Sirica informally denied permission after seeking guidance from Judge George H. Hart Jr., head of the federal district court in Washington, who gave Sirca consensus of opinion by the court's judges.

Hart, in a memo to Sirica, said the judges felt verbatim tape transcripts provided the press "appear to constitute more than adequate disclosure" to the public of the tapes' contents.

In a key passage, he also noted the judges were concerned that release of the tapes for broadcast might prove a crack in the court's long-standing ban against any broadcast of court proceedings.

"In a sense, if we allow replay of what occurred in court," he said, referring to the playing of the tapes in court, "it will be very difficult to explain why we will not let a tape recorder be used by a court reporter to replay the entire proceedings."

NBC's Wald, reiterating his belief the Gesell memo isn't even a small step towards broadcast coverage of federal trials, says it nonetheless is a "very wholesome advance in the general concept of what evidence can be released from a trial."

As far as broadcast coverage of federal trials, both he and Salant say that still is something their networks would like to do.

"We think we can do it unobtrusively and we think that the courts will agree with us in the future," Wald said. "But this case has nothing to do with that."

Blaze at hotel being probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Fire officials were to probe the embers of the Hawley House hotel this morning, searching for clues to the origin of a Saturday night fire that killed one fire fighter, injured 11 persons and left 45 others homeless.

No damage estimate had been determined Saturday.

The most seriously injured of the residents, William Smith, 68, was in guarded condition with extensive burns at Metropolitan General Hospital's burn ward, a spokesman said.

Two fire fighters admitted to Lutheran Medical Center suffering from smoke inhalation and superficial burns were reported "doing nicely," by a spokeswoman there.

Ohio Perspective

Libertarian movement blooms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Libertarian movement hasn't exactly caught fire in Ohio, but its candidate for the U.S. Senate attracted almost 77,000 votes on Nov. 5 after campaigning on an undated laissez your own faire platform.

Kathleen G. Harroff, 43, was on the ballot as an independent, but she is a member of the new Libertarian Party which assumes a radical antigovernment stance that is far out of the major party political mainstream.

The two-year-old party stands for almost absolute individual liberties and a strict government hands-off just about everything policy that would leave a bureaucracy with very little to do.

Consequently, the libertarian philosophy is often labeled as utopian, or even anarchist.

Libertarians are finding their appeal in the growing cynicism toward government and professional politicians. Indeed, outgoing Gov. John J. Gilligan observed recently that Ohioans are "generally suspicious of government."

In a recent interview, Miss Harroff said her 76,882 vote total was the highest tally nationwide among any of the scattered Libertarian candidates. Official totals, particularly for minor candidates, are still not final in some states.

Miss Harroff finished a poor third in the Senate race with 2.57 per cent of the votes and was all but lost in media reports of John Glenn's lopsided victory.

She did, however, stage a mild upset by coming in nearly 15,000 votes ahead of another far more visible independent candidate, Richard Kay, a conservative with past ties to the American Independent Party.

Nevertheless, she was "discouraged and depressed" by the results and plans to take a sabbatical from politics. "I thought we could raise more money," lamented Miss Harroff who said she spent only $6,000 on her campaign.

For the future, her emphasis will be getting the party on the Ohio ballot in the 1976 presidential election, perhaps by capitalizing on renewed sentiment for a third party.

She is disdainful of most mainstream conservatives who have been identified with speculation about a third party.

"I think the conservative movement is nearly dead," she said. "Conservatives are bad on civil rights. We are very civil rights conscious. Not disregarding minorities, the idea is that people should be able to determine their own lifestyles."

While she contends "most people in the party are neither conservative nor liberal," many Libertarians describe themselves as traditional conservatives, harkening back to the small government philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. Ironically, Jefferson was considered a flaming liberal in his day.

The libertarian credo calls for: an absolutely free rein for free enterprise, a near isolationist foreign policy, abolition of penalties for victimless crimes and eventual elimination of all taxes.

Libertarians deny that they are "liberal conservatives." It is all very consistent, they say, the system will work through voluntarism.

In the absence of government controls and services, citizens would join forces to provide police and fire protection, sanitation and most of the other necessities offered by a welfare state.

The party claims 5,000 members nationwide, and few major elected officials have taken up its cause. Nor are the libertarians enamored of many politicos — Democrat or Republican.

Miss Harroff observes dryly that Reps. John M. Ashbrook, Clarence E. Miller and Clarence J. Brown, all Ohio Republicans, have been rated fairly highly by the Royce Report, the party's congressional scorecard.

Ashbrook has predicted that a third party could form along conservative lines if President Ford and other Republican leaders move too far leftward in the next two years.

The Libertarian Party in Ohio will have to get along without too much help from Kathleen Harroff for the time being. She plans to return to her job on the free market selling women's accessories.

She was founding chairman of the Ohio party in .972 and was named regional chairman for Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky and a member of the national executive committee in 1973. She resigned the posts to run for the Senate and intends to remain inactive "while I put the pieces back together."

The Moose, like all deer, is a ruminant. Related to domestic cattle, it has a four-chambered stomach.

H.L. Hunt heiress disdains wealth

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The daughter that H. L. Hunt always called "Peaches" says she doesn't believe money should rule her life. She just wants to make it as a singer.

"Peaches" is June Hunt, 29, the daughter of the Texas billionaire who died Nov. 29. She is thought to be one of America's wealthiest women because of her father's fortune.

But June says she isn't content to bask in the limelight cast by the Hunt empire. She's trying to make it in the entertainment world on her talent as a singer and guitarist.

She says that her great wealth frightens some people she meets and causes resentment in others.

"Money is necessary only to provide the necessities of life. It has nothing to do with true happiness," she says.

She will release her first record this month.

"It's kind of a novelty song. It's about a little blue man who follows this woman around," said Miss Hunt, who shuns flashy clothes and jewelry in favor of a conservative "tweedy" suit and gold necklace with a Biblical fish symbol.

She crossed her hazel eyes, twisted her face into a pixie expression and said: "He keeps telling the woman: 'I lub you, I lub you.' Finally, she pushes him off the top of a tall building. When she gets down to the street, there he is again. And do you know what he says this time? 'I don't lub you anymore'."

June Hunt says her singing began as a child when her father would pull her up next to him at the supper table of their home in Dallas and insist that she sing tunes that he liked.

She studied music at Southern Methodist University, then launched into a career in religion, becoming a youth and college director of First Baptist Church in Dallas. She began touring the country on speaking engagements that usually included some singing.

Miss Hunt's singing career got a boost in 1972 when she staged her own USO tour in Vietnam. Then, Truth Records, part of Stax Records in Memphis, became interested in her. The firm, famous for the "soul" music it produces, signed her as its first white female vocalist.

"The Little Blue Man" record is the first result. It will be promoted through use of toy blue men sent to record shops.

Unanimous vote seen for Ocasek

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Democratic caucus in Ohio's new Senate meet today with an Akron veteran predicting his second election as majority leader—this time by a unanimous vote.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, got 17 of the 21 Democrats' votes at an early caucus, but their dean, veteran Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, announced he would try to have them reconsider and pick him for the top post at the meeting called for today.

In the interim, Ocasek said he and Calabrese, the minority leader of the present Senate, had "a fine talk," and that the 67-year-old Clevelander now has agreed to support him. "I will be elected unanimously," Ocasek said.

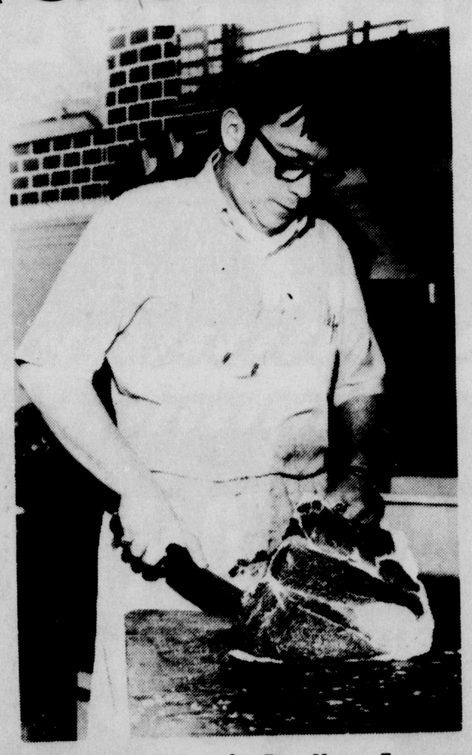

The Akron college professor, who has served in the Senate 16 years, said it was decided the caucus instead will devote itself to patronage and related matters for the opening session of the 111th General Assembly Jan. 6.

Meanwhile, both houses of the outgoing 110th Assembly plan skeleton sessions Tuesday at which time they intend to take "sine die," or final adjournment. That would put out of business the legislature that convened initially Jan. 1, 1973.

Newly elected leaders of both parties—Ocasek in the Senate and Speaker-Elect Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston in the House—are already looking at priorities that include a possible move to extend unemployment compensation benefits.

Achievements of two men often overlooked

Engineering partners in area development background

BY SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Gale Helms and Donald Conley are two Washington C. H. men seldom recognized for their achievements, which ultimately are responsible for many of the large developments taking place in the Washington C. H. area.

As partners in the Gale L. Helms and Associates Inc., they have provided the brain power and advice for complete surveying services behind such noted projects as the newly-constructed Kroger-Super X complex, K-Mart, Blue Drummer restaurant, Lawson's and HFC nursing home projects, not to mention several area housing developments including Belle-Aire South Subdivision and Wagon Wheel Estates in Washington C. H., Culpepper in Union Township, Woodsview in Jeffersonville, Flakes Ford Estates in Wayne Township and Westland and Southland Estates in New Holland.

FIRM'S PARTNERS — Gale L. Helms, left, and Donald Conley study a sketch in their new quarters on Oakland Avenue. The two men are largely responsible for a number of the large developments and construction projects in the Washington C.H. area.

NEW LOCATION — Because of rapid growth of the Gale L. Helms and Associates, Inc., firm, a new facility has been constructed at 222 N. Oakland Avenue. The engineering and surveying firm previously shared various offices with Weade-Miller Realty on E. Court Street.

"THERE ARE some projects already built, others under construction and many still in the planning stages," said Helms, who founded the corporation in 1966.

The Gale L. Helms and Associates, Inc., firm serves as a consulting engineering and surveying firm for between 100 and 150 projects per year. This total may include two or three large operations such as a new subdivision which will take possibly the whole year or longer to complete.

Because of the rapid growth of the corporation, the two men found it necessary to construct their own facility, rather than sharing various offices with the Weade-Miller Realty, E. Court Street.

The firm is now located at 222 N. Oakland Ave. in a 2,176 square foot brick office building, constructed by the Ware Construction Co. Included in the structure are three offices, a conference room for conferring with clients, reception area, a large drafting room, a blueprint and several work area, blueprint storage space and a staff lounge.

The present corporation employs a staff of 10, including accounting and clerical personnel. Helms is a licensed surveyor and Conley is a licensed professional engineer. Rounding out the firm's technical staff are Ronald L. Linton, a licensed surveyor, and William T. Temple, an Ohio State University graduate engineer-in-training.

Although engineers and surveyors are a necessary first step in any construction project, they are generally completely neglected for public recognition.

To point out the importance of surveyors, Helms and Conley have worked continuously with the attorneys, buyers, sellers, contractors and city since the conception of the Kroger project.

They provided the thought processes in the original work to obtain the site, worked with the title research, boundaries, negotiations and designing of the routes for roadway, water and sewer lines, building location and foundation in conjunction with the general contractor.

Other civil engineering projects the company has or is presently providing design services for are the designing of 3,600 feet of highway and a 156-foot span bridge over Rocky Fork Creek in Highland County, en eight-mile farm drainage improvement in Fayette and Greene counties (Grassy Branch ditch project) and complete central sewer and water facilities for several housing developments within the state.

A multi-million dollar housing development in Xenia designed by the local firm was spared by the April tornado that devastated much of the city, Conley said.

Both men noted the need for more trained technicians in the field of engineering and surveying. "We are in a technical field and with the electronic measuring equipment and precision instruments utilized in the firm, it is necessary to have some technical training," Helms said.

ALL TECHNICAL employes within their company have had some post-high school training and two were recently sent to receive additional training at the University of Kentucky, Conley added.

While most cities have been expanding their realms on the outskirts through suburbs, Helms and Conley have taken it on themselves to do what many would term the impossible — creating their own "model city."

The dream project, already in the two year's making, is the brainchild of the two men. They are predicting their model city will probably require 20 years to devise and complete. Included in their sketchy plans at present are 1,100 lots, schools, parks, shopping center, sewage plant, two creeks and four sewer lines in their own designs.

However, their's is not a new idea. There are now several completely new cities in existence in the United States today. But, Conley said the important thing is to devise one so it will succeed. An entirely new city in New York is experiencing financial problems and may be on the brink of collapsing, he added.

Their model city is proposed to be located in Warren County near the industrial centers of Middletown, Cincinnati and Dayton, and would cost an estimated $50 million to complete!

Helms graduated from Cincinnati Walnut Hills High School and attended the University of Cincinnati. He is a member of the South Side Church of Christ and is a past master of Fayette Lodge No. 107 F. & A.M.

He presently serves as executive vice president of the Professional Land Surveyors of Ohio and is a member of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and Surveyors and American Congress on Surveying and Mapping.

Helms was employed by the Fayette County engineer from 1958 until 1966 and Ayers and Graf, Consulting Engineers and Surveyors, Cincinnati, from 1951 to 1958. He and his wife, Bea, reside at 630 Hess Road.

Conley graduated from Madison Mills High School in 1958 and received a bachelor of civil engineering degree from Ohio State University in 1964. He and his wife, Sheila, have two children, Jeffery and Kimberly, and are also members of South Side Church of Christ where Conley serves as a deacon.

HE IS past president of the Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers, a member of Consulting Engineers of Ohio and serves as technical advisor to the city of Washington Planning Commission.

Conley was employed by M. M. Schirtzinger and Associates from 1969 to 1972, where his assignments included the design of the sewage collection and treatment system recently constructed in Jeffersonville.

Prior to 1969, he served as deputy Fayette County engineer (1966-1969) and was employed by the state of California from 1964-1966. He and his family reside at 6 Willis Court.

Store launches winter precedent

"Because of necessity, many people are going coatless this winter," said Wayne Anderson, manager of the local Buckeye Mart in Washington Square Shopping Center.

But Mary Lou Cooper, 5, and Larry Cooper, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooper, 715 S. Main St., are now bundled and prepared to meet any future freezing weather in their new coats, donated by the store to launch a week of winter coat promotion.

The early Christmas gifts to the Cooper children started a precedent in the Fayette County area by the Buckeye Mart management as a charity move to combat inflationary costs being experienced by consumers.

EARLY CHRISTMAS GIFT — Eight-year-old Larry Cooper is jubilant over his early Christmas gift of a brand new coat while Buckeye Mart manager Wayne Anderson checks it for the right fitting. Larry's younger sister, Mary Lou, also models a new coat donated by the store as part of a promotion while Mrs. Eli Craig, of Church Women United, looks on.

THIS MONDAY through Saturday, anyone may bring in a useable coat and trade it in for $5 off the purchase of a new coat, Anderson said.

The old coats will then be donated to the Church Women United organization for cleaning, repairing and distributing to needy families within the county, said Mrs. Eli Craig, spokesman for the group.

The local group sponsors about 135 familes in Fayette County per year in which they "try to give all the children something new at school time and Christmas time."

All the churches in the county are included in the organization, Mrs. Craig added. It is funded by membership dues and contributions, including funds from the Eyman Fund, a trust which stated that no children in Fayette County would go without shoes.

Mrs. Craig said the Buckeye Mart promotion was the first of its kind in the area. "It is a very good gesture what with clothing as high as it is — it's just so hard to keep up with the prices," she added.

Anderson said the store is planning to make the donations to charity an annual event depending on the success of this year's venture. The store is open from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily and Sunday 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Gun show attracts 164 exhibitors

Despite wintry weather conditions, a total of 164 exhibitors attended the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association's indoor show Saturday and Sunday on the Fayette County Fairground.

Kenneth Craig, association president, said three of the 164 exhibitors established their displays near the front of the Mahan Building while the others were inside the Mahan and Fine Arts buildings and the enclosed breezeway between the two buildings. The three "eskimos" who set up outside were exhibiting fruits and miscellaneous items.

Considering weather conditions, nearly all the convenient parking spaces on the Fairground were filled for both days of the winter show.

There was no competition at the weekend show. No competition will be held until April. The next indoor winter show will be held Jan. 11-12.

On Sunday afternoon, all officers and members of the board of directors were re-elected.

Craig was re-elected president; Homer Wilson, vice president; Coyt A. Stookey, executive secretary, and Mrs. Nancy Stookey, assistant secretary. Board members re-elected were Harry Rife, Robert Case, J.W. (Bootts) Sears, Ottice Stookey, Ervin Ritter and Van L. Matlack.

Poll shows Ford ahead

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll says that if the presidential election were held now, President Ford would win over three leading Democrats.

Ford would receive 48 per cent of the vote to 45 per cent for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and 7 per cent undecided, the poll showed.

Gallup said that if Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was the candidate, Ford would get 47 per cent to Jackson's 42 per cent, with 11 per cent undecided.

The poll showed that Ford would receive a clear majority only in a race with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who would get 39 per cent to Ford's 53 per cent and 8 per cent undecided.

The survey of 1,557 adults in 300 localities took place Nov. 8-11.

New snowfall beckons street, road workers

An accumulation of about one-half inch of new snow greeted Fayette County area residents Monday morning and freezing or near-freezing weather is forecast to continue through Tuesday.

The weather conditions pressed street and road crews into operation late Sunday and early Monday.

Workers from the city street department began salt spreading operations on Washington C.H. streets at 2 a.m. Monday. Oliver Flowers, of the city street department, said two men in one truck spread approximately 10 tons of salt over the slippery streets.

Snow and ice removal operations were also handled by workers from the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County and members of the Fayette County Highway Department. The two departments were concentrating heavily on drifted spots on the roadways.

GENE FITZPATRIC, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Transportation garage here, said workmen in 10 trucks began the snow removal tasks at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The Washington C.H. area received .42 of an inch of precipitation in a 48-hour period ending at 7 a.m. Monday, according to Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer.

Stookey said last night's minimum temperature reached a chilly 20 degrees.

Weather permitting, a number of other projects will be handled by the city street department and county road workers.

Installation of sewer lines on E. Market Street, clearing of banks along Paint Creek and other general maintenance chores will be handled by the city crewmen, while the county workers will be repairing bridges on Old Charleston and Parrott-Station roads, and drainage projects in Jefferson and Madison townships.

Knowles could be 'most heinous murderer'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A lanky, red-haired Florida parolee, already charged with six murders, may be questioned by authorities elsewhere about murders that occurred during the two-month period in which he may have visited 37 or more states. Paul John Knowles, 28, was arrested near McDonough, Ga. on Nov. 17 after allegedly abudcting a Florida state trooper and a Delaware businessman in Florida. Their bodies were found four days later in south Georgia and he was charged with their murders.

Knowles has also been charged with four other murders and is wanted for questioning in at least 11 more slayings or disappearances in Connecticut, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico.

All that led Ellis Rubin of Miami, a lawyer involved in one aspect of Knowles' case, to tell reporters last week:

"There are many, many more murders that will be disclosed, making Mr. Knowles the most heinous murderer in history —if he is convicted."

Rubin represents another lawyer to whom Knowles turned over tape recordings last October. Rubin is trying to get a federal appeals court to keep the tapes from being used as evidence against Knowles.

Rubin said his "observation" about Knowles was based on information given to him by a federal judge about the "incrimination nature" of the recordings, which Knowles reportedly has boasted could make him as famous as "Bonnie and Clyde."

In addition to the murder charges stemming from the kidnaping, Knowles also has been charged with two other slayings in Georgia and with the death of a Florida housewife in August and the slaying of an Ohio Power Co. official in Ohio on Sept. 3.

He is wanted for questioning in the Nov. 7 slayings of a Jonesboro, Ga., high school band director and a young girl; the death of a Jacksonville, Fla., woman whose automobile turned up in Lima, Ohio; the slaying of a hitchhiker near Macon, Ga., on Nov. 15 and the disappearance of his traveling companion, and in deaths in Connecticut, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico.

Georgia Bureau of Investigation Inspector Ron Angel said the state agency is preparing a complete file on Knowles to send to police in areas where he is known to have been.

Authorities say it is the Ohio murder that has produced the evidence on Knowles' nationwide travels. Detective James Ketcham of the Allen County, Ohio, Sheriff's Department, said there is evidence that Knowles drove through 37 states from Sept. 4 until his capture, using credit cards and the car that belonged to the victim, William Bates.

Ketcham says a handwriting comparison indicates that Knowles signed Bates' name to charge gasoline and food in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Alabama and Missouri.

He said receipts also turned up from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Maryland.

Georgia authorities acknowledge they have been deluged with requests for information about Knowles from other states, but are operating under a gag rule pending Knowles' Georgia trials.

Another key figure in the case is Sheldon Yavitz, Knowles' personal attorney. Yavitz said Knowles gave him the tapes on Oct. 26.

Yavitz initially refused to release them to a federal judge in Macon, Ga. and was jailed on contempt charges.

Dear Folks,
Have you ever thot:
that you use more gas,
when energy is so badly needed;
that parking is next to impossible,
when it's always handy here;
that your patience gets frazzled,
when you can browse and relax with a cup of coffee;
and that all that out-of-town buying costs you extra money, when shopping at home can give you the same quality, for less expense and wear and tear.

Lions fall in overtime, 61-56

BY MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

LONDON — Washington Court House absorbed a heartbreaking 61-56 overtime loss to the Golden Eagles of Madison Plains. The loss sends the Lions overall season mark to 1-3, while their South Central Ohio League card remains 0-1.

While Madison Plains held a decisive advantage in height, the Lions still managed to out-rebound them 40-35. The Lions also led in assists, 13-8 and in turnovers, 16-15. Also, the Lions, who have been trying to limit their fouling habits, out-fouled the Plainsmen, 20-15.

The shooting averages were about even for the two teams. Washington attempted 64 field goals and connected on 24 of them for a 38 per cent average. Madison Plains made 23 of 55 shots for a 42 per cent average.

The facet of the game that decided the contest was the foul shooting. At the charity stripe, Madison collected 16 points while giving up only eight to Court House. The Eagles tried 26 free throws for a 62 per cent average, while the Lions went to the line just 12 times for an average of 67 per cent.

The game began with Lion head coach Gary Shaffer employing a three guard attack that had worked so well the night before at East Clinton. However, the attack did not work quite as well, even though the score was tied 12-12 at the end of the first quarter. Sparkplugs for the teams were the Eagles' Tim Bogenrife and the Lions' Craig Shaffer, who each totalled half of their team's first period points.

During the second period, the Eagles got 18 points, 10 by center Dave Joslin and eight by guard Russ Tope. The Lions received balanced scoring in the second stanza with guard Chuck Byrd and center John Denen handling much of the point-getting. The score at the half was 30-28 in favor of Madison Plains.

After intermission, the Lions came thundering out of the box and thumped 10 unanswered points on the scoreboard to go ahead 38-32. However, the Eagles put together a string of points on their own later in the period as they hung up 11 straight counters, 10 of them scored by Joslin. After that surge, Junior Doug Phillips put on a show of his own and scored seven consecutive points. The result was a slim 47-45 Lion lead going into the final period.

The teams battled furiously throughout the fourth quarter trying to win the game. It finally boiled down to the last 10 seconds of regulation time with Garry Scott at the foul line with the score tied. Scott missed the shot and sent the game into overtime.

During the three minute overtime period, Washington was shut out in the scoring department, while Madison Plains scored five points. The game ended with the score: Madison Plains 61, Washington C. H. 56.

Leading all scorers was Joslin with 27 points, backed up by Tope, who collected 19. Bogenrife chipped in with eight points.

The Lion scoring was paced for the second consecutive night by Phillips, who had 19 to go along with 23 at East Clinton. Complimenting Phillips in the scoring were Byrd and Denen with 11 and 10 tallies, respectively.

Box score

WASHINGTON C. H. (56): Byrd (5-1-11); Denen (4-2-10); Phillips (9-1-19); Upthegrove (1-2-4); Shaffer (4-0-8); Knisley (1-0-2); Vess (0-2-2); Total (24-8-56).

MADISON PLAINS (61): Joslin (8-11-27); Newman (1-1-3); Tope (8-3-19); Smith (1-0-2); Scott (1-0-2); Bogenrife (4-0-8); Total (23-15-61).

The rebounding crew of Washington was again headed up by Phillips, who pulled down 15 missed shots. Denen and Ken Upthegrove backed him up with six rebounds each. The Plains rebounding was handled by Joslin and Bogenrife.

Phillips wound up an outstanding weekend with 42 points and 37 rebounds against Madison Plains and East Clinton.

Washington's next game will be their first home game next Friday night at the WSHS gym. Their opponents will be the Shermans from Unioto for an SCOL game. Starting time for the reserve game will be 6:30 p.m.

Jayvees win over Eagles

Ending their losing streak at three games, the Washington Court House reserves whipped the Madison Plains jayvees by a score of 58-54. The Lions got balanced scoring all around but failed to get anyone in double figures.

The Eagles were the exact opposites in that only five players scored at all, paced by 5-foot-11 sophomore Pete Sullivan, who threw in 30 points. Sixteen of his 30 tallies came in the fourth quarter.

Leading the Lion scoring charge were Mark Heiny with nine, Doug Stewart and Sam McClendon with eight, and Dee Foster and Scott Johnson with seven each.

The win brings their season record to 1-3, the Lions dropped their first three games to Groveport, Circleville, and East Clinton. They meet the Unioto Shermans in a SCOL bout next Friday in the WSHS gymnasium. Washington is 0-1 in the league.

Wolfpack dumps Virginia

"The way the officiating was, I thought we were playing the Russians."

It was obvious that Coach Norm Sloan of North Carolina State was not happy with the referees Saturday night.

But his displeasure was tempered by the pleasure over his team's performance, a rousing 101-72 basketball victory over Virginia.

"I thought Virginia played very aggressively," said the coach of the nation's No. 1-ranked team, who was particularly unhappy about the way the Cavaliers treated David Thompson.

"Even though Thompson is a superstar, he should receive the same type of officiating as other players," snapped Sloan. "Virginia was sacrificing the fouls to keep David down. I was very disturbed about the physical contact and officiating. Thompson was getting held too much. Those guys have been around too long to call it differently. It was different for David than it was for anyone else...."

But apparently the strongarm stuff didn't work too well. Thompson scored 24 points, giving Virginia's less experienced team a basketball lesson.

Elsewhere in college basketball, No. 2 UCLA defeated Oklahoma State 82-51; No. 3 Indiana trounced No. 15 Kentucky 98-74; No. 4 Maryland stopped Long Island University 99-84; Oklahoma upset fifth-ranked South Carolina 90-84; No. 7 Kansas turned back Iowa 89-54; eighth-rated Marquette whipped St. Mary's, Calif., 93-66; No. 9 North Carolina defeated No. 20 Houston 96-87, and No. 10 Southern Cal beat Utah 102-82.

Alabama, the nation's No. 11 team, fought off East Carolina 99-86; No. 13 Notre Dame beat Princeton 80-66, and 19th-rated Michigan edged Tennessee 78-74.

Phil Spence helped Thompson put stress on the Virginia defense, scoring 26 points. Sloan pulled both players with six minutes left in the game and the Wolfpack reserves helped push their score over the century mark. It was the fourth straight victory for North Carolina State and first in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Virginia, 0-1 in the ACC and 2-1 over-all, was led by Wally Walker's 16 points.

UCLA scored its 69th straight home victory as four Bruins scored in double figures. UCLA's Marques Johnson and Jim Spillane led all scorers with 13 points each and the Bruins got 11 points from Dave Meyers and 10 from Wilbert Olinde.

The UCLA victory at Pauley Pavilion extended the longest home-court winning streak in the nation. Long Beach State had its home winning string ended at 77 games earlier last week.

Indiana had a surprisingly easy time of it with Kentucky, crushing the Southeastern Conference team behind Kent Benson's 26 points and Scott May's 25.

Steve Shappard sparked a second-half rally and scored 24 points, leading Maryland over Long Island for the Terps' third straight victory of the season.

Oklahoma upset South Carolina behind Alvan Adams, who scored 20 points and grabbed nine rebounds. After taking a 38-32 halftime lead, the Sooners went ahead by 15 points three times in the second half.

Kansas took control of the backboards and center Danny Knight sank 17 points, leading the Jayhawks' rout of Iowa. Kansas broke fast and built big leads in the first half, virtually putting the game away by intermission.

Bo Ellis and Earl Tatum each scored 17 points and playmaker Lloyd Walton added 16, helping Marquette beat St. Mary's. The Warriors had a 39-31 lead by the half and pulled away to a 58-41 lead in the first six minutes of the second half.

Tigers set for showdown

McClain and Circleville each kept their undefeated marks alive Saturday evening. Greenfield topped East Clinton 62-55 and Circleville downed Teays Valley 57-42.

With the victories, Greenfield is now 4-0 and Circleville is 5-0 for the season. The two teams will face each other on Circleville's court this Friday.

Bill Flynn and Steve Willett led the McClain victory over East Clinton. Flynn tallied 18 points, while Willett added 14.

Circleville out-scored the Vikings 33-17 in the second half to secure its win. Perry Hoskins, George Moore and Biff Bumgarner each tossed in 12 points.

Buckeyes collapse at Davidson, 88-80

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, a flop in its first road show of the basketball season, returns to its friendly St. John Arena confines for four games in an eight-day stretch.

The Buckeyes, socked with their first loss 88-80 at Davidson Saturday night, take on visiting Ohio University Saturday night.

Virginia Tech, Texas-Arlington and Georgia Tech follow the Bobcats into Columbus.

Ohio State, 2-1, blew a 64-49 lead with less than 13 minutes to play at Davidson. The Wildcats, 2-0, resorted to a fullcourt pressing defense to turn the tide.

Ohio State lost four players, including high scorer Bill Andreas with 26 points, via personal fouls. Also fouling out were Larry Bolden, Mark Bayless and Craig Taylor, three other regulars.

A pair of native Ohioans, Greg Dunn and Jay Powell, combined with Larry Horowitz to torpedo the Buckeyes. Horowitz collected 25 points, Dunn 22 and Powell 20.

Meanwhile, two of Ohio's independent powers, Cincinnati and Dayton, had little trouble in stretching their records to 2-1 Saturday night.

Cincinnati's Bearcats cuffed St. Joseph's, Ind., 81-68 behind freshman Steve Collier's 24 points. Dayton blew past Xavier 75-66, with sophomore Johnny Davis' 23 points the big item.

In the Mid-American, preseason title choices Bowling Green and Toledo continued to sharpen their talents on nonconference opposition.

Bowling Green, off to a 3-0 start, beat St. Joseph's, Pa., 86-64, with Steve Cooper, a transfer from Toledo, hitting 17 points. Russell Frost, a senior in his second career start, poured in 21 points in Toledo's 82-63 verdict over Ball State.

Steve Fields missed only one of 11 floor shots, leading Miami past Wright State 85-61. Billy McKinney and Bard Cartwright each hit two free throws in the last eight seconds to give Northwestern a 71-68 triumph over Ohio U. Walter Luckett had 27 points for the Bobcats.

Kent State almost pulled off its first victory in four starts for new Coach Rex Hughes Jr., before falling to touted Bradley (3-0) 77-76.

In the lone Ohio Conference game, Steve Dobbin's free throw in the waning seconds handed Ohio Wesleyan a 36-35 verdict over Ohio Northern.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, Bernard Pope's 24 points propelled Defiance past Taylor 103-86. Findlay nipped Bluffton 70-68 behind Gary Burton's 17 points and 15 by John Simmons.

Elsewhere, it was Heidelberg 86, Wilmington 66; Walsh 55, Denison 52; Otterbein 79, Ohio Dominican 66; Wooster 53, Case Western Reserve 42; Capital 78, Malone 74 OT.

Also, Oberlin 101, CarnegieMellon 60; Wheeling 89, Tiffin 67; Youngstown State 107, Southern California College 66; Central State 80, Tri-State 64; Morehead State 64, Akron 56.

Central Michigan upsets Bulldogs

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Louisiana Tech Coach Maxie Lambright doesn't think the pressure of being No. 1 in the nation had much to do with his team losing for the first time in 24 games, but the pressure applied by the Central Michigan defense did.

Lambright's Bulldogs are tops in The Associated Press College Division poll and came here for a National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II semifinal match with a 23-game winning streak.

But they were handed a 35-15 defeat by fourth-ranked Central Michigan in the Pioneer Bowl Saturday and the setback broke the nation's longest winning string.

"I don't think it was pressure exactly," Lambright said. "It was just a happening. If we knew a remedy for it, we'd bottle it and sell it."

The pressure applied by the Central Michigan defense forced the Bulldogs into seven turnovers, including six interceptions, a Central record. The NCAA College Division playoff record is seven.

"I'm sure the wind (20 miles an hour) must have hurt them," said Central Michigan Coach Roy Kramer. "The wind took away their deep threat and our defense did a good job of undercoverage."

Lambright discounted any talk that the wind aided the Chippewas and heaped all the praise on their linebacking corps which came up with four of the interceptions.

Central quarterback Mike Franckowiak, who ran for one touchdown and passed to split end Matt Means for another, was named the game's most valuable offensive player. But it wasn't the big passer or tailback Walt Hodges, the game's leading rusher with 118 yards and one touchdown, who drew praise for the Chippewas' big offensive showing.

Fullback Dick Dunham, who scored twice for Central Michigan, shared billing with the defense in Kramer's victory speech.

"Dunham became a big factor in the third quarter," Kramer said. "We made them worry about the pass and the outside run early, then we brought Dunham back up the middle."

A big factor in the CMU defense was middle guard Rich Newsome, who was voted the game's most valuable defensive player.

Central Michigan will meet Delaware, 49-11 and winner over Nevada-Las Vegas, for the national championship next Saturday in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

Elsewhere, Central Iowa won the NCAA Division III crown by edging Ithaca 10-8 and Texas Lutheran captured NAIA Division II honors with a 42-0 rout of Missouri Valley.

In NAIA Division I semifinal play, Henderson State of Arkansas downed Elon of North Carolina 21-7 and Texas A&I edged Cameron, Okla. 21-19.

NEED A JOB?

Here are a few tips to use when comparing a civilian job with an Air Force enlistment.

You should receive at least $344.10 starting salary. This sum reflects take home pay after medical insurance is taken out. Also request regular promotions with pay raises for length of employment.

Request 30 days paid vacation per year starting with your first year. You should have low rate or free world travel privileges anytime on vacation.

You must be able to continue your education with the company paying 75 per cent of the cost of learning. If you are selected for college, your tuition should be paid and your normal salary continued.

Ask for $300 worth of clothing and a monthly maintenance allowance, plus rations and housing allowance.

Make sure the company has a swimming pool, tennis courts, golf course, library and movie theater for your use.

Your employer should also provide unlimited sick leave with pay, and don't forget, free dental care for you and free medical care for you and your family.

The company should provide grocery, department, laundry, variety and other stores which reduce your expenses up to 30 per cent.

Secure a job for your future now and leave after the Holidays. Your Air Force Recruiter has all the details.

Kings end streak with 96-92 win

By The Associated Press

"I hate losing streaks," said Kansas City-Omaha Coach Phil Johnson. "We've never lost more than four in a row since I've been here."

Johnson was feeling his oats Sunday after watching his Kings beat Detroit 96-92 to pull within a half-game of the Pistons in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division. It was also the first time the club has won a game in Detroit's Cobo Arena since Dec. 29, 1969. That was 13 games ago.

"We were about due," admitted Johnson. "We hustled and moved well. This was the best we've played defense in quite some time."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Washington defeated Cleveland 88-75, Boston beat New Orleans 111-101, Los Angeles trimmed Phoenix 107-102 and Atlanta downed Seattle 102-95.

San Diego dumped San Antonio 104-92 in the lone American Basketball Association game.

Detroit Coach Ray Scott said his team was worn out from playing four games in five days.

Kansas City-Omaha jumped out to a 25-19 first-quarter lead but it was nip and tuck the rest of the way. Ron Behagen scored what proved to be the winning basket in the final minute.

Jimmy Walker and Nate Archibald scored 18 points apiece to lead the balanced Kings' attack. Bob Lanier had 32 for Detroit, 12 of them in the final period.

Bullets 88, Cavaliers 75

Elvin Hayes pumped in 10 of his 18 points in the third quarter as Washington posted its sixth straight victory. Phil Chenier topped the winners with 24, while Jim Cleamons and Dick Snyder had 14 each for Cleveland.

Celtics 111, Jazz 101

Jo Jo White scored 21 points and John Havlicek and Paul Westphal added 20 apiece for Boston. Jim Barnett netted 29 points for the Jazz, who lost for the 23rd time in 25 outings.

Lakers 107, Suns 102

Lucius Allen tossed in 19 points, had 13 assists and made six steals as Los Angeles rallied from a 10-point third-quarter deficit. Charlie Scott led Phoenix with 28 points.

Hawks 102, Sonics 95

Rookie John Drew scored 27 points for Atlanta and Dwight Jones added 18. Spencer Haywood led Seattle with 18 points.

Conquistadors 104, Spurs 92

Center Caldwell Jones, out six games with a sprained ankle, returned to score 11 points in the final quarter for San Diego. Travis Grant paced the winners with 20 points and George Gervin and Swen Nater had 17 each for San Antonio.

All-Star grid game could be moved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio High School Football All-Star Game will be switched from August to June next year and it may also be moved from Canton.

The board of directors of the sponsoring Ohio High School Football Coaches Association will meet in Columbus Dec. 22 to review the game's future.

Dolphins, Steelers clinch titles

Don Shula kept the faith and Franco Harris accepted the challenge.

So the Miami Dolphins — shooting for their third straight Super Bowl crown — and the Pittsburgh Steelers — longing for their first one — each won division championships in the National Football League Sunday.

And the Detroit Lions didn't fold, so two of the four National Conference representatives for the playoffs two weeks hence are still undecided — with four teams still in the running as the NFL heads into the final week of regular-season play.

"It's been a strange year," said Dolphin Coach Shula after Miami edged Baltimore 17-16 to win its fourth straight American Conference East title. "At one time we were in third place in our own division but I never doubted we'd win it. I've always kept the faith."

Franco Harris ground out 136 yards against New England as the Steelers won 21-17 and captured the AFC Central crown. "I expected it would be a real grind-out game," said Harris. "It was a real challenge."

Detroit, meanwhile, beat Cincinnati 23-19, winning in the final 29 seconds, and this is how the playoff picture stands:

American Conference
Buffalo at Pittsburgh.
Miami at Oakland.
National Conference
St. Louis or Washington at Minnesota.
St. Louis or Washington or Dallas or Detroit at Los Angeles.

The Cardinals are in the playoffs, regardless of what the other three teams do. Tonight's nationally televised game — Washington at Los Angeles — could clear up the NFC situation.

A Washington victory eliminates both Detroit and Dallas and the Redskins and Cardinals could do that old vaudeville routine, with a slightly new twist — "Who's on first, what's on second and who cares about third."

St. Louis needs either a victory or a Washington loss to win the NFC East title and a trip to Minnesota on Dec. 21. Otherwise, the Cardinals go to Los Angeles. Washington has to lose both of its remaining games and Dallas must beat Oakland next Saturday to get the NFC wild-card. Detroit needs a victory over Philadelphia plus losses by both Washington and Dallas for a chance.

Two playoff-bound teams lost Sunday. The New York Jets, with Joe Namath making what may be his last home appearance, upset Buffalo 20-10 and the New Orleans Saints shocked the Cardinals 14-0.

Elsewhere Sunday, it was Oakland 7, Kansas City 6; Denver 37, Houston 14; San Diego 28, Chicago 21; San Francisco 7, Green Bay 6; and Philadelphia 20, New York Giants 10.

On Saturday, Dallas beat Cleveland 41-17 to keep its playoff hopes flickering and Minnesota whipped Atlanta 23-10.

Dolphins 17, Colts 16

Bob Griese passed four yards to Howard Twilley and Larry Csonka scored on a one-yard run to give the Dolphins a 14-0 lead. Garo Yepremian tacked on a field goal which proved the difference as Baltimore got three field goals from Toni Linhart and a two-yard, fourthquarter scoring pass from Bert Jones to Bill Olds.

Steelers 21, Patriots 17

"The yardage really surprises me, I can't believe I got that much," said Harris of the 29 carries that netted him 136 yards and a TD for the Steelers.

Pittsburgh's clinching score, however, was a seven-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Lynn Swann in the third period.

Lions 23, Bengals 19

"It only was supposed to be a short gainer," said Detroit's Ron Jessie of the 45-yard Greg Landry pass he caught to set up the Lions' winning touchdown. The play carried to the Cincinnati eight, from where Landry threw the game-winner to Charlie Sanders.

Jets 20, Bills 10

The Jets won their fifth in a row by beating the Bills. Playing on a muddy and sloppy field, New York went ahead in the fourth quarter on a 36-yard pass from Namath to Jerome Barkum. Linebacker Ralph Baker clinched it with a 67-yard scoring run with a stolen Buffalo pass.

Saints 14, Cardinals 0

All New Orleans needed to beat the Cardinals was a 67-yard gallop in the first quarter by rookie Alvin Maxson. But Paul Seal, also a rookie, added an insurance TD for the Saints in the final period on a seven-yard end-around play.

Raiders 7, Chiefs 6

Ageless George Blanda kicked the extra point that gave Oakland its victory over the Chiefs. Another Oakland veteran, quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who had played in only one previous series all season, got the Raiders a touchdown on a 10-yard pass to Cliff Branch.

Broncos 37, Oilers 14

Otis Armstrong scored three touchdowns and gained 183 yards for Denver, widening his lead among NFL rushers. Armstrong now has 1,265 yards this year and has surpassed the Bronco season rushing record of 1,133 yards set when Floyd Little won the NFL crown in 1971. Armstrong also eclipsed Little's single-game mark of 166 yards.

49ers 7, Packers 6

Rookie running back Del Williams scored a touchdown with 9:22 left and Bruce Gossett's extra-point kick gave the 49ers their victory.

Chargers 28, Bears 21

Bo Matthews' one-yard TD run won for San Diego. Rookie quarterback Jesse Freitas' passes to Harrison Davis, also a rookie, helped the Chargers score twice in the final period.

Eagles 20, Giants 7

Rookie Mike Broyla passed to Charles Young for one touchdown and Tom Sullivan scored twice on short runs for the Eagles.

Miami's Crum picked Ohio's top coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Dick Crum, whose Miami of Ohio team holds the nation's second longest unbeaten string of 22 games, is the 1974 Ohio College Football Coach of the Year.

The 40-year-old Crum was selected for the honors in the Columbus Dispatch's 23rd annual poll of the state's 32 college football coaches. He will receive the award during the Dispatch All—High Major Sports Banquet next March.

Crum, who guided Miami to its second straight Mid—American Conference football championship this season, edged Ray Dempsey of Youngstown State, an NCAA Division II playoff semifinalist, in the balloting.

Dave Maurer, whose Wittenberg Tigers won their second Ohio Conference title in a row, was the third choice of the coaches.

It was the first time any university had won the honor two straight years. The 1973 coach of the year was Bill Mallory, who left Miami to become head coach at the University of Colorado.

Crum, defensive backfield coach under Mallory for five years, was the only member of Mallory's staff who did not accompany him to Colorado.

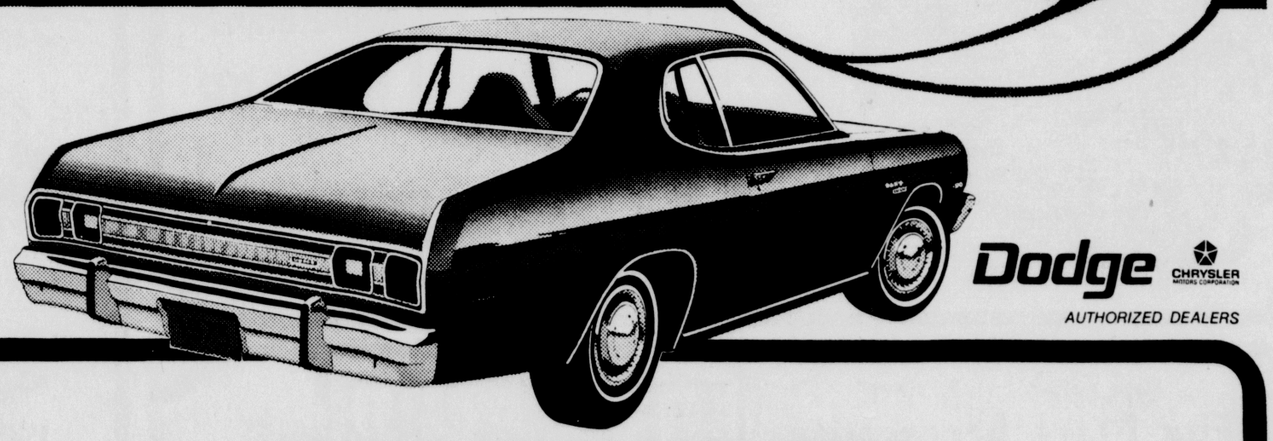

He rebuilt the Miami coaching staff and squad and led the Redskins to a 9-0-1 season, the conference title and a second straight Tangerine Bowl appearance.

The Redskins will meet Georgia in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 21. Last year, Miami beat Florida in the bowl, played at Gainesville, Fla.

EACH YEAR during the holiday season thousands of people have toured our old store recalling the nostalgia and warmth of Christmases years ago. We wish to inform the public that we have moved our store from 117 N. Main Street to THE HISTORIC MAIN STREET MARKET at the end of old South Main Street. Here you may browse through room after room of thousands of oldtime, made-with-care and pride, country store products. Pottery, earthenware, jewelry, china, sweet tooth candies, and lollypops, "Ribtickling" jokes, hand-dipped candles-rings-and things, rich fragrant soaps, stocking "stuffins," rafters of Early American woodenware and hand forged iron accessories, very new and very old beautiful furniture, famous wood and brass cleaners and finishers, authentic furniture hardware, 1975 calendar towels in scenes of Currier and Ives, beautiful old fashioned children's wheeled toys and Bisque dolls, handcrafted colonial pattern glassware and lamps, plus one of the largest selections to be found of restoration glass lamp shades, fabric shades, chimneys, plus electric and oil converters and any replacement parts for both antique and modern lamps. (Bring your lamps along for fitting . . . a perfect gift idea, too.)

If you have never been here before, we suggest you plan your visit this week, before the Christmas rush begins. Weekdays are best. Plan on two hours - you can rest your weary feet on our potbelly stove. We hope those of you and your families who have enjoyed our old store, find our "New" Old store the same pleasant, comfortable, friendly, experience of a bygone day. The seasons best to you and yours from all of the store-keepers here at THE GENERAL STORE in THE HISTORIC MAIN STREET MARKET, Near the crossroads of Marysville, Ohio at 335 Old Main Street, South, (Look for our two huge rain barrels). Holiday hours: 9:00 to 9:00 weekdays, Sundays 1:00 to 8:00. Easy Old time, no interest payment plans, even use your modern charge cards. We also wholesale to other peddlers, dealers, and flea marketeers who have a vendors license. Discounts to employers and organizations buying quantities of merchandise. See you soon? It's easy to get here on St. Rt. 38, 24 miles N. of London, Ohio. Two fine restaurants within two blocks of Market. (513) 642-6901.

12 persons die in weekend auto crashes

By The Associated Press

A dozen persons died in a dozen separate traffic accidents across Ohio this weekend, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

Three of the dead were pedestrians, killed in accidents in Clermont County, Euclid and Warren County.

The weekend count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

DOVER — Edna Haas, 52, Dover, when the car in which she was riding collided with another in Dover.

SATURDAY

MINGO JUNCTION — Joesph Weigand, 24, Follansbee, W. Va., in a one car accident in Mingo Junction.

NEWARK — Thomas Sanders, 34, Columbus, in a one-car accident on a Licking County road.

MASSILLON — Larry Ickes, 19, Tuscarawas, in a head-on collision with a truck on Ohio 21 south of Massillon.

BATAVIA — Mastin Wright, 52, Williamsburg, hit by an auto along U. S. 50 in Clermont County.

TOLEDO — Marty Marshall, 23, Toledo, in a one-car accident on a Toledo city street.

EUCLID — Ernie Kovacs, 41, Cleveland, when the car in which he was riding slammed into the rear of a truck stopped for a red light in Euclid.

CLEVELAND — Teodor Pszyszczanica, 67, Madison, when struck by a car in Euclid.

SUNDAY

COLUMBUS — Bruce Williams, 21, Columbus, when his foreign car was hit by another vehicle on the city's North Side and exploded in flames, burning him to death.

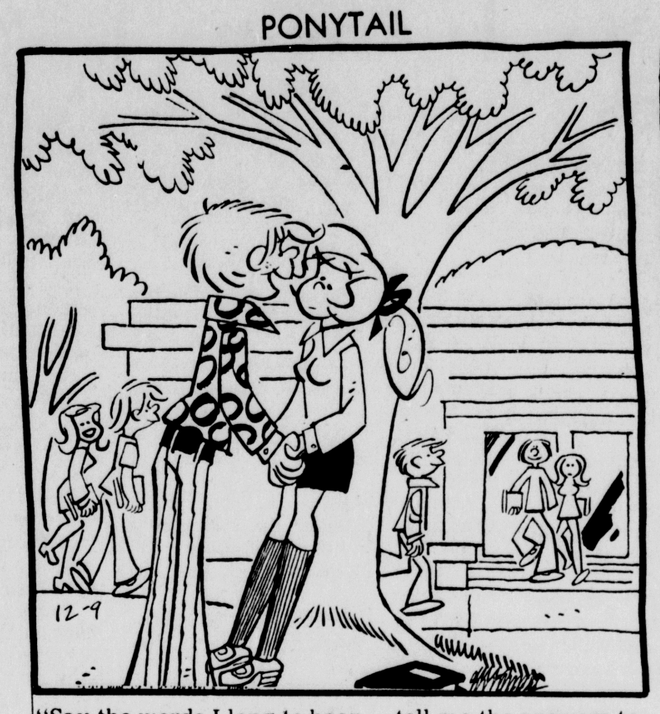

DAYTON — Anthony Smith, 12, no address, in a two-car accident on Ohio 4 in Montgomery County.

JACKSON — John L. Tindall, 52, of Jackson, in a one-car accident on a Jackson County road.

LEBANON — John H. Watkins, 25, of Loveland, when struck by an auto as he walked along U.S. 22 in Warren County.

Opening lead - four of clubs.

The United States played Japan for the very first time in the 1972 World Bridge Olympiad and had much the best of the exchange. This deal contributed greatly to the outcome.

At the first table, with Hamman and Soloway North-South for the U.S., the bidding went in the manner shown. The one club bid was artificial, showing at least 17 points, and the heart response was also artificial, showing at least 6 points.

One notrump indicated a balanced hand with 18 to 20 points, and two clubs was Stayman, asking for a major suit. Two spades was natural and four hearts showed good spade support with a singleton heart! The K-J-7 of hearts lost part of their glamour when they were known to be facing a singleton, so South signed off with four spades.

As it happened, Soloway made six with an assist from the defense and the U.S. scored 480 points.

When Hatoyama and Kimijima were North-South, they got to six on this sequence:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	6 ♠

Had Wolff led a heart, the slam undoubtedly would have been made, but he was sufficiently inspired to lead a diamond. Declarer won with the ace, cashed three spades and five clubs, discarding his diamond loser, and played the singleton heart from dummy.

Jacoby smoothly followed low, and Kimijima was faced with the moment of truth. Unfortunately, he played the jack rather than the king, hoping to find East with the queen instead of the ace, and as a result the slam went down one. Had Kimijima guessed right, he would have scored plus 980 instead of minus 50.

Frostbite: Prevention Best

I had a bad case of frostbite last year. Even though I completely recovered I worry that there is something wrong with my circulation that will make this happen again.

Mr. J.D., Minn.

Dear Mr. D.:

It is undoubtedly true that people with poor circulation are more susceptible to low temperatures. But even those with good circulation, when exposed to freezing levels, can be hit with frostbite.

Frostbite is an injury to the delicate, exposed tissues of the body. It is imperative for those people living, working or playing in cold climate to recognize the earliest symptoms of frostbite.

A sensation of pins and needles, numbness, and a distinct pallor can be the beginning of frostbite.

The tips of the fingers, the earlobes, the nose and the cheeks, as well as the toes, are most apt to be stricken first.

When frostbite is suspected, the person should be brought into a warm room, to allow gentle thawing. The frostbitten area should be immersed in tepid (not hot) water.

Frostbitten parts should not be massaged or rubbed too vigorously, because the delicate skin may be broken and exposed to infection.

The frostbitten leg or arm loses its sensitivity. Extreme heat, therefore, may not be felt and more damage may be done by burning the area.

Prevention of frostbite is the best "treatment." Warm clothing, preferably in several layers that do not tightly bind the body, warm, dry insulated gloves and socks, and waterproof shoes should all be part of the protective "treatment."

All clothing and shoes should be loose enough so that they do not constrict the blood vessels.

Last year, a patient of mine was caught in a snowstorm and walked a short distance to a garage. He developed frostbite in that short time and was incapacitated for months.

A precaution against such an experience would be to carry warm, waterproof overshoes and an extra supply of warm clothing and warm gloves in the trunk of the car.

In your specific case it would be wise to have your blood circulation checked to see if there is any problem that requires special attention. In any case, having been "bitten" once, you should be more aware of the importance of good protection against the cold.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Origin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

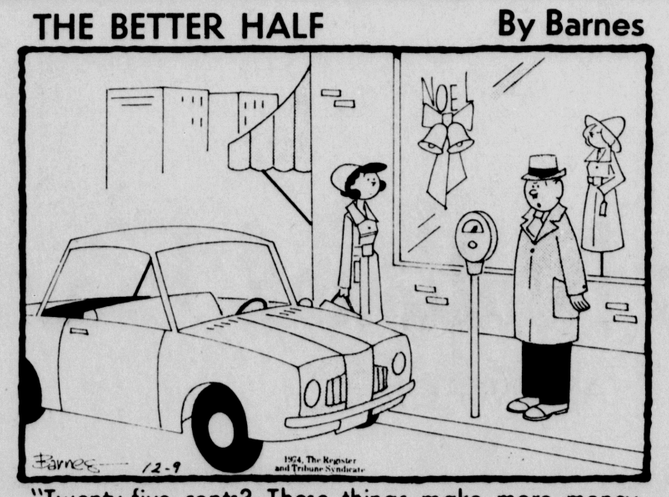

Situafe in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simerl (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Police charge driver with three offenses

A Washington C.H. man was cited for three traffic violations by Washington C.H. police Saturday, when the car he was driving became responsible for damage incurred by two other autos. Police reported six other accidents over the weekend and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported two.

POLICE

SATURDAY, 4:25 p.m. — A car driven by Charles L. Smith, 34, of 220 Walnut St., pulled from a parking space on Rose Avenue near the Pearl Street intersection and struck a car owned by James E. Johnson of Bloomingburg (which was parked in front of Smith's car), causing the Johnson auto to leap ahead and bang into a car in front of it belonging to Chester Estep of 902 Pearl St.

Smith's car then veered off the left side of the street and into a snowbank, where it became stuck. Smith left the vehicle on foot, but was later located and charged by police with no operator's license, driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident. He is presently out of jail on $710 bond.

8:15 p.m. — A car driven by Terry L. Adams, 20, of 1025 Dayton Ave., struck the rear of a car driven by Margaret A. Elzey, 32, of New Holland, at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets.

Damage was moderate to the Elzey car and slight to the Adams auto. Neither driver was injured.

7:58 p.m. — A hit-skip driver struck a car belonging to Robert Langley, 28, Bloomingburg, just after he pulled into a parking space in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street. The unidentified driver then left the scene.

4:19 p.m. — A 1970 Mercury driven by Donna Hilderbrand, 42, of 277 Rowe-Ging Rd. had its right front wheel torn off when it struck a hole dug by Dayton Power and Light on Clinton Avenue near the Leesburg Avenue intersection.

Police stated the hole measured three feet by five feet and was seven inches deep, but did not say what it had been dug for.

3:50 p.m. — Cars driven by Jeffrey L. Jacobs, 22, of 326 Lewis St. and Vincent L. Christman, 20, of Hillsboro, struck each other in Hidy Foods parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

3 p.m. — An accident involving cars driven by Catherine L. Whiteside, 57, Mount Sterling and Robert A. Garrison, 41, of Bloomingburg, occurred in the Washington Square Plaza parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

Damage was minor to both autos and neither driver was injured.

12:03 p.m. — A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Rickie E. Jester, 27, of 619 Broadway and Danna G. Holder, 24, of 2614 Staunton-Sugar Grove Rd., occurred at the intersection of Court and North streets.

Holder was cited for failure to maintain as assured clear distance ahead.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 8:14 p.m. — Minor damage was incurred by cars driven by James W. Glass Jr., 17, Jeffersonville and John H. Grooms, 35, Milledgeville, when they collided at the intersection of S. Main and High streets in the Village of Jeffersonville.

FRIDAY, 10:12 a.m. — Cars driven by Flora J. Penwell, 44, Jamison Road and Francis S. Cupp, 59, U.S. 22, were involved in an accident on Jamison Road, one-tenths mile north of the CCC-Highway intersection.

Neither driver was injured.

Drug probe hits Playboy

CHICAGO (AP) — The former head of security for Playboy Enterprises said he testified three months ago to a federal grand jury about drug use at the mansions of Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner in Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif.

In a telephone interview, Allen H. Crawford said Sunday that he resigned his post last July because Playboy officials ignored his warnings about "the narcotics problem and people of questionable character that might be associated with Playboy."

Seven Playboy employes reportedly have been subpoenaed to appear this week before a grand jury in Chicago in connection with a federal investigation by the Drug Enforcement Administration into drug use inside Hefner's enclaves.

The investigation was disclosed after the recent federal conviction of Hefner's social secretary, Bobbie Arnstein, for conspiring with a boyfriend and another man to distribute cocaine.

Miss Arnstein's arrest last March reportedly sparked an order by Hefner, who was in Las Vegas at the time, to remove all drugs from both mansions, officials said.

Crawford said from his home in Mendham, N.J., that he learned of the problem about 2½ years ago when he became head of security.

"I certainly had knowledge that there were people that were using drugs, but not on the basis that this was a place of distribution or anything else," said Crawford, vice president in charge of investigations for Wells Fargo Investigative Services, Inc., in Randolph, N.J.

"Hefner is a very congenial host and has the Playboy philosophy that people are adult and make their own decisions," he added. But that "doesn't mean Hefner has knowledge of it, or condones it, or distributes."

Crawford said he never discussed the alleged drug use with Hefner, but he added that he submitted reports for Hefner's attention.

Kuznetsev succumbs

MOSCOW (AP) — Vice Adm. Nikolai G. Kuznetsov, commander of Soviet naval forces during World War II, has died at the age of 72, it was reported Sunday. Demoted twice by dictator Josef Stalin, he was reinstated in 1950 and was navy commander until retirement in 1956.

Damage estimate $400 from plant sprinkler system

Nearly 100,000 gallons of water was sprayed from the sprinkler system at the Cor Tec, Inc., Plant, Kenskill Avenue in the city's Industrial Park, sometime between 2 a.m. and noon Sunday, Washington C. H. firemen reported today.

An investigation conducted by the Washington C. H. Fire Department points toward a 55-gallon drum of chemical resin which heated up during the morning hours and triggered the sprinkler system. Although a water gong was ringing outside the building while the sprinkler system was spraying, the incident was not discovered until noon when assistant plant manager Ron Hoxie went to his office to pick up his calculator, opened the door and found himself standing in water three inches deep.

Damage was estimated at $400 and the water is presently being pumped out.

4 women break jail

LOWELL, Fla. (AP) — A statewide search was under way today for four women armed with knives who took a switchboard operator hostage and escaped in a prison van from the Florida Correctional Institution.

Prison officials said the women gained access to the control room in the administration building Sunday night, where they took Elizabeth Peeler, 54, hostage.

Two of the escapees were serving life terms at the prison for first degree murder and additional time for previous prison escapes, officials said.

Two vandalism incidents probed

Two incidents of malicious vandalism and a larceny were reported by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department are presently investigating a stolen Citizen's Band radio and a stolen license plate.

The glass on the front of the candy vending machine at Sunshine Laundry, 122 East St., was shattered by vandals sometime Sunday, in an attempt to steal some of the candy.

Police said apparently a pop bottle was the instrument used to break the glass valued at $15.

A car belonging to Robert Haines, which had been parked in front of his 914 Rawlings St. residence, was damaged when shot in the left rear door window with a BB gun.

Police said the incident occurred sometime between Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 4:49 a.m. and estimated the damage at $35.

A purse belonging to Pam Cox, Greenfield, was lost then found on the Buckeye Mart parking lot on Columbus Avenue between 5 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Unfortunately, the $55 in cash the purse had contained, was not found with it.

A citizen's band radio (serial number C-27674) belonging to James M. Poteet, Oakland City, Ind., was stolen from the cab of his semi truck sometime between 6:15 p.m. and 7:10 p.m. Sunday, while the truck was parked at Garner's Truck Stop, I-71 and U.S. 35.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the cab had been locked and valued the radio at $207.95.

An Ohio license plate (number 4795-KP) was removed from a car belonging to Ralph D. Blake, Prairie Road, while it was parked at the Sohio Truck Stop, I-71 and U.S. 35, sometime between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Foreign aid bill tangled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid program is headed for a Senate-House tangle over aid to Turkey in the face of a move in the House to shut off that aid immediately.

House Republicans planned to caucus on the troubled bill today. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was to go before the House Foreign Affairs Committee later today to appeal for approval of the aid program.

House rejection of the $2.6 billion foreign aid bill would not kill the program. It could still be funded under a stop-gap continuing resolution to leave its fate up to the new Congress convening in January.

But Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., a leader of the move to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey, effective Tuesday, vowed to try to place a cutoff clause in any such continuing resolution.

The Senate voted last week to delay the Turkish aid cutoff until Feb. 14. But Rosenthal said he will oppose delay unless Kissinger can assure that progress is being made in negotiations to get Turkey's occupation forces out of Cyprus.

"Unless some significant event takes place, there's no basis for compromise," Rosenthal said in a telephone interview from the Democratic mini-convention at Kansas City.
